JURY-FIXING AND ATTEMPTED CORRUPTION SYSTEM CHARGED IN JURY PRESENTMENTS

Thirty Drown as Excursion Boat Swamps

30 SAVED, 30 DIE AS CROWDED BOAT SINKS IN PACIFIC

OVERLOAD CHARGED BY MALE SURVIVOR

Pleasure Launch, Close to Scene of Tragedy, Rescues Many of Those Able To Swim.

SANTA MONICA, Cal., May 30.—(UN)—A giant wave struck the 56-foot fishing launch Ameco late today in the Pacific ocean, just off Santa Monica, and brought panic and death to holiday fishermen crowded upon its decks.

The Ameco turned over on its side and men, women and children were washed into the sea, gasping and screaming.

It was generally agreed that the passengers, attempting to avoid the waves which were soaking their clothing through, moved to one side of the deck. The boat was top-heavy when the big wave struck it.

There were 60 persons on board, 58 of them passengers and two of them the crew. Tonight seven bodies had been recovered, an estimated 30 persons were accounted for and 23 still were missing.

Life guards from the beaches which run one into the other—Venice, Ocean Park and Santa Monica—hurried to the scene. Even after dark they aided rescue craft searching the waters. The launch Freedom, which had been near the Ameco, took many persons safely from the sea.

Thousands of persons crowded the sands and the piers, watching the rescue work. Police reserves and 95 deputy sheriffs controlled the throng.

The Ameco, described by rescued passengers as overloaded, was returning from a fishing spot known as "the bubble hole." The crowd was happy after its holiday.

The sea was very choppy and tossed the launch about. A few waves struck it hard. Then came the giant roller that turned the Ameco over on its side.

As the panic-stricken people on the Ameco were hurtled into the water the launch Freedom went to the rescue. Fortunately, it was nearby.

Captain Joe Fudge, of the Freedom, sent his craft cautiously over the water near the bobbing Ameco. Person after person was taken from the water. When no more could be seen Captain Fudge headed for Santa Monica.

From other beach resorts came additional boats, 50 life guards and rescue equipment of all sorts. Rescued passengers who were not in serious condition disappeared with friends, making a check of those saved difficult. Those requiring further treatment were taken to hospitals.

One of the first bodies recovered was that of an 18-year-old Los Angeles girl, Margaret Keller. For an hour first aid was applied, but she showed no sign of reviving and the effort was halted.

Shortly afterward four other bodies were announced by police as recovered. Indicative of the disorder was the fact that it could not be learned immediately whether they were those of men or women.

No registration list of passengers on beach fishing boats is made before sailing.

The Ameco was commanded by Captain Bill Lightfoot. He and his deckhand, Henry Vandenburg, were among the rescued.

One of the first rescued persons brought to a hospital was Paul E. Fowler. He told the following story of panic:

"We were coming back from the bubble hole. We started back about 6 o'clock. The boat was overloaded. High waves struck us and we were badly worried. Then the big one hit us and we went over.

"I pitched into the sea. When I came to the surface I saw a cask and grabbed it. Seven other people tried to get a hold on it too. I went down and and I came up I got my knife out of my pocket. I stabbed it into the side of the cask and held on.

"The Freedom came to our rescue. Poles, lines, everything was thrown out to us. I was among those taken on board."

Man and Girl Die In Auto Accidents

AUTO RACES BRING DEATH TO 5, FAME TO BILLY ARNOLD

Chicago Driver Wins Annual Classic Over Wreck-Strewn Speedway, Four Killed at Dirt Track.

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., May 30.—Death rode tandem with glory and gold in Indiana today.

And tonight while triumphant drivers of the world's greatest racing cars received the accolade and figured their immediate profits in five and six figures, others counted their loss in life, limb and love.

While Billy Arnold, young daredevil from Chicago, was winning the 500-mile auto classic at Indianapolis with a speed of 100.48 miles per hour, ten miles ahead of his nearest competitor, Paul Marshal, riding as mechanic for his brother, Cy Marshal, was killed and Cy was probably fatally injured when their car hurtled off the brick oval 25 feet down to the surrounding roadway. And at Winchester, Ind., some 60 miles northeast, four spectators at a race meeting, held for the Indianapolis overflow, were killed and more than a score injured when one of the cars left the track to crash through the crowds massed at the railing.

Nor was the Marshal accident the only one at Indianapolis. Two mechanics suffered broken limbs, and one driver was seriously injured in a six-car spill and a crash into the retaining wall. Three other drivers and mechanics were hurt.

Arnold threaded around wreck after wreck, saw one of his 38 fellow racers killed and half a dozen injured and watched car after car go haltingly to the pits.

Arnold, a youngster from Chicago, kept his right foot heavy on his accelerator for the full 500 miles, to win the rich cash prizes and the nationwide acclaim reserved for the winner.

Arnold took all but the first two laps, which went to Louis Meyer in his 16-cylinder Sampson Special.

Shorty Cantlon, Detroit, Miller-Schofield Special.

Louis Schneider, Indianapolis, Bowes Seal-Fast Special.

Leslie Allen, Allen-Miller Special, four-cylinder.

Arnold will get more than $45,000 and $10,000 in addition from manufacturers of accessories. Cantlon gets $10,000.

When his car stopped, Arnold grinned feebly, was embraced by Harry Hartz, owner of the car, and then by his mother, Mrs. Anna Arnold, of Chicago.

Despite protestations of Arnold and his mechanic, W. E. "Spider" Matlock, that they were "all right," they were taken immediately to a hospital for treatment and rest.

Those killed in the Winchester dirt track tragedy were: T. F. Hale, 60, Middleton, Ind.; Ray Bird, about 35, Richmond, Ind.; Malcomb Jennings, about 30, farmer of near Winchester; John Edward Graughan, 6, of Munice, Ind.

Fern Kizer, of Winchester, suffered injuries about the head and physicians did not expect him to live.

The driver of the race car, Leonard Bruhn, of Fort Wayne, Ind., lost control of his "Silver Bullet" car when it blew a tire on the second lap of the second race of the day's program. He was slightly hurt, but aided in lifting the racer to release persons pinned beneath it, and then pushed it back on the track.

A spectator reported that a woman, believed to be Mrs. John Mohler, of Muncie, Ind., saved her baby from possible injury by tossing him into the air several feet over the heads of the crowd to safety. Mrs. Mohler's husband was among the injured.

Hit-and-Run Driver Is Sought—Four-Year-Old Boy Is Believed Near Death.

A railroad switchman and a school girl were killed, the former's wife seriously injured, and a 4-year-old child probably fatally hurt in a series of automobile accidents in and around Atlanta Friday. A hit-and-run driver figured in the crash that proved fatal to the switchman, while the driver of an ice truck that killed the school girl is being held at police station.

Ernest W. Linch, 51, of 471 Glenwood avenue, S. W., received injuries that proved fatal shortly after 10 o'clock Friday night when the car which he was driving was struck by a second machine on DeKalb avenue near Murray Hill avenue. The Linch machine was overturned, and plunged off DeKalb avenue on to the tracks of the Georgia railroad. Linch was thrown out of the machine and then pinned under it.

Dies at Grady.

Taken to Grady hospital by a passing motorist, he died a few minutes later from chest injuries. Physicians stated that his chest was crushed. His widow, who was with him on the front seat of the machine, was not thrown out, but suffered a broken collar bone and bruises about the body. She was sent to her home under care of a private physician, after being treated at Grady.

Mrs. Linch in a statement made to Patrolman Joe Wiley, stationed at the hospital, could give but a meager description of the car which struck the one in which she and her husband were driving. She said that they were returning from the home of a cousin, Mrs. T. R. Robertson, who died near Avondale Friday morning.

According to witnesses, the car driven by the offender was a large red one, was driving at a rapid rate of speed, and was not showing any lights. Police Friday night launched a probe into the accident and Sheriff Jake Hall, of DeKalb county, accompanied by Johnny Jones, of the DeKalb solicitor's office, came to the hospital to make a personal investigation.

Linch had been a switchman of the Southern railroad for the past 25 years, and last July the first shadow of death was cast on his home when Ernest Linch, Jr., was killed when he fell from a bicycle that he was riding.

Funeral services will be conducted at 3:30 o'clock Sunday afternoon from the Cooper Street Baptist church, with the Rev. W. M. Albert and the Rev. T. H. Jackson officiating. Interment will be in West View cemetery. J. Austin Dillon Company is in charge of arrangements.

In addition to his widow he is survived by three daughters, Mrs. J. W. Beasley, Mrs. T. G. Guthes and Miss Evelyn Linch, all of Atlanta.

School Girl Is Killed.

Death came Friday to a young school girl a few minutes after the vacation she so eagerly awaited had begun.

Classes in Fulton High school were over for the summer and 14-year-old Eloise Aikens had only to get her report card to show her parents, Mr. and Mrs. George S. Aikens, of 22 Sunnyside avenue, that she had passed her sophomore year.

She stepped from a northbound street car near the intersection of Peachtree road and Thirty-fourth street into the path of an onrushing heavy ice truck which crushed her to death almost instantly.

The driver of the truck, Hardy Griffin, was taken into custody by a number of persons who gathered on the scene shortly after the tragedy and turned over to County Policeman Claude Webb. He was placed in Fulton county jail on a charge of murder. The driver had stopped his machine only after it had crashed into the embankment nearby after striking the child.

Funeral services will be conducted at 2 o'clock Sunday afternoon from Spring Hill, with the Rev. Dr. R. W. Oakey officiating. Interment will be in Crest Lawn cemetery.

In addition to her parents, Mr. and Mrs. G. S. Aikens, the girl is survived by two sisters, Evelyn and Virginia Aikens, and her grandparents, Mrs. E. L. Aikens, of Charlotte, N. C., and Mr. and Mrs. T. W. Rogers, of Savannah.

Child Is Near Death.

Late Friday night little hope for the recovery of a 4-year-old child struck by an automobile at Sandy Springs Friday afternoon was held out by physicians at Grady hospital, where the child was brought for treatment.

The child was Felton Johnson, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Johnson, of Sandy Springs. He was injured Friday afternoon near his home when he attempted to run across the road to his mother, who was walking on the opposite side. He was struck by a car said to have been driven by a Mrs. Martin, of Doraville.

Emergency treatment was given the child by a physician near by and then brought to Grady hospital for further examination. It was found that the boy had suffered a fractured skull and four broken ribs.

:: DISTRICT ATTORNEY DOUBTS FEDERAL AUTHORITY ::

In Tar and Feather Trial

HAMMOND, La., May 30.—(AP)—Doubt was cast today in federal circles that the tar and feather case of the dentist Dr. S. L. Newsom would be transferred to the federal courts.

United States District Attorney Edmund Talbot informed counsel for the dentist that he would meet him in conference in New Orleans Monday to consider his proposal to quash the indictments in the Tangpoha parish court against the five Starnes brothers, charged with the attack on Newsom, and lay the evidence before a federal grand jury.

But after studying the law the district attorney expressed doubt as to probability of the case coming in the federal courts.

The town of Hammond buzzed again today with excitement when two state witnesses, Willie Rownd and Riley Windom, told the sheriff that they had been warned by a strange female voice over the telephone to get out of Hammond. They had witnessed the dumping of the dentist covered with tar and feathers from the Starnes automobile on a street of Hammond at 1 a. m. Tuesday.

Two deputies were assigned to protect the witnesses. They also were guarding the dentist while he worked in his office and walked with him to and from his home.

The Starnes brothers sent word to officials that they had no intentions of further harming the dentist.

Attorneys for Dr. Newsom said they had prepared for filing a suit for $150,000 for damages in district court against the Starnes brothers. They said the petition would allege that the dentist suffered intense agony in mind and body since his tarring and feathering.

SLATON REPORTED IN SENATE RACE

Washington Hears Former Governor Will Announce Next Week.

WASHINGTON, D. C., May 30.—(Special.)—Information of a reliable character reaching members of the Georgia congressional district today carried the statement that former Governor John M. Slaton, of Atlanta, has definitely decided to announce his candidacy for the senatorial nomination in the forthcoming state primaries in opposition to Senator W. J. Harris, whose term expires March 4, next.

According to the reports, Governor Slaton's candidacy will be formally announced either Sunday or Tuesday, the latter marking the closing date for entries in the democrat primaries of Georgia this year.

The same source of information has it that one of the active managers of his campaign will be Frank Holder, of Atlanta, formerly of Athens. Judge G. S. Howard, of Atlanta, also is scheduled to be either the titular manager or head of the Slaton board of strategy.

FORMER GOVERNOR SILENT ON REPORT.

SEA ISLAND BEACH, Ga., May 30.—(Special.)—While the candidacy of John M. Slaton for the United States senate was confidently predicted by members of the Georgia Bar Association tonight, the former Georgia governor declined to comment on the report. Mr. Slaton is attending the convention here.

Zeppelin Will Land At Lakehurst Today

LAKEHURST, N. J., May 30.—(UN)—The German dirigible Graf Zeppelin, on its fourth visit to the United States, was 300 miles south of New York at mid-evening and was expected to land at Lakehurst naval air station at dawn tomorrow.

It was expected that the Graf would circle over New York, as it has done before, as a greeting to America, and that it then would proceed down the Jersey coast to Lakehurst.

All day the Graf, after canceling its plan to halt at Havana on its way from Pernambuco, Brazil, had been in touch with the navy department at Washington. It was making good speed in good weather as it moved northward well off the Atlantic seaboard.

DR. R. T. GILLESPIE DIES IN VIRGINIA

President of Columbia Seminary To Rest in Rock Hill, S. C.

Dr. Richard Thomas Gillespie, president of Columbia Theological Seminary at Decatur, died in the Martha Jefferson hospital at Charlottesville, Va., at 2 o'clock Friday afternoon following an attack of pneumonia suffered within a few hours after he reached the Virginia city to attend the annual meeting of the general assembly of the Presbyterian church. He was 50 years old.

Dr. Gillespie was to have delivered the principal address at a banquet of alumni of the Columbia seminary, having gone to the assembly meeting primarily for that purpose. Mrs. Gillespie was summoned to his bedside Tuesday, but his condition was reported the following day as improved and his death was unexpected.

Graduates From Columbia.

Born in Tirzah, S. C., on October 23, 1879, Dr. Gillespie attended the public schools of South Carolina and entered Davidson College, North Carolina, graduating from that institution in 1904. He graduated four years later from Columbia Theological Seminary, then located in Columbia, S. C.

The same year of his graduation, 1908, Dr. Gillespie became pastor of the Florence (S. C.) Presbyterian church where he labored for eight years, accepting in 1917 a call to the pastorate of the Maxwell Street Presbyterian church of Lexington, Ky. After five years of service in Lexington, he accepted a call to the First Presbyterian church, of Louisville.

While in this charge, Dr. Gillespie, in addition to splendid work accomplished in his own pastorate, rendered large and effective service as a member of the board of directors of the Louisville Theological Seminary of Kentucky and as chairman of the million-dollar campaign committee of the Kentucky synod.

Named Columbia President.

In 1925 Dr. Gillespie was elected president of Columbia Theological Seminary. It had been decided to move the seminary to Atlanta and Dr. Gillespie was placed in charge of the institution at this critical and difficult time. It was with indefatigable energy and rare ability that he guided the affairs of the institution while buildings were being erected,

J. HENSON TATUM AND ED L. BARNES SEEK CLERKSHIP

Chief Deputy and Mayor's Secretary Announce After Taylor Decides To Quit Monday.

A heated contest for the clerk's position between Ed L. Barnes, for many years deputy city clerk, and J. Henson Tatum, for the past eight years executive secretary to Atlanta's mayors, loomed Friday following definite announcement by Walter C. Taylor, veteran clerk, that he would tender his resignation to council at the regular meeting of that body Monday afternoon.

Mr. Taylor was convicted on a count of bribery and will tender his resignation. The decision to relinquish the position was made Friday by Mr. Taylor after a conference with several of his close personal friends and advisers.

Mr. Barnes has been chief deputy in Mr. Taylor's office for many years and has the support of many members of council.

Several other probable candidates loomed Friday immediately after the decision of Mr. Taylor became known. Among them were Sam Freeman, former member of council; Tom Goodwin, Atlanta attorney; Press Huddleston, who sought the post 16 years ago and was defeated by Mr. Taylor.

It was regarded as a certainty that Taylor's resignation will be accepted by council and that no concerted fight will be made on the move to permit him to withdraw from his position without undergoing impeachment procedure.

Alderman G. Everett Millican, of the tenth ward, and Alderman Alvin Richards, of the thirteenth, who announced they would ask a trial of the clerk by a council committee, both have stated that they would press their measure unless a resignation was presented at the council session Monday.

Following his conviction Saturday, Taylor would make no positive statement regarding his plans for continuance in office.

It was learned Tuesday that a petition seeking a 30-day leave of absence was in circulation, the aged clerk citing the fact that his physical condition was bad and that it had been made worse by the guelling trial through which he had passed.

Several names of council members were placed on it, and Thursday it was reported that an amendment had been added stating that Taylor would relinquish the office at the expiration of the 30-day leave of absence.

When Taylor was asked about the amended petition, he declared he had not definitely decided just what course he would take, and added that he would confer with a group of close personal friends and advisers Friday.

After that conference, he announced definitely that he would offer his resignation, effective immediately, at the regular meeting of council Monday afternoon. The council session begins at 2 o'clock in the afternoon.

Flag of Confederacy Flies in New York

Among the standards unfurled by New Yorkers yesterday was one which confused some of the passers-by in West Forty-third street. It hung from a pole put out by the new hotel on the south side of the street near Eighth avenue, side by side with the Stars and Stripes. On a red field were two blue diagonal bars, each containing stars of white. There was a time when the sight of that flag in New York city, especially on Memorial Day, would have caused a riot. But: "What's that, the Union Jack?" asked one pedestrian of another.

It wasn't the Union Jack it was the "battle flag" of the Confederacy. The Dixie hotel displayed it.

Pope Pius Reaches 73rd Birthday

VATICAN CITY, May 30.—(AP)—Pope Pius XI will be 73 years old tomorrow.

The pontiff, as in former years, expects to spend the day quietly, probably having those members of his family who are now in nearby Rome with him at mass in his private chapel, along with the principal members of his ecclesiastical and law households.

Bobby Eliminates Voigt in Hard Match—Meets Wethered for Title at 36 Holes Today.

BY ARCH RODGERS,
United News Staff Correspondent.

ST. ANDREWS, Scotland, May 30. (UN)—Another victory for Bobby Jones on the eighteenth hole—his third in three days on that green—as good as won the British amateur golf championship for him today.

Coming from behind to defeat George Voigt, of New York, 1 up, in the semi-final round today, Jones completed his elimination of the most dangerous contenders, having put out Harrison R. (Jimmy) Johnston, United States amateur champion, yesterday by the same score and Cyril Tolley, British amateur champion, Wednesday, 1 up in 19 holes.

Bobby has failed in his two previous attempts to win the British amateur, but he can annex that coveted crown tomorrow by defeating Roger Wethered, 31-year-old stock broker, who became the finalist in the lower bracket, in the 36-hole final.

Two weeks ago Jones overwhelmed Wethered in the Walker cup singles, 9 and 8, in a 36-hole match, and not even the most ardent British golf enthusiast tonight conceded Wethered any kind of a chance to stave off Bobby now that he is within reach of the one major golf championship he has never won.

Famous Family.

Wethered is the member of a famous golfing family, and has been playing first-class golf for ten years. He is a brother of Joyce Wethered, several times British women's champion. He is tall and slouchy and never wears plus fours.

The chief defects in his game are his driving and his tendency to crack under pressure. An illustration of the latter happened in his recent Walker cup match against Jones when he held Bobby all even for the first nine holes, and then lost complete control of his game and dropped six straight holes in succession coming home on the first round.

In the 1928 amateur championship at Prestwick Wethered was runner-up to T. P. Perkins, losing 6 and 4. During this match he was forced to use a spoon from the tee because of his inability to control his drives. His favorite shot is a midiron.

He has been a member of four Walker cup teams, and was captain of the 1930 team which lost to the United States 10 matches to 2. Wethered won his only major championship in 1923 when he annexed the title which he seems doomed to help Bobby Jones win tomorrow.

In the quarter-final matches today, Jones defeated E. W. Fiddian, 4 and 3, and Voigt defeated William Sutton, 5 and 4, in the upper bracket, and Wethered defeated H. R. Howell, 4 and 3, and W. L. Hartley defeated Douglas Grant, former Californian, and New Yorker now residing in London, 1 up, 19 holes.

Beats Hartley.

Wethered gained the final by defeating Hartley, 2 and 1.

Jones had to play some careful, steady golf to eliminate Voigt. The turning point of the match came on the 14th hole, when Voigt leading 2 up, momentarily cracked, taking a 7 and allowing Jones to get in a position to square the match on the 16th hole.

They finished the first nine holes, all square after Bobby had been 1 up twice. Jones won the second hole, but Voigt squared the match by taking the 5th. Bobby went into the lead again by winning the sixth, but George won the 7th and they halved the next two to make the turn all even.

Voigt took the lead for the first time when he won the 11th with a par 3 when Jones missed a 3-yard putt for a 3. Voigt's tee shot on this short hole was a dandy, the ball taking a backspin to stop dead.

Voigt won the 13th and went 2 up, and then he cracked. He drove out of bounds on the 14th and played his third shot from the tee, and was almost out again. He played his fourth, a brassie shot, into a crowd of spectators, and conceded the hole to Jones.

They halved the 15th and then Jones won the 16th, evening the match. Bobby was dead on his approach, missing his first putt. Voigt, bunkered from the tee, was on in three and missed an 8-yard putt by inches.

Each got a four on the 17th, halving the hole, and Jones won the match by shooting a par 4 on the 18th, while Voigt missed a 2-yard putt which would have halved the hole.

"Whew! What a match!" Jones exclaimed as he stood puffing and panting in the reception room after sprinting from the last green to the clubhouse. "I wished for once that I could take part in a game just for fun. These close matches are getting under my skin. Voigt is a great scout and an equally fine golfer."

Voigt's Scottish caddy was downcast over George's defeat, and almost sobbing, said:

"It was partly my fault. I must have advised Mr. Voigt wrong several times on the iron or wood to

CITIZENS ASKED TO HELP IN WAR TO GUARD JURIES

THOROUGH PROBE PROMISED PUBLIC

Presentments Follow Examination of Taylor Jurors and Indictment of Five Men.

Revelation of an organized system of jury fixing and attempted corruption was made by witnesses questioned by the Fulton county grand jury this week in returning indictments against five men for embracery in the trial of City Clerk Walter C. Taylor, the grand jury reported Friday in special presentments returned before Judge Virlyn B. Moore of superior court.

"If the better element of the citizens of this county remains inactive and insensible to the dangers deriving from such a situation and cannot be aroused to the point that they will rise up and make a determined effort to stamp out such debauching practices then we had might as well abandon the machinery of the courts, close the doors to the courthouse and say, 'Justice has departed,'" the presentments declared. "No government can survive without respect for law."

In its presentments, the grand jury called upon jurors in the Taylor case to report any approaches made directly or indirectly, and urged that every citizen who knows of any such efforts, or any suspicious circumstances, to report to the grand jury. Members of the grand jury pledged their best efforts to go into the matter most thoroughly and to devote whatever time is necessary to make a "thorough investigation of this most grave situation."

Bonds Posted.

Bonds of $1,000 each were posted Friday at the sheriff's office by R. H. Shepherd and R. E. Howard, city license inspectors, who were indicted Thursday night by the grand jury on a charge of attempting to bribe S. E. Brand, a member of the Taylor jury. Bonds for other defendants in the attempted juror bribing cases are expected to be posted immediately. Bond for Wyatt A. Adcock and F. L. Norton has been set at $1,000 each, and for S. B. Todd at $500.

In Friday's presentments, the grand jury pointed out that "It is the duty of every law abiding citizen and every agency of government within this county, every policeman, every sheriff, bailiff and other officers, to give full co-operation to bring to light every approach and every effort which had been made to corrupt and influence any jurors.

"Such practices, if allowed, will destroy the integrity of our court and bring contempt upon the whole judicial system," the grand jury said. "If respect for the court is destroyed, then the only bulwark that stands between the upright, honest and law-abiding citizen has been destroyed."

The grand jury pointed to the compromise verdict returned by the Taylor jury, agreed to by 11 jurors on the demand of one juror, in order to prevent a mistrial and to get the lone juror to consent to any verdict at all.

"This unusual position assumed by this particular juror, that he would consent to a verdict of guilty on one count only and on condition that he

THIS MESSAGE IS FOR MILLIONS

ALL-BRAN Is Health News to Them

Millions know that headaches, general depression and other ailments are caused by constipation. They know that cathartics will not effect permanent relief. They will be keenly interested in the natural, effective remedy for constipation that experience has revealed to other millions.

Kellogg's ALL-BRAN is eaten everywhere today for the relief and prevention of constipation. This delicious cereal adds necessary roughage to the diet. Kellogg's ALL-BRAN is guaranteed to relieve both temporary and recurring constipation.

Kellogg's ALL-BRAN is now available in two styles — the improved krumbled cereal and the new Biscuit form. It not only prevents constipation, but contains iron. This mineral brings the radiant glow of health to the complexion. With milk or fruit juices, it also brings important vitamins.

Eating Kellogg's ALL-BRAN daily is one of the most healthful habits in the world. It is especially essential in reducing diets or cases of recurring constipation. Made by Kellogg in Battle Creek.

'Ready To Serve' Meats

BY JESSIE MARIE DeBOTH.

What great strides have been made in recent years in the "ready to serve" meat products! The housewife of a decade ago usually had to choose between boiled ham and dried beef in emergencies, with odds in favor of the ham. To save shrinkage loss the latter was apt to be undercooked—a very poor condition for pork in any form. Today the boiled or baked ham is often superior to the home cooked article, and the price reasonable considering fuel cost and labor involved. A vast variety of cooked sausage is also now available, including every conceivable flavor in either soft or dry products. It will pay the inexperienced cook to experiment with these interesting meats. Fortunately they may be purchased in small quantities, so there isn't much loss when some are discarded after tasting. Try buying a couple of slices from several varieties rather than half a pound of one kind—note their names and repeat the process with other sorts until a list of the chosen ones is compiled.

Don't imagine the only way to use these is as plain slices of cold meat. Far from it! Cubes of dry sausage improve a dish of scrambled eggs or an omelet; they are delicious in creamed potatoes or added to plain spaghetti. With smothered (not browned) onions they combine invitingly with macaroni and tomato sauce. In a border of savory noodles they make a brave showing heated in some thin cream and pepped up with a sharp table sauce. A sprinkle of parsley adds liveliness to the noodle ring.

If there is cooked cereal left over from breakfast, try adding minced sausage in equal or a lesser amount, pack it well in a plain mold (a baking powder or cocoa can insure uniform slices) then slice, flour and brown in mixed butter and a neutral fat. Serve very hot—omit needless explanations, and watch them disappear!

Soft sausage makes a splendid spread for toast bearing a delicate poached egg, or as a foundation for a creamy scramble. It makes an agreeable lining in the individual baking dishes for shirred eggs. Baked potatoes, split and spread generously with savory sausage meat, then folded together again are a joyful surprice for luncheon or supper. We like to saute thick slices of liver sausage in butter and serve with potatoes hashed in cream. The smoked sausage is especially good this way.

Of course, sandwich possibilities are almost endless with these flavorsome and convenient meats. Sharp mustard suits some kinds, a mild mustard is best for others. Dill pickles are the favorite accompaniment, with spiced beets running a close second. If the sandwiches are to be served promptly, thin slices of cucumber dipped in French dressing combine delightfully with sausage slices, or for stronger tastes slivers of onion. Spanish or the hardier garden variety, may be placed on the meat filling.

Rye bread and pumpernickel seem the most popular breads for such sandwiches, though an unsweetened white roll isn't half bad as a container for such savory fillings.

The resourceful cook will find many other ways of using these excellent products, we offer the above merely as suggestions. In keeping such foods in the refrigerator, place in a covered container or wrap close in heavy waxed or parchment paper to prevent drying out. In an electric refrigerator they may easily be kept a week or more, ready for instant use or willing to await an emergency.

There are many luscious, frozen desserts of the mousse and parfait type. The rich cream which forms the base of the mousse or parfait is expensive, but it expands generously in whipping and may be extended with stiff egg whites. Evaporated milk also proves a fine foundation, when chilled and whipped.

For a macaroon mousse whip one pint of sweetened cream until stiff. In may be flavored with vanilla and almond extracts or one of the non-alcoholic sherrp products. Crush the macaroons and fold them lightly into the whipped cream. An easy way to prepare them is to place flat on a sheet of heavy paper, folded to cover them also, and then crush them with the rolling pin. Fill the mold quite full and cover close. If there is no fitted lid, place a sheet of paper over the top and enclose the edges firmly with a rubber band. Leave in the freezing unit from four to six hours according to the depth of the mould. It may be left much longer if convenient as it will not become icy. If frozen in an ordinary freezer it must be covered with a fitted lid, and bound with a strip of greased cloth around the opening to prevent salt water from reaching the cream. At serving time, turn out gently onto a chilled glass platter and surround with sugared halved strawberries or crushed red raspberries.

Fulton High Seniors Give Cup to Dykes

Professor W. F. Dykes, principal of Fulton High school, Friday was the possessor of a handsome silver loving cup given him by members of the graduating class. With the advent of the next school term, Professor Dykes will take charge of the new North Fulton High school, now nearing completion near Buckhead. R. L. Ramsey, elementary supervisor of county schools, will be the new principal of Fulton High school.

Woman Is Arrested In Downtown Store

Roma Pykes, 30, giving her address as 338 Edwards street, was arrested at a downtown department store late Friday afternoon by Officers Sterling Gresham and E. B. Clark, operatives of the Stores Mutual Protective Association, in possession of merchandise valued at $10, including a man's straw hat, alleged to have been stolen. She will be given a hearing before Recorder A. W. Calloway this morning.

Brittain Addresses University School

With Dr. M. L. Brittain, president of the Georgia Institute of Technology, delivering the commencement address, graduating exercises of the University School for Boys were held Friday night in the auditorium of the Atlanta Woman's Club. Seventeen boys received diplomas, and medals were awarded by the D. A. R.'s and U. D. C.'s of Atlanta and the scholarship given by the school presented.

Awards made at the exercises follow: D. A. R. medal, presented by Mrs. Lewis McConnell and awarded to Charles Huie, M. D. Jackson and Leon Jones given honorable mention; Daughters of 1812 medal presented by Mrs. J. O. Weaver and awarded to Ralph Turner (gold medal) and Charles Huie (silver medal); citizenship medal awarded to Chester Kitchings; mathematics medal awarded to Lewis Root; scholarship medal won by Chester Kitchings, and mention given for the highest averages in the senior class for four years in order, Lewis Root, George Boynton and Ralph Turner.

The program was presided over by Ralph Turner, a student, and the music for the exercises was arranged by Mrs. R. A. Palmer. The diplomas presented by the president, W. E. Dendy, were awarded to the following: George H. Boynton, Lewis S. Brooks, Thomas H. Buckalew, Jr., James Oscar Crawford, Jr., Owen Gradner, George A. Gattis, Donald Lee Hanson, Samuel W. Kane, Robert F. Marion, Jr., John W. Martin, Homer Neal Meier, Lauren G. Norvell, Carl Parham, Lewis A. Ray, Lewis Adair Root, Ralph D. Turner and Robert Wood Beltree.

OTTAWA, Ont., May 30.—(AP)—Parliament was dissolved tonight immediately after prorogation, and writs issued for a general election to be held on July 28.

Robert K. Redus Dies at Residence

Robert Kemper Redus, 76, an employe of the Coca-Cola company for more than 25 years, died at his home, 1116 Piedmont avenue, early Friday morning from a heart attack suffered Thursday afternoon after he had left his office for home.

He was one of the pioneer employes of the Coca-Cola Company, having been with that company when it was first organized by Asa Candler, Sr. Eight years ago he was transferred to the Crystal Carbonic Laboratories, a subsidiary of the company, and was connected with it until his death.

He is survived by his widow and one daughter, Mrs. J. L. Bell, of Abilele, Va. Funeral arrangements will be announced later by H. M. Patterson & Son.

Negro's Confession Clears Death Mystery

MEMPHIS, Tenn., May 30.—(AP)—Police here said today the confession of a negro wounded fatally last Wednesday at Blytheville, Ark., had cleared up the murder of Louis Adler, Boye (Miss.) merchant, and an attempted attack upon a young white woman last April.

Jesse Hays, 25, Durant, Miss., was the negro who police said had confessed to the crimes. He was shot fatally in a gun battle with Blytheville officers who arrested Walter Thornton, 16, Greenville (Miss.) negro. Memphis detectives who investigated said Thornton had been implicated in several recent holdups.

Adler was found in January, 1929, shot to death in his automobile near Cleveland, Miss. The detectives said Hays could not name his victim but identified the crime by his story of the circumstances surrounding Adler's death. Robbery was the motive, authorities said.

In April a young white man here reported that a negro had attempted to assault his girl companion. Hays was said to have confessed to this attempt.

Police announced they were seeking Elvin Johnson, Chicago negro, as the third member of the gang which Hays said he led.

Head of Union Veterans' Sons Will Attend Gray Reunion

:: 3,000 VETERANS EXPECTED AT BILOXI ::

BY FOSTER EATON.
United News Staff Correspondent.

Approximately 20,000 survivors of the armies of the Confederacy—which never exceeded 600,000 men compared with more than 2,000,000 boys in blue—turned their thoughts today to their annual reunion in Biloxi, Miss., June 3, the birthday of Jefferson Davis, president of the Confederacy.

General Richard A. Sneed, commander-in-chief of the United Confederate Veterans, and John Ashley Jones, commander-in-chief of the Sons of Confederate Veterans, have joined in inviting to that reunion Theodore C. Cazeau, commander-in-chief of the Sons of Union Veterans, and E. H. Pitcher, commander of the Maryland department, Sons of Union Veterans.

"Leave here for Biloxi Saturday. Look forward meeting you and General Sneed," Commander Cazeau wired Commander Jones in his reply from Gettysburg, Pa., where he had gone to participate in national observances led by President Hoover.

Commander Cazeau and Department Commander Pitcher took leading roles in a movement last fall to induce the Grand Army of the Republic to participate in a "grand reunion" of northern and southern veterans. On August 30, a few days before the G. A. R. encampment at Portland, Maine, tabled the matter, Pitcher advised Jones that President Hoover had said of the proposal:

"It would mark a greater unity of spirit in our nation."

General Sneed previously had said of the proposal:

"We could not hand down to our children a better example of true patriotism."

When the time came this year to prepare for the Biloxi reunion of the boys in gray, Commander Jones requested permission of General Sneed to invite Commanders Cazeau and Pitcher to attend as their guests.

"Nothing would give me greater pleasure than to meet the two sons of Union soldiers mentioned in your letter of June 7," General Sneed replied. "As American citizens, why should we not enjoy meeting and mingling with our old friends, the Grand Army of the Republic, and their children?

"All the ill feeling and malice of 50 years ago has totally disappeared, and I can truthfully say that I have for a long time been ready to extend a cordial handshake to the old boys of the north who met us and stood up and fought us like gentlemen and who have never asked us to apologize for the part we took in that unpleasant family quarrel.

"We should be willing, after 65 years, to 'forget and forgive,' in the full assurance of one brotherhood, one country and one flag, of which the history of the past decade has furnished ample proof.

"By all means send these two young gentlemen an invitation to be with us at Biloxi in June."

Commander Jones said he felt sure the veterans of the south were "in a friendly mood" toward the proposal for a joint reunion; that they honored the Union veterans as "the only soldiers in the world that could have licked us, because they were Americans," but said:

"If asked to participate in such a reunion on honorable terms, I am sure the Confederate veterans would accept. I see no reason why, if our soldiers in uniform are accepted, our flag should not be accorded similar honors. It certainly is no more of a symbol than the veterans themselves."

The Biloxi reunion will open at the birthplace and on the birthday of Jefferson Davis. Commander Jones said he anticipated "about 3,000 veterans and 30,000 visitors," and in his invitation to Commanders Cazeau and Pitcher, promised:

"We will give you a warm southern welcome."

Johnson in Tribute To Naval Officers

WASHINGTON, May 30.—(AP)—Senator Johnson, republican, California, one of the foremost opponents of the London naval treaty, issued a statement tonight attacking it on the double ground that it would not provide relief from taxation and that the "escalator" clause in effect would nullify it.

"There is neither financial saving nor relief under the treaty if we act upon it," he said.

"Likewise in reality there is no limitation; for the treaty specifically provides under the so-called escalator clause that any party to it, believing its national security demands it, because of new construction by any other power, may build additional war vessels."

If the United States builds up under the treaty, he said, "and this must be done to make it at all effectual, it will cost this nation one billion and seventy-one million dollars."

He also contended that under it "the American navy must be constructed under British specifications."

FOUR WOMEN HONORED BY OVERSEAS LEAGUE

PARIS, May 30.—(AP)—Four new vice presidents were elected at the closing session of the convention of the Women's Overseas Service League last night. Mrs. G. H. Taubles, national president, will continue in office for another two-year term. The new officers are: Mrs. Forest Newsome, Denver, Col.; Miss Aileen Haggerty, Havana, Cuba; Miss Mary Martin, New York city, and Mrs. S. G. Lessor, Chicago, Ill.

ENGLAND TIGHTENS HER GRIP ON INDIA

BOMBAY, May 30.—(AP)—The Indian government took new steps today to check the rising wave of civil disobedience.

At Simla, Lord Irwin, viceroy of Indian, promulgated an ordinance against picketing of shops, non-payment of taxes and tampering with the loyalty of government servants, all features of Mahatma Gandhi's strategy.

Strict enforcement of this ordinance will rob the nationalists of some of their most frequently used weapons. It will be made immediately effective in the Bombay presidency, and comment today was that it is an indication that the government intends stiffening its attitude toward the nationalist campaign.

There is much speculation as to what developments are likely to arise from it.

Picketing of liquor shops and foreign cloth shops has been a favorite method of Gandhi's followers to lessen what they term the drink evil and to injure British trade, especially in cotton.

Non-payment of taxes has been attempted in numerous places, especially as regards land taxes. The government believes that many of its minor native officers have been won over by the civil disobedience movement.

India generally passed a much quieter day than she has known in some weeks. Only in Dharasana were there untoward incidents. An attempted raid on the salt works this morning resulted in injuries to 26 volunteers and the usual crop of arrests.

Under the watchful eye of police, Dacca and Lucknow were on their good behaviour. The rioting that has violently torn both cities since last week was checked.

An inquiry into the April riots in Peshawar continued without notable published developments. At Lucknow a similar investigation is to be opened.

Bombay was more occupied in discussing the proposed Indian boycott of an English cricket team that will shortly visit India than in preparing militant activities. The idea of the boycott originated with Hindu students and is being enthusiastically discussed throughout the city.

Younger Saunders Denies Engagement

HAVANA, Cuba, May 30.—(AP)—Clarence Saunders, Jr., 21, son of Clarence Saunders, chain store magnate, today emphatically denied his reported engagement to Miss Saray Puyol, daughter of Eduardo Puyol, retired colonel of the Cuban army.

Saunders, who a week ago completed a round-the-world cruise on the steamer Franconia, was reported engaged to Miss Puyol when the ship docked at New York yesterday.

"I met Miss Puyol on board ship after we left New York last January," Saunders told the Associated Press. "She was traveling with her aunt, Mrs. Josefa Lopez, and we became friends.

"When the ship reached San Pedro, Cal., I took the Western Air Express to my home in Memphis, Tenn., and then flew my own plane to Havana to join my mother and my sister, who had come here for a brief vacation trip.

"There is nothing to this engagement report. Miss Puyol and I are good friends but nothing more."

Miss Puyol likewise denied the report.

"Mr. Saunders and I are very good friends, but nothing more," she said. "There is absolutely no foundation for any stories about us being engaged. I can't imagine how such a story could have been published."

Saunders said he intended flying his ship back to Memphis tomorrow. He is licensed as a transport pilot.

YOUNG BASEBALL VICTIM IS DEAD

Funeral services for Hubert Stokes, 8-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Stokes, of Johnson road, Simmsville, will be conducted Sunday afternoon from the Jefferson Street Methodist church with the Rev. Y. A. Beall officiating.

Stokes died at Grady hospital early Friday morning after two operations had been performed upon him. He was injured a week ago while playing "catch" with a brother. A ball struck him in the side and several days later he was taken to a doctor when he complained that his side hurt him. It was found that he had a ruptured appendix. Peritonitis set in, necessitating the second operation.

In addition to his parents he is survived by two brothers, Weyman and Edmond Stokes, and two sisters, Ruth and Catherine Stokes. Awtry & Lowndes have arrangements in charge.

The basis of these tempting desserts is sugar . . . .

Sugar is the most important ingredient in all desserts, for their purpose is to satisfy the desire "for something sweet." DIXIE CRYSTALS Sugar is carefully manufactured from the choicest of Cuban Cane, and comes to you fresh and fine and free from lumps, so that it blends easily and quickly with other ingredients. Cooking authorities have used and recommended DIXIE CRYSTALS Sugar. Let "The Sweetest Sugar Ever Sold" form the basis of your desserts.

SURELY you have noticed the difference in breads. Merita has a sweeter, richer flavor because it is made with milk. And more milk means longer freshness, too. If you insist on Merita you know you are getting Milk bread

It is the ash in a flour that feeds the bones of the body. Our laboratory determines this by placing an accurately weighed sample of flour in a furnace that stays actually red hot for 12 to 15 hours. Only the ash remains.

POLING WILL DELIVER AGNES SCOTT ADDRESS

Prominent Religious Leader Also Will Speak to Young People.

With Dr. Daniel A. Poling, leader of the National Radio Youth Conference, delivering the baccalaureate address at 11 o'clock Sunday morning in the college gymnasium, commencement exercises of Agnes Scott College will get under way.

Commencement at Agnes Scott will continue Monday night with the Glee Club concert at which alumni singers will be heard as soloists and will be brought to a close at 10 o'clock Tuesday morning with delivery of the address to the graduating class by Dean W. D. Hooper, of the University of Georgia.

Dr. Poling will hold a young people's meeting at the city auditorium at 3 o'clock Sunday afternoon. Pastors of practically all Atlanta churches will sit on the stage with him and cooperate in the meeting.

At the auditorium meeting Dr. Charles A. Sheldon will be at the organ and John D. Hoffman will lead in the congregational singing. Sponsoring the rally are the Evangelical Ministers Association of Atlanta, the Christian Council, through the Commission on Young People's Work, Y. M. C. A., Y. W. C. A., Atlanta Baptist Sunday School Association, Emory University, Columbia Theological Seminary, Georgia School of Technology, Agnes Scott College and the Atlanta Guild of Organists.

Widely known because of his Sunday afternoon radio talks and question box, Dr. Poling is one of the outstanding religious leaders in the country. He served as a chaplain during the World War and is now president of the International Society of Christian Endeavor and editor of the Christian Herald.

Players at Emory To Present Comedies

German players at Emory University under the direction of Professor C. F. Hamff will present two German comedies at the Druid Hills school, North Decatur road and Emory circle, Saturday night, May 31, at 8:30 o'clock. The plays are entitled "Ein Knopf" and "Muller Als Sundenbock" and, for the benefit of those not conversant in German a synopsis in English will appear on the program.

Morrow Takes Aerial Spin With Lindy

NEWARK, N. J., May 30.—(AP)—Dwight L. Morrow took his first ride in his son-in-law's new airplane today, and Colonel Charles A. Lindbergh got him from Atlantic City to Newark airport in 45 minutes.

The flight enabled Mr. Morrow, candidate for the republican senate nomination from New Jersey, to get to Camp Merritt at noon to make a campaign address.

Colonel Lindbergh, flying back from a business trip to Washington, left Bolling field at about 7:30 (E. S. T.) this morning, picked up Mr. Morrow an hour later at Atlantic City and landed him here in another 45 minutes, after a 10-minute pause at Atlantic City to pose for cameramen and to greet a crowd which had assembled.

Mr. Morrow, who had made a campaign address in Atlantic City yesterday, flew in his accustomed business suit but abandoned his grey fedora, after the plane took the air at Atlantic City, for a flying helmet which Colonel Lindbergh handed him.

He doffed the helmet, as if it were uncomfortable as the plane taxied to a stop at Newark airport, and climbed out of the plane to pose for cameramen for the second time within an hour.

As the pair stood by Lindbergh's plane, Mr. Morrow stepped to the edge of the crowd which waited at Newark airport and hailed a blond school boy.

"Here, son," he said, "come out and have your picture taken properly."

The lad happened to be James W. Costello, Jr., son of the city engineer of Newark, who designed the airport. The boy stood with Mr. Morrow, Lindbergh and City Commissioner John F. Murray, Jr., of Newark, while the cameras clicked.

New Terminal Building To Be Begun Next Week

Construction of the $3,000,000 Dixie Terminal building on the site of the old Union depot will begin next week, it was announced by officials of the U. S. Warehouse Company, which will erect the structure.

The building will combine the features of a cold storage plant, warehouse and office building, the offices rising into a 28-story tower at the front of the building.

The beginning of construction has been delayed pending the completion of clearing the site of the old Union depot. The site, which is owned by the state, is leased to the company for 70 years.

Atlanta in Thirteenth Place In List of Reporting Cities

Roster Released From Washington Omits 20 Cities Still Not Heard From; Atlanta Given 347,991.

Atlanta, which stood in thirty-third place among American cities in the 1920 census, was placed thirteenth in a list of cities of more than 100,000 population which have so far reported to Washington. The list, compiled by the Associated Press from figures released in Washington, omits 20 cities of more than 100,000 population in 1920, which have not completed their 1930 census, five of which—New York, Chicago, Philadelphia, Detroit and Los Angeles—are certain to head the finished census.

Atlanta was given a population of 347,991, and an increase of 73.4 per cent over its 1920 population. The figure is under the locally arrived at preliminary count, which was 351,653.

The final count is expected to show a population of more than 360,000 in the city, large enough almost to equal and perhaps pass Seattle and Indianapolis, which stand twelfth and thirteenth with a population of slightly more than 362,000 each.

Other census reports show the population of 134 of Georgia's 161 counties to be 2,429,205. Their 1920 population was 2,421,488.

Ninety-one of the counties lost in population. The others showed increases to give the entire 134 counties an increase of 7,717.

Several of the larger counties, among them Chatham, have not yet reported.

Richmond county, with a count of 71,584 compared with 63,692 in 1920, was the largest county reported Friday.

Augusta's population, based on revised figures, was set at 60,204, a gain of 7,656 or 12.71 per cent.

The population of Greater Augusta was estimated at 75,000 by census officials.

The population of the Augusta district was placed at 182,744, a decrease of 15,648. A total of 14,360 farms were enumerated in the district.

County	1930	1920	Farms
xBurke	29,225	30,836	3,681
Richmond	71,584	63,692	970
xJefferson	20,000	22,602	2,582

The population of Jefferson county was estimated by census workers. The count is not entirely finished there. The same thing is true of Grady county which showed an estimated count of 17,380 compared with 18,496 in 1920. Two small districts in the county have not been counted.

Official and final returns from the Gainesville district furnished the unexpected information that a majority of counties in that area also lost population. Census workers expected that division to show a good increase because of industrial expansion.

County.	1930.	1920.	Farms

18 NEW "100,000" CITIES ON CENSUS LIST.

WASHINGTON, May 30.—(AP)—Eighteen new cities of more than 100,000 population thus far have been added by the 1930 census to the 68 that were on that list ten years ago.

Twenty of those cities have not yet reported their new count.

A table of those which thus far have reported, compiled by the Associated Press from official figures announced by the supervisors shows many changes among the great urban centers. Among the most outstanding is the rise of the southern cities and the spectacular percentages of increases of California.

All figures are subject to revision by the supervisors and the census bureau, but the 20 cities that are missing will make little change in the relative ranking of each city in the list.

The five largest cities in the country are unreported and may be considered as leading the list. They are New York, Chicago, Philadelphia, Detroit and Los Angeles. The list follows:

The cities of 100,000 or more population in 1920 which have not yet completed their 1930 enumeration are: New York, Chicago, Philadelphia, Detroit, St. Louis, Boston, Los Angeles, New Orleans, Kansas City, Mo.; Denver, Toledo, Columbus, Louisville, St. Paul, Omaha, Richmond, Des Moines, Albany, Cambridge, Mass., and Kansas City, Kansas.

Rebates Are Approved By Bond Commission

The Atlanta bond commission Friday afternoon liquidated damages and rebates to various contractors amounting to $6,169.26 from the 1926 bond issue, most of it on construction of schools, and at the same time approved several minor sewer and water projects.

The meeting was held at the city hall. In the future five will be a quorum of the commission, according to action taken Friday afternoon. With nearly all the bond money spent it has been difficult to get a majority of the 17 members of the commission to attend the meetings.

Included among the rebates are $2,052.50 to the National Surety Company; 3,104.76 to the Woodward Electric Company; $962 to the Whitmore Electric Company, and $50 to the school department because certain electrical wiring was used in other parts of the city hall but was not needed and therefore not installed in that portion occupied by the school department.

Class in Infant Care Awarded Diplomas

Laudatory addresses by Dr. Joe P. Bowdoin, of the state board of health; Miss Lillian Alexander, of the city board of health, and Cator Woolford, prominent educational worker, Friday featured the graduation exercises of the class in infant care of the training school for Domestic Servants operated by the community employment office. A class of seven was graduated and presented certificates authenticated by the state board of health.

This class is the first to be graduated from the novel domestic school operated by the Community Employment office through an endowment of the Julius Rosenwald Foundation, and Friday morning demonstrated its knowledge of infant care as taught in the school's special five-week course. Announcement was made that a new term in this science would be inaugurated next week and that a larger attendance is expected.

Frances Belcher, of the city health department, was instructor in the infant-care course just completed, having been loaned to the school by the local health office. Miss Irene Caldwell is director of the school.

Ohio Pair Confesses Murder of Young Wife

ASHTABULA, Ohio, May 30.—(AP) Sheriff Frank Sheldon announced today that he had obtained signed confessions from Trilby Smith, 26, and Mrs. Maude Lowther, 22, to plotting the slaying of Smith's 28-year-old wife because they wanted her out of their love affair.

Smith confessed taking his wife to a lonely spot on a road south of here last night where Mrs. Lowther, who had concealed herself in a clump of bushes, stepped out and shot Mrs. Smith, according to the sheriff.

Both were taken to Jefferson, the Ashtabula county seat, and will be arraigned tomorrow on charges yet to be determined.

According to their confessions, Smith drove his wife and their two small children to the spot where Mrs. Lowther was hiding. Smith stopped and the woman fired a .32-caliber bullet into Mrs. Smith's temple, killing her instantly.

Smith took the children to a filling station near-by, calling police and telling them his wife was the victim of holdup men.

Mrs. Lowther is a housemaid, Smith did a trucking business. They said they became acquainted only two weeks ago.

Feast of Pentecost Observance Planned

Religious services in observance of the Feast of Pentecost, commemorating presentation of the Ten Commandments on Mount Sinai, were announced Friday by Rabbi Harry H. Epstein for the Ahavath Achim congregation.

The opening service for "Shevuoth," as the holiday is named in Hebrew, will be at 6:30 o'clock Sunday night. Morning services will begin at 8 o'clock Monday and Tuesday mornings, with memorial services at 10 o'clock Tuesday morning.

Rabbi Epstein's sermon Monday morning will be on "The Broken Tablets," delivered in Yiddish, while his sermon for Tuesday morning's services will be delivered in English on "Shevuoth Thoughts."

F. T. Barnett To Speak At Haygood Memorial

Fred T. Barnett, associate secretary of the general hospital board of the Methodist church, will speak at Haygood Memorial church at 11 o'clock Sunday morning on "The Supreme Need of the Hour" and at the 7:45 o'clock service he will speak on "The Christian's Philosophy of Life." Mr. Barnett is regarded as one of the outstanding laymen of the church.

Governor Appoints Webster to Staff

Governor Hardman Friday appointed J. Prince Webster, Atlanta, as a member of his official staff. Mr. Webster succeeds C. E. Brown, former editor of the Cordele Dispatch, who died recently.

Dr. Robert L. Russell Back From Conference

After attending the general conference of the church at Dallas, Texas, where he was elected to serve on the general board of missions for the ensuing four years, Dr. Robert L. Russell, pastor of the Druid Hills Methodist church, has returned to Atlanta and will be in his pulpit again Sunday at both morning and evening services.

King George Renews Official Activities

LONDON, May 30.—(AP)—King George today received the delegates to the Congress of the Federation of Chambers of Commerce of the British Empire, his first public activity since an attack of rheumatism suspended his state functions early in the week.

His majesty appeared in good health. It was said he had responded remarkably to treatment of his ailment.

PRESIDENT SEARCHES FOR JAPANESE ENVOY

Fletcher's Name Stands Out Among Prospects for Ambassadorship.

WASHINGTON, May 30.—(AP)—Once again President Hoover is scanning his list of possible candidates for an ambassadorial post in an effort to select an envoy to Tokyo.

Considerable thought and care is being devoted by the chief executive to filling the post in view of its importance and the delicacy which attaches to the handling of affairs in the capital of the far eastern empire.

The designation is necessitated by the recent death of Albert H. Washburn, minister to Austria, who had been selected for the Tokyo position. William R. Castle, Jr., assistant secretary of state, has been filling the post as special ambassador during the London naval conference, but is now en route to the United States to resume his former duties.

The name of Henry P. Fletcher, of Greencastle, Pa., former ambassador to Italy, Chile, Belgium and Mexico and one-time undersecretary of state, has again come to the fore as a candidate for the Tokyo post. A close friend of the president, Fletcher is generally looked upon by both American and foreign diplomatic circles as one of the outstanding figures of the foreign service of the United States.

Fletcher, because of his intimate knowledge of South American affairs, was chosen by Mr. Hoover when he was president-elect to accompany him on his tour of the Latin-American republics.

With the president he was to be a guest tonight at the hunting lodge of Jay Cooke III at Williamsport., Pa.

When he resigned as ambassador to Italy it was intimated publicly that Fletcher did so with a view to spending some time in his own country after many years of residence abroad. The belief here is, however, that Fletcher would have taken the ambassadorship to London if he had been offered it.

White House attaches tonight confirmed that so far no name has been submitted to the Japanese foreign office for the usual approval.

A large number of non-career diplomats appointed recently to European posts had led some foreign service officers to predict a career diplomat would be selected for Tokyo. Among those available in the career service, only two are prominent as possible candidates. These are Joseph C. Grew, of New Hampshire, now ambassador to Turkey, and Hugh R. Wilson, of Illinois, minister to Switzerland.

It has been intimated, however, that some of the president's closer advisers feel that the Tokyo post is one which should be filled by a non-career diplomat or one of the type of former Ambassador Fletcher.

Others who have been mentioned as meeting the requirements for the post—involving the very necessary possession of a large private income to supplement the ambassador's salary of $17,500 yearly and a certain knowledge of diplomatic usage—are W. Cameron Forbes, of Boston, former governor-general of the Philippines, and Harry Chandler, owner of the Los Angeles Times and a close friend of the president.

William Phillips, of Boston, who resigned as minister to Canada last December, has also been mentioned, but since Phillips left the service that he might educate his children in the United States, this might preclude his taking the post.

Two important questions now exist to engage the attention of the next ambassador to Toyko. These are the London naval agreement, which must be ratified by the Japanese and the problem of Japanese immigration into the United States.

Clear, Cooler Weather Seen By Forecaster

Cooler weather, with the temperature falling as low as 54 degrees, was forecast for today by C. F. von Herrmann, head of the local United States weather bureau. A high temperature of about 76 degrees is expected, and all indications are that the day will be fair.

Friday saw a low temperature of 57 degrees. High was 74, a full 10 degrees under the high temperature of Thursday.

Oil Explodes.

MONROE, Mich., May 30.—(AP)—Explosion of a barrel of burning lubricating oil in the Newton Steel Company's plant today injured ten workmen, one of them seriously. Six of those hurt were taken to hospitals for treatment.

Second Body Vanishes In Chicago Mysteries

CHICAGO, May 30.—(AP)—While police last night hunted for the body of the man believed slain by gangsters early Friday, a second body was reported found on a county highway, and this, like the other, subsequently disappeared.

Two women reported finding the body in the roadway at South Cicero avenue and West 113 street last night. They notified police; but when the officers reached the place the body was gone.

Sam Hunt, the man with a shotgun in a golf bag, who was arrested at the scene of the gangster shooting on the North Side early Friday, withstood long questioning yesterday and last night without giving police any information of value. He denied having had any part in the shooting.

Detectives today investigated a theory that the man who was shot and whose body was carried away by his attackers may have been Leo Mongroven, one of the 28 "public enemies" listed by the Chicago crime commission. Mongoven is known as a Moran gangster. The shooting took place in front of the apartment building in which Mongoven is reported to have lived.

Kissing Rite To Be Dropped At Annapolis

ANNAPOLIS, Md., May 30.—(AP)—The traditional kiss that for years has marked the flag presentation ceremony of June week at the Naval academy has been censored this year, unofficially but effectively, it was learned today.

The custom calls for the girl who presents the flag and the commander of the midshipman company receiving it to exchange the kiss. The flag this year will be presented by Miss Alberta Ely, Kansas City, to E. B. Hughes, commander of Company No. 1, which won the inter-company competition. Hughes will offer her some kind of a compliment or salute, it was learned, but there will be no public osculation.

Explanation of the censorship was lacking but the impression was widespread that the present academy officials just don't like the idea.

Counties' Aid Sought In Paving of Streets

Requests that Fulton and DeKalb county assist the borough of Atlanta in improving several streets featured a meeting of the streets committee of council Friday afternoon at which routine matters for the most part were considered.

Included among the requests which will be asked of Fulton county in the event that council approves the recommendations of the streets committee were the following:

Paving of Sells avenue from Hopkins to Holderness streets, and capping with asphalt of Third street from Peachtree to West Peachtree.

DeKalb county will be asked to grade Vaughan street from Hartford to Montgomery, and Wylie street from Mortimer to Leslie streets.

Inspection of Peach Orchards Under Way

Thorough inspection of peach orchards of the state is now being carried out by Manning S. Yeomans, state entomologist, in the course of a campaign against the phoney peach disease.

More than 1,690,000 trees have been inspected to date, Mr. Yeomans said, of which 20,481 were destroyed. An effort will be made to inspect all other peach trees in the state before the close of the year, he said.

W. F. Turner, of the United States bureau of plant industry, is in charge of the inspection. Thirty inspectors from the bureau of plant industry and the state department of entomology are assisting him.

Why High's Banner Day?

THE simple announcement that today is "Banner Day at J. M. High Co." may sound trite without explanation, for "Banner" has been used so often without rhyme or reason until it has almost lost its true meaning.

"Banner" is a good old Anglo-Saxon word of historical origin, exemplifying the foremost in any undertaking, and we believe we use it aptly and correctly in connection with our Sale, for High's leadership in quality and value is known and accepted throughout the South.

It IS a "Banner" Sale because it is crowded with sensational values—items that bear close inspection as to their soundness and desirability.

It IS a "Banner" Sale because High's is cooperating with Atlanta in helping our great city make a fine showing to the outside world. Each month the sales figures from the large department stores over the United States are collected, computed and advertised, and it is to Atlanta's interest that Atlanta's department store sales show an increase. It is very important for the welfare of the city as well as for the reaction it will have on our neighbors throughout the country.

While our own sales are ahead of last year's for the same period, we have planned this great "Banner Day" as an incentive for increasing the sales for the month, helping our city retain her place in the sun of commerce.

We hope you will co-operate with us in making today a record-breaking day for High's and Atlanta. Read the details on page 6 and 7 of today's paper.

$25,000 Prize Campaign Ends at 9 O'Clock Tonight

Final Efforts May Determine Winners in Great Event Staged by Constitution.

All set for the big day!

At 9 o'clock tonight The Atlanta Constitution's great $25,000 prize campaign will end.

Today is the last day of subscription-getting in the great prize event that for weeks has stirred the ambitions of men and women in Atlanta and surrounding territory. Today these candidates stand upon the threshold of their reward and the subscriptions turned in today will no doubt be a big factor in determining the winners.

A candidate who loses any time between now and the close is endangering his or her claims on a prize; a contestant who fails to obtain every possible subscription to the very last one will have only himself or herself to blame for possible defeat in the closing period of the prize race.

The campaign closes promptly at 9 o'clock tonight and candidates who intend to turn in their subscriptions personally at campaign headquarters are warned ot be on time. If you are in the office of The Constitution by that hour you will be waited upon. Subscriptions that are mailed must bear a postmark of having been mailed on or before 9 p. m. May 31, and all mail must reach the campaign office by 6 p. m. June 4.

The ballot box in which final subscriptions will be deposited is locked and sealed. The ballot box is in charge of Ernst & Ernst, public accountants and auditors, who will have charge of auditing the entire returns of the campaign and announcing the winners.

Important final instructions, necessary to avoid delay and confusion at the close of the campaign, are published elsewhere in today's issue of The Constitution. All candidates should read these final instructions carefully.

Northern Baptists Support Dry Law

CLEVELAND, May 30.—(AP)—A report declaring a necessity for "a nationwide campaign of education in the matter of strong drink and obedience to all law" was submitted by the committee on prohibition and law enforcement of the Northern Baptist convention here today.

The report makes no recommendation as to when or under whose direction the campaign is to be held, but calls the Baptists and other religious groups to "stand unwaveringly in defense of temperance and law enforcement."

Motion pictures are partly to blame for the present difficulties confronting law enforcement, the report says.

A resolution with respect to action on the report is expected to come before the Baptists tomorrow.

Tomorrow's session will touch to a great extent upon the prohibition questions. The principal speaker at the dinner tomorrow night will be Mrs. Mabel Walker Willebrandt, former assistant United States attorney general in charge of prohibition enforcement.

Hugh B. Wright Dies On Visit to Indiana

Hugh B. Wright, 56, former sergeant-major in Roosevelt's famed "Rough Riders" in the Spanish-American War, a personal friend of the late President Theodore Roosevelt and former national committeeman from Arkansas to the Bull Moose convention in Chicago, died Thursday at the home of a relative in Elkhart, Ind., where he had been visiting since his retirement on May 1.

He was commercial agent for the Clyde Steamship Company in Atlanta from January 1, 1926, until March of last year. He suffered a stroke of paralysis at that time, but recovered in October and was promoted to general freight agent, and went to New York, and from there at the first of this year he was moved to Galveston, Texas, as executive general agent. Ill health forced his retirement on May 1. He was with the Clyde Lines for more than 20 years.

Four State Primary Candidates Qualify

Four additional candidates for office subject to the September primary qualified with the state democratic committee Friday.

John J. Hunt, of Griffin, state commander of the United Confederate Veterans, paid his fee, thus fulfilling requirements to enter the race as a candidate for the office of pension commissioner, now held by Colonel R. dt. Lawrence, of Marietta.

Others to qualify were G. A. Johns, seeking to succeed himself as a member of the Georgia prison commission, and Supreme Court Justices Price Gilbert and Samuel C. Atkinson, both seeking re-election.

Stubborn Unsightly

Rash on Baby's Body

"At the age of 3 months there appeared on the buttocks and behind the ears of my baby a very irritating and unsightly looking rash. Many remedies were prescribed and all were used faithfully without obtaining any but temporary results. Harassed by the untold discomfort caused the baby as well as the increased unsightliness I began, on the recommendation of a friend, to use Resinol Ointment. Immediately marked improvements were noted, and now, at the age of 10½ months, the child is without the slightest trace of his trouble."

Niagara Whirlpool Negotiated in Barrel

NIAGARA FALLS, Ont., May 30. (AP)—William (Red) Hill, daring river man, rode through the whirlpool and lower rapids of Niagara Falls in a specially constructed steel barrel today.

Hill entered the stream from the American landing of the Maid of the Mist at 12:15 p. m. and emerged at Queenston docks at 5:05, his face bleeding and his shoulders and arms battered from the pounding he received as the barrel was shot through the rapids.

Hiss was assisted in his venture by his son, William Hill, Jr.; his brother-in-law, Edward Slogett, and a brother, Charles Hill, who dared the dangerous currents of the stream in a row boat to tow Hill out of the eddies when his craft was halted.

To the spectators, at least, one of the highlights of Hill's wild ride was his trip through the whirlpool rapids. His barrel was shot into the whirlpool with terrific force from the fast currents above and, as he reached the whirlpool, he raised the cover of the barrel to watch proceedings. Six times the barrel was whirled around the whirlpool and on the sixth time was caught in an eddy from which it was towed by his son. The remainder of the trip to Queenston was rough but otherwise uneventful.

Scientist Church Changes Cognomen

NEW YORK, May 30.—(AP)—After June 1 the Christian Science parent church will be known as the Church of the Universal Design, and its official organ, now published as the Christian Science Watchman, will be called The Universal Design, a Journal of Applied Metaphysics.

The American headquarters of the movement, which have been in Washington, will be moved to New York, with publication offices at 475 Fifth avenue.

The new name has been adopted as "more accurately defining the purpose of the organization to improve the present conditions of human life by scientific means, utilizing not only the spiritual forces of individual and collective prayer, but the discoveries of physical science, including medical cooperation, on a basis broad enough to satisfy the progressive intelligence of today."

ORGANIZED SYSTEM OF FIXING CHARGED

name the count on which a verdict of guilty was to be founded, and the further fact that secrecy was imposed upon the other jurors to the point that this juror's name should not ever be divulged, cast suspicion upon the whole procedure," the grand jury said.

The lone juror who held out for acquittal was reported to have been R. E. Harrison, Jr., automobile mechanic, of East Point. Every member of the Taylor jury except Harrison was summoned before the grand jury several days ago in that body's investigation of reports of jury tampering.

The special presentments follow:

"To the Superior Court:

"We, the grand jurors, for the May term, 1930, deem the subject matter of this our report to be of such gravity as to justify the following communication:

"During the present term of service, Walter C. Taylor, clerk of the city of Atlanta, has been tried on a charge of bribery and convicted on one count of the 11 counts submitted to the jury. The trial resulted in a compromise verdict, as the public has been informed. This compromise verdict was agreed upon by 11 jurors, on the demand of one juror, and in order to prevent a mistrial and to get this lone juror to consent to any verdict at all.

"This unusual position assumed by this particular juror, that he would consent to a verdict of guilty on one count only and on condition that he name the count on which a verdict of guilty was to be founded, and the further fact that secrecy was imposed upon the other jurors to the point that this juror's name should not ever be divulged, cast suspicion upon the whole procedure. After the return of this verdict, an investigation was immediately begun by this body into many persistent rumors that approaches had been made to corruptly influence the jury. The investigation conducted by this body has resulted in the indictment of five persons on charges of attempting to corrupt and influence a juror engaged in the sacred duty of administering the law fairly and impartially.

Jury-Fixing Ring Charged.

"We have examined a large number of witnesses other than those on whose testimony the five indictments were returned. The evidence which we have heard clearly indicates that there was an organized system of jury fixing and attempted corruption. We therefore feel it our duty to call this to the attention of the court and also the citizens of this entire county. We further ask the aid and suggestion from the court in such a situation as this. This grand jury is of the opinion that such practices cannot be too severely condemned nor punished. It is the duty of every law-abiding citizen and every agency of government within this county, every policeman, every sheriff, deputy sheriff, bailiff and other officers, to give full co-operation to bring to light every approach and every effort which has been made to corrupt and influence any jurors. Such practices, if allowed, will destroy the integrity of our court and bring contempt upon the whole judicial system. If respect for the court is destroyed, then the only bulwark that stands between the upright, honest and law-abiding citizen has been destroyed.

"We respectfully suggest that if the better element of the citizens of this county remains inactive and insensible to the dangers deriving from such a situation and cannot be aroused to the point that they will rise up and make a determined effort to stamp out such debauching practices, then we had might as well abandon the machinery of the courts, close the doors to the courthouse and say, 'Justice has departed.' No government can survive without respect for law.

"Having called the attention of the court and the citizens of this county to the situation as we find it, we most earnestly urge that every juror who was summoned or sat upon the Taylor case report to this grand jury any approaches made to him direct or indirect by any person or by any means whatsoever. And we likewise urge with all the emphasis at our command that every citizen who knows of any such efforts, or any suspicious circumstances, to report the same to this grand jury and we respectfully pledge our best efforts to go into this matter most thoroughly and to devote whatever time is necessary to make a thorough investigation of this most grave situation.

"Respectfully submitted this 30th day of May, 1930."

the school removed and the schedules reconstructed.

"Those who were associated with him," Dr. Melton Clark, vice president of the seminary, said Friday night, "will long remember his patience, fidelity and zeal during these trying years of settlement and reorganization. These years were full of days to try men's hearts but his courtesy, kindness and thoughtfulness of others were unfailing."

In 1908 Dr. Gillespie was married to Miss Elizabeth L. Hall, of Rock Hill, S. C., and to this union were born three children, Richard Thomas, Robert Hall and Mary Caroline, who went to Rock Hill Friday to join their mother. Robert T., Jr., is a 1930 graduate of the Decatur seminary. Robert Hall is a student at Clinton, S. C., and the daughter is a student in the Decatur schools. His mother, Mrs. R. T. Gillespie, Sr., of Fort Benning, Ga., with three brothers and two sisters are the other surviving members of the immediate family.

The body was sent from Charlottesville, accompanied by the widow, Rev. and Mrs. H. B. Blakely, Jr., the former until recently a member of the seminary faculty, to Rock Hill, S. C., where the funeral and interment will take place Sunday afternoon. Dr. William R. McPeters and Dr. Melton Clark will represent the faculty at the funeral services while the board of directors will be represented by John P. Brantley, of Blackshear, Ga., president of the board, and D. W. Robinson, of Columbia, South Carolina.

Murder Hint Enters Gem Robbery Probe

NEW YORK, May 30.—(AP)—The suggestion of murder today was injected into the round-up of stolen jewels receivers for a second time when Buffalo authorities linked the name of James Watson, one of five under arrest here, with a slaying nine years ago.

Previously New York police had been requested by authorities in Hot Springs, Ark., to hold Watson and George Cole for investigation in connection with the slaying of Preston Austin, Texas, rancher, there last autumn.

The slaying with which Buffalo police records connected the name of Watson was that of Luther P. Graves, who was shot near his home on the night of March 17, 1921.

The late sergeant of detectives, George Maloney, of Buffalo, had declared that the solution of the slaying of Graves rested with the capture of Watson, who was also known as Australian Paddy. Graves, a prominent resident of Buffalo, was shot when he intercepted some men crossing a lot near his home. The slayers were believed by police to have been responsible for the theft of private liquor stocks from several homes.

Watson was one of four men arrested with a woman last Monday when police raided a room in the Hotel Commodore and seized $300,000 worth of jewels, part of which have been identified as loot of a Palm Beach, Fla., robbery.

New York detectives have requested Chicago authorities to seal a safety deposit box in the First National bank there suspected of containing $200,000 worth of stolen jewels. The box was held in the name of Robert Nelson, under arrest for receiving stolen property here. Four safety deposit vaults held in his name here were found to contain $1,000,000 worth of jewelry, some of which has been identified as robbery loot.

Sergeant York Hits Legion Law-Breaking

HARRISBURG, Ill., May 30.—(AP) Sergeant Alvin G. York, World War hero, in an address here last night criticized the American Legion for what he termed the "rank way" members "violate the laws of the country and decency" at legion conventions.

Speaking before the George Hart Legion post, York, who aided in organization of the American Legion, said the organization could "attain nothing but disfavor" if its membership "continues to disregard the laws of the country." The legion, York said, potentially is "the greatest organization in the world."

Atlanta Salesmen To Hear Ozburn

W. R. Ozburn, of the General Sea Food Corporation, of Gloucester, Mass., will be the principal speaker at the meeting of the City Salesmen's Association to be held at the city hall at 11:30 o'clock this morning. There will be a discussion of plans for the annual barbecue.

Jeanne Engels Died Of Dope, Doctor Says

NEW YORK, May 30.—(AP)—Dr. Thomas A. Gonzales, deputy chief medical examiner, today made public a toxicologist's report showing that Jeanne Eagels, actress, died of an overdose of a narcotic.

At the time of her death on October 5, Dr. Gonzales recorded the cause as "general visceral congestion" pending a chemical analysis.

CANDIDATES HEARD AT TWO MEETINGS

Rallies on McMillan Street and New York Avenue Are Widely Attended.

Candidates for city offices spoke from the stump in two widely separated parts of Atlanta Friday night. One rally, assembling several hundred persons, was held at the J. Allen Couch school on McMillan street, and the other, with an attendance of approximately 100, was at the home of W. M. Hairston, 1751 New York avenue.

Wiley L. Moore, Ben T. Huiet and W. H. Johnson, candidates for mayor, spoke at the Couch school rally. James L. Key, the fourth candidate, was represented at this meeting by W. B. Knight.

Mr. Key, Mr. Huiet and Mr. Johnson spoke at the rally at the home of Mr. Hairston. Others who addressed the meeting included John L. Cone, candidate for recorder of the second division, and Councilman W. Paul Carpenter, of the ninth ward, and his opponent, Homer C. Foster.

All four candidates for police recorder addressed the Couch school meeting. These were Frank R. Fling, John E. Chambers, Homer C. Denton and Mr. Cone. Alderman J. Allen Couch, of the fifth ward, candidate for re-election, and his opponent, Jim Bowden, and Alderman G. Everett Millican, of the 10th ward, and his opponent, John C. Mackey, made brief talks. James W. Maddox, school commissioner from the fifth ward, and his opponent, Jack Penn, also spoke. V. E. Echols served as chairman of the meeting.

At the Couch school meeting Mr. Moore outlined his proposed business administration for Atlanta, while Mr. Knight, speaking for his candidate, declared that, if elected, Mr. Key would remove the stigma of graft from the city government.

Declaring that he is faking no part in the present mayoralty campaign and that he had hoped he would not be an issue in the race, Walter C. Taylor, city clerk, Friday issued a scathing statement in answer to charges made against him by Key.

Taylor charged that Key is the only mayor Atlanta ever had who signed a paper increasing his own salary. He denied emphatically that he ever slipped a paper through council increasing his own salary, and stated that Key did not make a practice of attending council meetings, as the latter had stated.

"He only attended a few, and when he did he was so busy spraying tobacco juice over those who sat near him that he did not know what was going on," Taylor said. "I've never been carried from my office at the close of a day's work. I've always been able to walk away unassisted after the day's work was done. I did not pay Key's election expenses as has been asked him by a man at one of the meetings. I did, however, make a contribution, and he thanked me for it."

Veterans of Gray To Get Tickets To Biloxi Today

A large group of Confederate veterans from camps throughout Fulton county will gather at the courthouse at noon todal, when free tickets will be distributed for the trip to Biloxi, Miss., where next week the fortieth annual reunion of the United Confederate Veterans will be held. A large delegation of Atlantans will accompany the aged veterans on the pilgrimage, led by John Ashley Jones, commander-in-chief of the Sons of Confederate Veterans, and Henderson Hallman, the latter representing the Atlanta Chamber of Commerce.

Attention of veterans and those others who will attend the reunion again was called Friday to the railroad schedule of two special trains which will leave Atlanta Monday for the Mississippi city. The first of these trains will leave this city at 7 o'clock Monday morning, arriving at Biloxi Monday night at 6:15 o'clock. The second train will leave at 8 o'clock Monday night, to arrive at it destination at 7:30 o'clock Tuesday morning.

Among those grizzled veterans of the War Between the States to be recipients of a free trip to the reunion is Lieutenant Benjamin Beach, who will go as special guest of the James L. Key Bible class. Beach has been a regular attendant at the class, having not been absent at a meeting in more than a year.

THE PRESS AND THE NEWS.

The charge heard from several church sources that the newspapers unfairly and even viciously reported the proceedings of the late general conference of the Southern Methodist Church is one that will stand in the court of public opinion.

As matters of current news to their great reading constituencies the newspapers reported the open proceedings, comments and claims of the conference without prejudice or partisanry. The conference was a public assembly dealing with matters strongly affecting the religious feelings and desires of millions of good people. Those people wanted the news of the conference proceedings with the same fullness and clarity that they want the news of the national congress or the national conventions of the political parties.

The newspapers of America learned long ago to send adept newsmen to such bodies who could refrain from mixing their feelings and views in impartial reports of the business in transaction. It would be a gross misfeasance in the ethics of journalism to show preference in the news to either side or party in public controversies.

Unquestionably it was deplorable that such controversies arose in the Methodist body as did arise, but it would have been a malfeasance by the press to have ignored them and suppressed their incidents. On a calmer consideration of the facts doubtless those who profess to be aggrieved by the newspapers will reform their judgments and cease their acrid complaints.

A STATE RIGHTS PROBLEM.

The supreme court of the United States has shown in some recent cases a disposition to deny to the interstate commerce commission the power to hold up the decisions of state public service commissions upon intrastate transportation rates.

The federal commission has assumed the right to suspend those state orders until it could leisurely consider whether or not they constiuted a burden upon interstate commerce. It has been a rather high-handed and arbitrary denial of an ancient state right, the suppression of which could not have been intended by the creators of the interstate commerce commission.

There seems to be a clear question of the constitutionality of this exercise of power by that commission and a growing demand that the supreme court shall settle once for all the conflict between the right of the state to regulate its internal commerce and the legislated power of the federal commission, if such power has been given by any act of congress, to deny and nullify that state right.

Many cases have arisen where a state regulating agency has found unjust rates imposed upon the people of its state, but in which cases the interstate commerce commission has arrogantly set aside the state finding and continued the unjust imposition. So that it is high time that the states should be informed what actual constitutional power that commission has to abrogate rights the states have had since the foundation of the republic.

UNION MEMORIAL DAY.

Friday was the nation-wide memorial day for the dead of the Federal armies in the War Between the States. It was notably and reverently observed at the National Cemetery at Marietta, in which rest the remains of more than 10,000 of the soldiers who were in Sherman's army.

It should be highly heartening to the new generation of Americans to know that in these annual grave-decorating services the members of the Grand Army of the Republic are joined and aided by the old Confederate Veterans' camps, the southern veterans of the Spanish-American and World Wars, and by the women's auxiliaries of those organizations.

Nowhere else on earth, perhaps, may human eyes witness the heaven-blessed spectacle of ancient former enemies, with their children and grandchildren, clasping hands over the dead of a fratricidal war and pledging eternal common loyalty to their one country and one flag.

THE PROOF OF THE POLL.

The nation-wide prohibition poll taken by the Literary Digest was a wonderfully interesting performance. It has served to increase the volume of prohibition conversation, but if it has had any substantial effect upon the public's attitude toward the enforcement or the repeal of the prohibition policy no one can say with definiteness what that effect is.

In fact the proof of how far and accurately the poll reflects authoritative public sentiment cannot be had until the returns are in from the congress elections in November next. The people generally now understand the pros and cons of the prohibition issue as fully as they understand that this is an independent self-governing country. They need very little aid from professional drys or wets in order to fix their opinions for or against the national prohibition policy.

In November every qualified voter of the nation will have the opportunity to vote for a congress representative who will support the policy or one who will oppose it. No greater and more open plebiscite could be desired and if the people elect a congress that will have an unmistakably dry majority all parties will be called upon to accept the fact that the people want the prohibition policy continued and enforced.

That liquor conditions throughout the country are flagrantly bad goes without the saying, but popular disgust with conditions of enforcement is no sign that the majority of the people are disgusted with the policy they have set up and wish enforced. So they are most likely to uphold the policy until the enforcing authorities tell them frankly and finally that enforcement of the policy is humanly impossible. That they have not done as yet.

START UP MUSCLE SHOALS.

The Norris plan for the operation of the Muscle Shoals plant by the federal government having been summarily turned down by the military committee of the house, that body is now renewing its ten-year wrangles over substitute plans to lease the big property to private operators.

The plant has become the government's great white elephant and by the long and inexcusable delay of congress in providing for its use its value to the people who have $150,000,000 invested in it is being daily aborted. There is no other instance in the history of the nation of such misfeasance on the part of the congress in dealing with a vast and valuable interest of the people.

The enterprises of a large section of the south have been retarded, in some cases actually stalled and killed, by the inaction of the Muscle Shoals power plant. It is perfectly within the truth to say that no other government would have been guilty of such neglect and deprived its people for a dozen years of the practical use of so great an engine of power and profitable production.

The case is so different in origin, ownership and public potentialities from the common proposals of "government ownership and operation" as to make it immune from the propagated objections to government engaging in business. Government, for that matter, is already deeply immersed in business that competes with private enterprise. It is taking over crop marketing from the great army of commission dealers of the nation and it is manufacturing goods for government use in its prisons in competition with free mill and factory labor.

The people who are largely dependent upon use of the power the government has made possible at Muscle Shoals want that power supplied to them and want it now, without demagogic fiddle-faddle over public or private operation.

Everybody in America is praying that Bobby Jones will not blow up on the last round.

Pretty soon travelers by train, to be safe from bandits, will need to send their cash and jewels ahead by air mail.

Attorney-General Mitchell's dryness has been praised by Deets Pickett. How unfortunate some public officials are!

The tariff bill is still in conference. Most people wish it would stay still.

A Chicago grand jury is trying to dry up that city. It should practice first on Niagara Falls.

Prohibition continues to be the most liquid issue under national discussion.

THE WORLD'S WINDOW

BY PIERRE VAN PAASSEN

Kepi Restored.

The kepi has been restored in the French army. This means that the war-time police bonnet, immortalized by the late Georges Clemenceau has been abolished. Some socialist papers in Paris call the war minister's decision of changing the headgear of the troops a militaristic action, which will have for tendency to increase "the arrogance of the professional soldiers." Fortunately there are ever fewer soldiers to be arrogant, as the gradual process of diminishing the armed forces of the country, instituted by M. Painleve, goes on without interruption. But the return of the kepi in itself is the very opposite of a militarist coup. The kepi is associated in the popular mind with pre-1914 days when nobody believed in the possibility of war. And it was in this spirit that M. Maginot, the minister of war, decreed the change. With the return of the kepi come the epaulettes, those gorgeous golden tassled extensions of the shoulders. And being restored to their rightful place, then there is talk of the red trousers Nothing could be more anti-militaristic than that. For the red trousers are the last things a soldier would want to wear if he were preparing to march into battle. Thousands of poilus lost their lives by reason of those vividly-hued garments which provided the enemy in the first days of the war with the best possible aim. Soldiers in red trousers don't think of going to fight. War must be the thing furthest from the thoughts of the French government. If the steel helmet should follow the lead of the police bonnet, France will soon look normal again. The army will look better and war will seem more remote.

Paris Comments On Zeppelin.

A crowd gathered while the Graf Zeppelin flew over the Place de la Concorde recently. While everybody craned his neck the following conversational comment was heard round and about. "Never saw that fellow so well!" "Parbleu, I should say so, during the war he flew higher!" "Ah, and then there were fewer people in the streets to look at him!" "They used to come at nights!" "Eh, bien, it's a fine piece of machinery any way!" "One of those big cigars that the tourists smoke!" "At last the dream 'Nach Paris' comes true!" "I thought he only had the right to fly over Paris?" "Ah, he wants to be polite, he doesn't want to be seen in a hurry!" "He is content, hein, listen how he purrs!" "Glad to see our Eiffel tower and our Trocadero and the palais, no doubt!" "Yes, or to spy out things for the next time?" "Will you shut up, bird of bad omen?" "We are at peace. One must learn to forget." "Sure, provided, he forgets too!" "Well, it isn't a bad thing the Parisians have seen a Zeppelin again." "Why?" "Well they know now those things still exist!" "Ah, what do you mean this fellow is on a mission of peace?" "God hears you, brother, may you be right!"

Wise Birds.

The sparrows of the Luxembourg gardens had formed a daily habit of accompanying an eminent woman professor on her way home from the Sorbonne at twelve-thirty exactly. The lady came in by one gate every day, crossed the park and left by another gate. All the way she scattered bread crumbs. The birds knew how punctual the professor was and were chirping in their hundreds at the entrance every day five minutes before she made her appearance. A few weeks ago, however, the clocks of France were changed to summer time. But even if the clocks were put an hour ahead, the sun and the things of nature stayed as they were. The professor of the Luxembourg gardens has just sent a paper to the Academy of Science in which she says that the sparrows on the day when the daylight saving regime was introduced, waited for her at the gate of the park not at the natural hour, but at the leg.l hour. The professor explains this extraordinary punctuality this way. She says the birds do not measure the day by the sun, but by the increase and decrease of animation in the streets of Paris. The birds of Paris are, apparently of a surprising agility of spirit. They know how to adapt themselves.

Letters From a Bald-Headed Dad to a Flapper Daughter

BY ROBERT QUILLEN

ROBERT QUILLEN.

My dear Louise:

For a week your world has been black and you have felt like a neglected step-child suffering the wrath of Heaven.

This morning you were up with the birds and as joyous as any of them. The little boil on your cheek had finished its career during the night and you were free of pain.

Do you know why?

I once saw a doctor lance a boil on the cheek of a two-year-old child. The little fellow howled manfully as the doctor approached and then broke off in the midst of his loudest protest. He quit because the pain quit. The lancet had relieved the pressure.

That's the thing I want you to remember: In all this wide world of misery there are only two things that cause pain and sickness. They are pressure and poison.

When a tooth goes bolshevik, there is local pain because the accumulated pus causes pressure on the nerve. And since there is no outlet for the poison it is carried over the system to start little revolutions here and there and make you hate the world.

Pressure and poison. Nothing else.

The point is that these two lone causes of trouble are abnormal, and any person endowed with a sound body, as you are, need have very little acquaintance with them if he will live sensibly.

In a little while you will go away to school, and then you will learn how foolishly homo Americanus depends on cures.

He makes whoopee until late at night and fills up on aspirin next morning.

He eats indigestible things at midnight and takes a shot of salts in the cold gray dawn of the new day.

He takes on too much fuel and exercises too little and then takes something to annoy his liver or buys a machine to knead his midriff.

A fresh oiling and a fresh coat of paint won't make any machine as good as new after it has been abused.

Sanitariums merely cheat the undertaker for a while; they don't undo the damage.

The worst part of it is that every mortal who gets the habit of "taking something for it" soon becomes a slave to medicines and forever thereafter keeps forty bottles on the bath room shelves.

Keep out of that broken-down crowd, my dear.

Avoid medicines as you would a pestilence.

Live sanely and moderately and you'll die of old age instead of drug-storeitis. Take nary a drop of medicine until some good doctor says you must—and if he's a good doctor he won't often say it.

Love, DAD.

HOLLYWOOD IN PERSON

BY MOLLIE MERRICK.

Special Dispatch to The Atlanta Constitution and the North American Newspaper Alliance.

HOLLYWOOD, Cal., May 30.—A pretty little movie actress cried so hard to keep her diamond wedding ring that a hard-hearted bandit relented and gave it back to her. And thus Marian Nixon, sincere in her sentiment, handed over $12,000 worth of gems from her fingers to a train bandit last night and put the lad into such a nervous lather that he never noticed $5,000 worth of diamonds about her throat.

Even bandits have their nerves.

Holdups in the colony are as neatly timed as talkies. And trains are coming in for their share of the masked men's interest. It only required seven minutes' time for a holdup on the Chief which successfully looted Marian Nixon, Edward Hillman, her husband, and a Detroit businessman, Frank Lehman.

If Ruby Keeler (Mrs. Al Jolson) hadn't screamed, the robbery sequence might have gone on to the end. But the little tap-dancer wouldn't open the door of her drawing room to some one who couldn't explain his identity, and yelled loudly to boot. She had had a glimpse of the masked lad in blue overalls in the car aisle a moment before and knew that all was not well.

This morning the village is in a hubbub over the incident. Rumors of gangster arrivals floated through the colony some five months ago. At that time two of our leading hostelries were supposed to be harboring a score or so of boys in pin-check suits and broken noses. Their grooming was as good as their English was bad, it seems, and they knew too much about Chicago to pass muster.

Talk about them died down. Things move too rapidly in this part of the world to hold interest for more than a fortnight. But there has been a good deal of activity among the light-fingered gentry of late—enough to give substance to the rumor.

Young Phillips Holmes is being besieged by prodiicers since his success in Edmund Goulding's recent picture, "Devil's Holiday." This youth gave one of the best portrayals that has come from the studios these many months. And can pick his vehicle or his producer for that matter at will, according to reports.

He is the son of Taylor Holmes. A tall ascetic blond with aquiline features and splendid intellect. He will probably play opposite Helen Twelvetrees in her coming picture.

Taylor Holmes has been making short comedy subjects and playing comedy roles in feature length pictures since the advent of talkies.

Johnny Hines, film comedian, gave the local constables a lesson in nonchalance when they arrested him last night on the charge of being in an automobile whilst intoxicated.

A model of boulevard chic, Hines sat in white flannels, snugly tailored gray coat and straw hat on the jail floor and registered unconcern.

But it seems you can't fool all of the people all of the time and our local constabulary is getting pretty keen.

Otis Skinner, George Arliss and Wilton Lackaye had lunch the other day and talked the talkies over. That's an unusual group for Hollywood. But this village is having so many unusual names and so many books and plays that they long considered out of their field brought successfully into it, that surprises are out of the question.

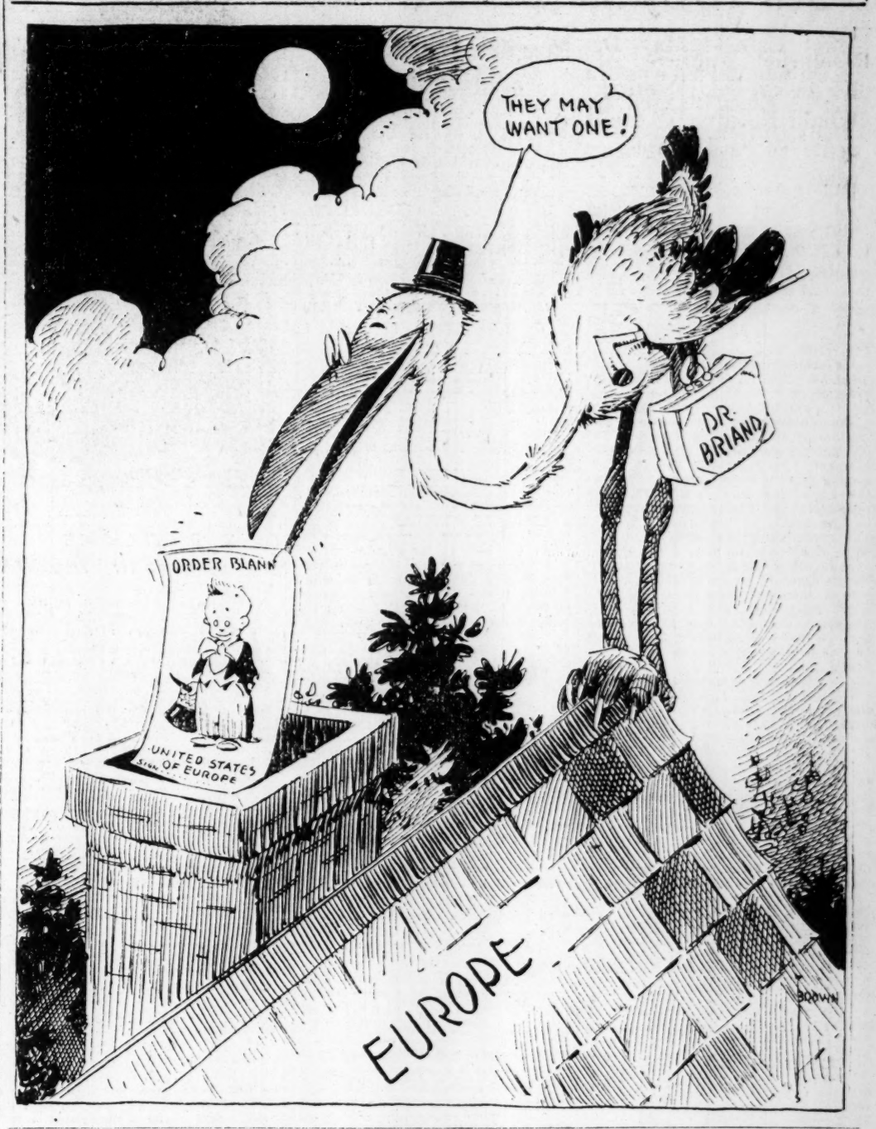

Cyril Maude, seeing the screen talkie version of Grumpy for the first time this morning, is probably thinking of "Peer Gynt" which he made 18 years ago when Hollywood was flat as the palm of your hand and dotted sparsely with studio shacks.

Maude leaves for London tomorrow. His interval here has been one of intense work. So was his first experience. But that was before the days of doubles. Or microphones.

Strangest Hollywood trick: The lady who cultivates a little fingernail to the length of an inch and a half and enamels it a bright red.

Lindy has his record—and everyone to his line.

Adopting Modern Business Methods

'Everybody's Business'

BY JOHN F. SINCLAIR.

Russia's Re-entrance into the World Market As a Serious Competitor for Foreign Trade Is Arousing Plenty of Anxiety in Europe—Co-operation With Insurance Carriers in Reducing Losses Is Question Confronting Aeronautics Industry.

Russia's re-entrance into the world market as a serious competitor for foreign trade is arousing plenty of anxiety in Europe.

When I was in Europe in 1923 Russia's two exports—rubber and cotton goods—at that time were causing considerable trouble in other European countries.

Now, in addition to these articles, Russia has added sugar, dried fruits and an increasing amount of grain, chromium and timber.

The Business Week at one time surprised businessmen by suggesting that foreign nations were likely to ask an embargo against Russian exports. This has now come about. American anthracite producers, "who, heretofore, have pooh-poohed imports of Russian coal, via Canada and otherwise," are now asking the United States treasury department officials to consider the possibility of placing an embargo on such shipments.

Only if such shipments of coal could be classed as a product of slave labor, says this weekly, or if imports could be construed as dumping—that is, brought in for sale at prices below foreign production costs or home price—could Russian coal be put under the ban.

But several European countries are up in arms, too. Belgium, where the soviet government has been making war against the Swedish match trust, is particularly strong in condemning Russian dumping.

With Russia out of the world market, it might change the foreign export situation. But why discriminate against Russia's goods any more than against the goods of any other country? Anyhow, it is doubtful if the thing can be successfully accomplished.

"How can the aeronautics industry co-operate with the insurance carriers in the reduction of losses?"

This is the paramount question of the moment in the air industry!

Many have tried to answer, but few have succeeded successfully from the viewpoint of the insurance companies at any rate.

Says D. De R. M. Scarritt, manager of the aviation department, the Independence Companies, Philadelphia:

"The regulations are not being followed."

Mr. Scarritt continues: "As a first step in loss reduction, check up on the operations manager," and then he suggests something may be accomplished "by more careful selection of pilots and mechanics; by utilizing the facilities provided for fire prevention; by eliminating the necessity of having to transport damaged airplanes long distances by the establishment of more adequately equipped repair depots, and by zealously scrutinizing each item of repair cost and co-operating fully with the insurance carrier to this end."

While strict observance of all rules and regulations laid down for a new industry can hardly be expected, a better observance will help everybody connected with the industry.

We hear much these days about the depression in the steel industry. But the steel industry is moving along pretty well. April's production of steel ingots was 4,143,000 tons; that is at a rate of 50,000,000 tons annually.

Now any year that the United States can produce from 40,000,000 to 50,000,000 tons of steel is not one to call a very bad year.

The weakness in the steel situation at the moment is in the price level. Average prices for eight of the leading companies show a reduction of $3.09 a ton under last year and that really does hurt.

For, as the Wall Street Journal points out "if the United States Steel shipped 13,000,000 tons of finished steel annually, it would mean a shrinkage of $40,000,000 annually in earnings."

It is the dropping price level that is causing more confusion in steel at the moment than any other factor.

The report that the negro race in America is dying out is not borne out by the facts. The commission on interracial co-operation, basing its conclusions on figures which have been issued by the United States public health service and the Metropolitan Life Insurance Company, say that the negro race is steadily growing more healthy and its span of life increasing.

In the last 60 years, the negro mortality rate has decreased 50 per cent or more, the present rate being 17 per 1,000, as against 35 to 40 50 years ago.

Tuberculosis has been the dreaded disease among the negroes. Yet this too is being overcome. Deaths from tuberculosis declined 44 per cent between 1911 and 1916, while a decrease of 54.5 per cent of the disease among negro children for the same period was recorded.

While the negro death rate is still 87 per cent higher in cities and 49 per cent higher in rural communities than the white race, the present life span of negroes is estimated at about 46 years—a five year gain in the past decade.

Havana is in the throes of a telephone fight. It seems that the telephone company operates under a franchise which prescribes the amount of taxes which it shall pay and provides that no additional levy shall ever be made.

This levy is understood to be very light in view of present conditions and is growing relatively lighter every year as the taxes increase for other Cuban enterprises.

So the Havana city council, in order to raise money, voted a tax of $1,000 a year on owners of grocery stores and other business establishments which permit the installation of proposed paid telephone stations in their places of business.

More than 7,000 telephones have been ordered out by businessmen already, among them the two largest Spanish newspapers, which have been fighting for the cause of the merchants.

The outcome of this fight is still in doubt.

Health Talks

BY DR. WILLIAM BRADY.

THE SONG OF THE PEEWEE IS HEARD HERE AND THERE.

In the discussion of tonsillectomy here recently we touched on some of the more glaring abuses in that field of surgery and some of the hazards involved. In that particular article nothing was said about the surgical removal of tonsils by a competent physician or specialist. Lest the reader infer that such an operation is not necessary I beg to point out there are seven different courses to choose from, in any case of enlarged tonsils (with or without adenoids) or infected (diseased) tonsils, briefly as follows:

1. Surgical removal under local or general anesthesia. This is known as tonsillectomy.

2. Diathermy extirpation, otherwise termed electro-coagulation, electrodesiccation, or endothermy. This method in skilled hands may require no anesthetic.

3. Radium emanation, known as radon seed implantation. This method brings about slow shrinkage of lymphoid (tonsil or adenoid) tissue, but for some inscrutable reason is as yet little used.

4. X-ray treatments. This method has given considerable satisfaction in some cases, though the chance of X-ray burn, and certain other accidental untoward effects, makes many physicians hesitate to use it.

5. Topical treatment, that is, chemical or medicinal applications to the tonsils or their crypts by the physician in his office. This method is preferred by not a few of the best physicians who have had much experience with such cases.

6. Natural treatment—a diet to insure adequate vitamin A, exposure to ultra-violet light (preferable sunlight, but various lamps where one can't afford sunshine and open air life. This method is effective in many cases of enlarged tonsils and adenoids in young children.

7. Neglect. This method appeals to Scotchmen and genuine New England Yankees, if the package bears the label "Ethical Philosophy" or some such name.

I have commended diathermy extirpation here as a happy alternative for those adults who cannot or will not undergo tonsillectomy, because I know that diathermy in competent hands is as effective as surgery in competent hands, and diathermy is minus the hazards of hemorrhage, general anesthesia and post-operative infection of the lung.

These hazards of surgical tonsillectomy are unpleasant to mention, but it is my duty to mention them in order to present the matter fairly to readers for their own best interest.

Surgical tonsillectomy, nevertheless, is the best method of treatment in the majority of cases of enlarged or infected tonsils in young children, at least where X-ray treatment is not available or not desired.

Here I remind lay and medical readers of the findings of Welch, who studied 1,000 tonsils that had been removed in a clinic or dispensary in a mid-western city, and found that 710 of them (71 per cent) had never been seriously affected. I think Welch's figures fairly represent the tonsillectomy scandal as it was at the time he reported his investigation (1927); and I believe the ever-ready and wholesale operators and the born specialists have shown some inclination toward conservatism since then. Our campaign will continue as long as the tonsillectomy scandal is tolerated by American medicine.

In view of the poor showing of radical surgery the cry of "no good" raised by the ever-ready operator when a prospective patient speaks of diathermy extirpation, comes with bad grace. No intelligent physician who knows what he is talking about can afford to belittle diathermy treatment. Instead of singing that song the peewees in the nose and throat field would better study the new method and try to serve patients who should have it.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS.

Former Followers Will Be Delighted.

Several years ago, when I wrote to you about my health you assured me there was no such thing as rheumatism. I suppose you have told many others the same thing, for I have noticed comments by some readers and have heard people speak of your neat way of evading such inquiries. It was therefore a delight to me to pick up the paper today and glance over your alleged health column (a thing I seldom bother with any more) to learn that you yourself have recently had a little rheumatism in your knee and shoulder. I am curious to see how you will dodge such questions now. (I. D. P.)

Answer—We shall see. I never dodge a question till I come to it. I don't mind telling you how I dodged the rheumatism though. I assimilated more vitamins (in the Protective Corrective Regimen which I am glad to send any of the older boys or girls) and a bit more sunshine. So here I am as cheerful as ever, assuring you there is no such disease, ailment or condition as rheumatism. Perhaps I should add that I have never neglected by iodin ration these many years—that may have something to do with both recoveries.

What To Do for Nosebleed.

Please tell us how to deal with nosebleed, especially where it is a repeated occurrence and considerable blood is lost. (R. J.)

Answer—In ordinary nosebleed the person should sit leaning forward slightly, head bent forward moderately, and hold both nostrils closed between his thumb and finger and breathe through the mouth until the bleeding stops. Then he should avoid blowing the nose until an hour has passed. Anything cold on the back of the neck tends to stop nosebleed. Where the bleeding is frequent, the physician should be visited, and the bleeding point, usually on the septum within the nose, found and cauterized.

Iodism and Coryza.

I have been using iodide of potash lately—I was told it was good for goiter. But I notice I do a lot of sneezing and my nose runs like I am taking cold . . . (Mrs. S. L. T.)

Answer—Too much iodin in any form will produce coryza symptoms in some persons. You had better ask your doctor's advice about it.

Sermons To Live By

BY ELAM FRANKLIN DEMPSEY.

REAL LIFE.

Text: "To me to live is Christ."—Phil. 1:21.

What is it to live? What is real life?

Answers vary but, in all, this one element will be found,—the sense of abounding energy and strength.

So we are not surprised to read that our Saviour came that we might have life and have it more abundantly.

Every way of living but that of the Christian wastes, impoverishes, shrivels and drys up human life; but the Christian's way of living floods all the channels of being with a sense of fullness, of opulent resource.

For some men, to live is to spend their energies in pleasures and yet we are faithfully told that the one, "who liveth in pleasure is dead while he liveth."

For another man, to live is to get gain and yet we are faithfully told that our life consisteth not in the abundance of that which we possess and we are warned that "they that will be rich fall into temptation and a snare, and into many foolish and hurtful lusts, which drown men in destruction and perdition."—I Timothy 6:9.

For other men, to live is to acquire fame, reputation, power, and yet we are admonished that "the lusts of other things entering in choke the Word so that it bringeth forth no fruit to perfection."

These then must be ways of death rather than ways of life; why walk therein?

Rev. V. L. Bray, writing of "Life," compasseth much thought in small space:

"What is life?
Is it accumulating wealth
Oftimes at the cost of health,
Or spending hours in lazy leisure,
Sipping from the cup of pleasure;
Or in the hall of fame
There to engrave a name
Fadeless forevermore?

"This is life:
The love of friends to cherish;
Noble thoughts that never perish;
A helping hand along the way
To someone who has gone astray;
To see God's face in every flower
And hear sweet music in the April shower,
Toiling not for wealth or fame
But in my heart enshrine a name,
Jesus, King forevermore."

Timely Views of Noted Americans

GOVERNMENT'S EMPLOYMENT POLICY OUTLINED.

BY FRANCIS I. JONES.

Director General, Federal Employment Service.

(Francis Ilsah Jones was born at Blossburg, Pa., Nov. 29, 1864. He was educated at high school and business college. After being in the hardware business at Blossburg for 12 years, he became postmaster there. During the World War he was in charge of the U. S. employment service at Pittsburgh, Pa. Since 1921 he has been director general of the U. S. employment service, department of labor. He is a republican.)

The federal government is vitally interested in the regular, stable employment of all its citizens, because such a condition promotes well being and happiness and, above all, domestic peace and order.

Unemployment is an industrial and commercial disease whose germs breed discontent, disorder, violence and crime. It has long been noted in police records that as unemployment increases, social disorders and crimes against property increase. A happy, contented, and orderly nation is one where stable, regular, safe employment abounds.

A public employment service prevents waste in industry. By reducing to a minimum the time and production loss in unemployment, and by preventing labor turnover, it can immeasurably increase both private and public wealth.

This phase of public unemployment service has received the most careful attention of the best minds in our country and demands scientific attention now. The elimination and prevention of social and economic waste are basic policies in our present federal administration.

Industrial safety, or safety in industry, and a public employment service have many interests in common, and have the same objective, namely, safe, regular, standard, well-paid employment.

The Way of the World

BY GROVE PATTERSON.

WORKINGMAN AND CHURCH

Many workingmen, some identified with organized labor and some not, are free to criticize the church for what they believe an unsympathetic attitude toward the cause of labor. If this is true, the thing to do about it is for the workingman to join the church and get at the trouble from the inside, where he can reach it. The church is not the pulpit or the official board. The church is really what the membership makes it. If workingmen will get in and look out, and find out what the church at its best is all about, they will have a different opinion. We learn that Jesus of Nazareth was a carpenter. There is no more natural affinity than the harmonious relationship between the church and the man who works.

YOUR OPINION.

Canon Elliott, former president of the British Association of Rotary Clubs, once said: "Do not value your opinion too highly; 90 per cent of the opinions held by men during history have been wrong."

That makes you stop and think, but don't be carried away by the idea. Even if 90 per cent of the opinions have been wrong, there have been 10 per cent right, as history judges rightness. Your opinion may be in the 10 per cent. Don't be depressed. Have courage. What we all need is more assurance, more faith, more spirit of intellectual adventure. Let's not be frightened.

THE LIFE OF ASPIRATIONS

These are the days when the commencement speakers are abroad by night. They are trying to tell young people what their education, if any, is all about. Rabbi Silver, noted Cleveland minister, tells about all there is to be told right here. He says:

"Education for efficiency is only one-half of education. Education which stops with efficiency may prove the greatest menace to men and to society. The most dangerous criminal in the world may be the man who is plentifully endowed with the gifts of concentration, reason and imagination, but with no morals.

"Our lives need much more than a precise, eager and powerful intellect. They need not only knowledge, which is power, but wisdom, which is control. They need not only truth, which is light, but goodness, which is warmth.

"They need love and loyalty and the lift of aspirations. They need charm and dignity and a splendid restraint. They need quietness and peace and kindly human contacts."

Unaccredited Law Schools Scored by State Bar Group

Resolution, Approved at Brunswick Meeting, Would Require All Students To Pass Examination.

BRUNSWICK, Ga., May 30.—(AP) Passage of an examination would be required of all law students before they received permission to practice under a resolution passed today by the Georgia Bar Association, in session here.

The resolution and draft of an act to make examinations prerequisite to practice of law will be presented the next legislature.

Bond Almand, of Atlanta, made the motion to draft the resolution after scoring "unaccredited" law schools in a speech. He said such schools were issuing certificates of credits to young lawyers. The three accredited law schools in the state approve such an act, he said.

A committee of three was appointed to draft the resolution.

Judge Nash R. Broyles, chief judge of the Georgia court of appeals, reviewed historic events in connection with the signing of a bail bond for Jefferson Davis following his capture by federal troops shortly after the close of the War Between the States.

President's Imprisonment.

Deploring the indignities to which the president of the Confederacy was subjected during his imprisonment in Fortress Monroe, Virginia, Judge Broyles said:

"He was charged with complicity in the murder of Lincoln, and with having deliberately and wilfully caused the sufferings and deaths of federal soldiers while prisoners at Andersonville, Ga. . . . History has disproved these monstrous fabrications and indubitably established the innocence and humanity of Jefferson Davis."

Judge Broyles read a copy of the bail bond under which Davis finally secured his release. Outstanding among the 22 men who signed it as sureties was Horace Greeley, then editor of the New York Tribune, who had bitterly opposed the cause of the Confederacy during the war.

Act Caused Greely's Defeat.

This act, Judge Broyles pointed out, led to Greeley's overwhelming defeat in the presidential election of 1872, when he was the candidate of a coalition of democrats and liberal republicans. He died shortly afterward.

"For the gracious deed of affixing his signature to the bail bond of Jefferson Davis, his name will be forever honored by the people of the south," Judge Broyles concluded.

Howard E. Coffin, developer of Sea Island Beach, spoke to the lawyers today on "Georgia and Its Possibilities."

He said railroads have reached the pinnacle of their development and stressed importance of Georgia developing waterways and airways and motor lines.

Transportation is necessary to developments of all kinds, he said.

Mr. Coffin traced the history of Georgia and its development from the first settlement in the state to the present time.

Associate Justice Atkinson, of the supreme court of Georgia, also spoke on the economic development of the state in an address today.

"At this time there are 2,022 miles of paved highways in Georgia," he said. "Commercial interstate railroads traverse practically every county in the state. The taxable values returned to the state in 1929, which is supposed to be about 30 per cent of the actual value of all property, exceeded $1,000,000,000."

Georgia has developed by "leaps and bounds" since the Civil War, he said.

WESLEYAN ALUMNAE PLAN REUNION IN '31

MACON, Ga., May 30.—(AP)—The first steps toward holding a distinct reunion of alumnae of Wesleyan Conservatory who have graduated since that institution has been separated from Wesleyan college were taken Friday at the annual meeting of the Mu Alpha Omega Honorary Society of the school when a committee was appointed to make plans for such a reunion in 1931.

In charge of the reunion plans will be Miss Elizabeth Holcombe, Miss Elizabeth Barrett, Miss Frances Owens and Mrs. Mildred McCrory Mitchell. The plan will be to have all the alumnae starting with 1925, when the schools were separated, gather next June in special meetings.

Officers elected for the ensuing year are Miss Elizabeth Barrett, president; Miss Nanette Ruff, vice president; Miss Elizabeth Holcombe, secretary; Miss Frances Owens, treasurer.

DR. STRAHAN SUCCEEDS LATE J. M. HODGSON

ATHENS, Ga., May 30.—(AP)—Dr. Charles M. Strahan, first chairman of the state highway board and head of the civil engineering department of the University of Georgia, was chosen in a special election Friday to fill the unexpired term of the late J. M. Hodgson as county commissioner. Dr. Strahan had a margin of 374 votes over his nearest opponent, J. L. McClergy, who received 510 votes. R. M. Todd received 150 votes.

New Bid Is Made For "Meanest Man"

MACON, Ga., May 30.—(AP)—Here's another bid for the world's meanest man. Two negro girls, Betty May and Carrie Reese Robinson, whose mother is dead and who "ain't got no father," were brought here from Cochran, Ga., by their uncle.

Late in the afternoon, the girls told police when picked up the next morning, their uncle deserted them because he "didn't like us."

They spent the night in an alley trash can.

QUILLIAN SAYS FUNDS NEEDED AT WESLEYAN

MACON, Ga., May 30.—(AP)—A committee from the board of trustees of Wesleyan college will select a new president to succeed Dr. W. F. Quillian, resigned, it was announced by the trustees at their meeting Friday night in the Candler Memorial Library to consider the affairs of the college and conservatory. The committee will consider several names which have already been presented to the trustees, as well as others which may come to their attention later.

Dr. Quillian, who has been elected general secretary of the board of Christian education of the Methodist Episcopal Church, South, tendered his resignation as president of the college to take effect at the will of the trustees with the understanding that he would continue such supervision as was necessary until his successor was chosen.

In his report to the trustees, Dr. Quillian recommended the appointment of three new members of the faculty: Dr. George W. Gignilliat, Jr., who is to teach English in place of Dr. W. K. Greene, who has returned to Duke University; Joseph M. Almand to assist Professor Leon P. Smith in physics and chemistry, and Miss Kathryn Rountree, to be an instructor in biology. Miss Rountree is completing advanced work at Columbia University where she is also teaching in the biology department. She is a daughter of Rev. J. A. Rountree of the South Georgia conference.

Miss Edna Patterson and Miss Leona Letson, assistants in biology and chemistry, are to leave the faculty as they are to be married this summer.

Faculty and Students Doubled.

"It was 10 years ago June 1 that I came to Wesleyan as president," Dr. Quillian told the trustees, "and at that time there was a faculty of 29 and a student body of 370. At the present time there is a faculty of 56 and a student body of 673. The plant which 10 years ago represented $500,000 has been built up to a present valuation of $2,300,000 while the endowment has grown from $215,000 to $650,000. In total assets the growth during this period is represented by the figures $745,000 in 1920 and above $3,000,000 in 1930.

"This year's graduating class will number 83 of which 65 are from the college and 18 from the conservatory. Although the year has been one of depression the student body has been only five below that of last year and the conservatory has had slightly more than before."

Dr. Quillian spoke of the continued growth of the courses and faculty and said that he had been seeking to build the curriculum "to include a professor of social science for the training of Christian workers."

By authority of an executive committee resolution, the president pointed out that conservatory students were permitted to avail themselves of college loan funds in excess of the demands of college students for such aid.

The recent gift of the Madonna and Child from Mr. and Mrs. Walter Lamar was made an item of special report. The visit of Dr. D. A. Robertson, of the Association of American Universities, and the subsequent approval of Wesleyan college thus giving it the most coveted honor which an American college seeks to attain, was also reported by the president.

Pledges Are Still Uncollected.

Of college finances, the president called attention to the fact that about $750,000 had been collected pledges of a million.

"We urgently need $250,000 to build the chapel and administration building," Dr. Quillian said in his report. "And a million dollars to retire the bonded debt as well as an additional $1,000,000 to increase the endowment to approximately $2,000,000 and assure the future of the college for 50 years.

"We recommend that a special campaign be held in the fall of 1930 or in the spring of 1931 to raise funds for these needs and that the building and finance committee be enlarged and become responsible for such a campaign.

"We are straining every point to reduce operating expenses and to increase current income. We feel constantly the pressure of the present situation and are still hoping and praying that some great friend of Christian education and young womanhood will place on the altars of God for service in this institution several hundred thousand dollars. What more beautiful monument could be built?"

WILL CONFER A. B. DEGREE ON 63 STUDENTS.

MACON, Ga., May 30—(AP)—Wesleyan college will confer the bachelor of arts degree on 63 students on Monday, Dr. W. K. Greene, dean of the college, announced Friday night. Eighteen will be graduated from the conservatory and two others at the main college after the summer session.

TROOP PARADE, SALUTE HELD AT FT. BENNING

COLUMBUS, Ga., May 30.—(AP)—Parades of troops and a salute featured National Decoration Day exercises at Fort Benning Friday.

A battery from the 83rd Field Artillery fired a salute at noon and the 24th Infantry band played a number of national airs. While the salute was being fired all transportation, both official and private, was halted.

Before the troops taking part in the parade were dismissed, an officer read a list of names of former commissioned and enlisted members who died in the service, together with a brief statement of their records.

COUPLE DETAINED FOR FLORIDA OFFICERS

MACON, Ga., May 30.—(AP)—J. T. Anglin and a young woman who gave the name of Murtise Velma Whitcomb Anglin, were taken into custody here tonight as they left a motion picture house at the request of Jacksonville, Fla., officers, and also officers at Labell, Fla. Anglin is said to be wanted on a charge of abducting.

Negro Killed in Fall.

Ends College Career

JOHN HENDERSON,
Of Columbus, Ga., soloist of the Mercer University Glee Club for the past three years, recently made his last college appearance at the Wesleyan conservatory.

PLANT AT MONTICELLO FOR FREEZING DELAYED

MACON, Ga., May 30.—(AP)—An order temporarily restraining Ralph V. Grayson, of Macon, and Claude M. Foster, of Atlanta, from proceeding with plans to build a peach freezing plant at Monticello, Ga., was signed Friday by Judge Malcolm D. Jones in Bibb superior court.

Petition for the injunction was brought by W. R. Tucker, agricultural agent for the Atlanta, Birmingham & Coast railroad, who claims to be the originator of a process for freezing peaches and other fruits. The petition charged that Grayson and Foster, formerly partners of Tucker, have broken faith with him and are attempting to establish themselves in business by making use of certain confidential information about the freezing of peaches.

The injunction bill further alleged that a charter had been obtained under the laws of Delaware for a corporation to be named the Ice-Bound Products Company, in pursuance with an agreement made in March of this year, at which time the petitioner gave his partners full knowledge of his freezing process. Later, it was charged, Tucker learned that Grayson and Foster were forming another corporation to be known as the Polar Products Company, and that they had approached leading businessmen of Montezuma, Ga., with whom Tucker had been negotiating for subscriptions to build the Icebound Company's plant there.

When Montezuma citizens cancelled a $25,000 subscription pledge and declined to give any further aid to the project, the petition stated, Grayson and Foster moved to Monticello with their proposition.

A hearing on the temporary order has been set for June 6, when Grayson and Foster will be required to show cause why the injunction should not be made permanent.

State Deaths And Funerals

FUNERAL OF O. M. NEELY.

COVINGTON, Ga., May 30.—Last rites for Oliver M. Neely, 41, prominent Newton county citizen who died in an Atlanta hospital Wednesday afternoon, were conducted from the Almon Methodist church Thursday with the Rev. Fruit, pastor, officiating. Interment was in the Shiloah cemetery near Covington. Mr. Neely, who was serving his third term as tax collector of Newton county, was stricken suddenly at his home in Covington Saturday. He was rushed to an Atlanta hospital but never regained consciousness. He was buried by Golden Fleece Lodge F. & A. M. No. 6, of Covington, of which he was an honored member. He is survived by his widow; a small daughter, Margene; his father, Henry Neely; a sister, Mrs. D. M. Bently; a brother, Pliny G. Neely, all of Newton county.

MISS FANNIE BLACK.

ROME, Ga., May 30.—Miss Fannie G. Black, 78, died here Friday morning after several weeks' illness. She had been in failing health for some time. Miss Black was a daughter of General George S. Black, one of Rome's pioneer citizens. She was well known for her charitable interests and was a member of the Presbyterian church. Funeral services will be held Saturday afternoon. Dr. E. R. Leyburn will officiate. She is survived by a sister, Miss Sallie G. Black, of Rome, and a brother, Earle S. Black, of Washington, D. C.

M. B. ADAMS.

BAINBRIDGE, Ga., May 30.—M. B. Adams, 42, died here suddenly of apoplexy. His body was taken Thursday to Tifton, his former home, for interment. Mr. Adams was a well-known insurance man here.

FUNERAL OF W. R. BALDWIN.

DAWSON, Ga., May 30.—Funeral services for W. R. Baldwin were held from the residence on East Seventh avenue Friday morning.

Mr. Baldwin was stricken with apoplexy Tuesday and died Wednesday night. He was 56 years of age, was born in Dawton, the son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Andrew J. Baldwin, pioneer residents of this section. He entered business with his father and brothers here a number of years ago. Mr. Baldwin was a member of the Dawson Methodist church and also a member of the P. T. Schley Lodge F. & A. M., and of the Woodmen of the World. He was married in 1896 to Miss Hattie Lowe. For a number of years he had been manager of the firm of A. J. Baldwin & Company.

He is survived by his widow; two daughters, Mrs. Jeff Storey, of Nashville, Ga., and Miss Emma Mae Baldwin, of Dawson; two sons, A. J. Baldwin, of Miami, Fla., and William Baldwin, of Dawson; two sisters, Mrs. John Robert Stokes, of St. Petersburg, Fla., and Miss Florence Baldwin, of Dawson; four brothers, Walter A. Baldwin, Ernest Baldwin and Wiley L. Baldwin, all of Dawson, and M. Crouch Baldwin, of Tulsa, Okla., and three grandchildren.

MRS. W. T. CHAMBLEE.

SPARTA, Ga., May 30.—Mrs. W. T. Chamblee died at the home of her daughter, Mrs. J. C. Sigman, Friday morning after an illness of several months. She was a former resident of this city but had made her home in Palmetto, Fla., for the past two years. The funeral and interment will be Saturday afternoon at 3 o'clock. The Rev. E. J. Forrester, pastor of the Baptist church, and the Rev. J. T. Eakes, pastor of the Methodist church, will officiate. Mrs. Chamblee is survived by her husband; two sons, C. C. Chamblee, of Sparta, and G. T. Chamblee, of Augusta; three daughters, Mrs. J. C. Sigman and Miss Annie Chamblee, of Sparta, and Mrs. R. M. Coleman, of Mitchell; her mother, Mrs. G. L. Bagwell, of Auburn; seven sisters and five brothers.

Mr. Greer was here Friday to confer with W. S. MacFeeley, grand keeper of the records and seal.

DR. BASCOM ANTHONY WANTS CANNON TRIED

Widely Known Methodist Minister Thinks Dr. White's Criticism Justified.

MACON, Ga., May 30.—Intimation that opponents of Bishop Cannon within the Methodist church have not concluded their efforts to bring him to trial on a charge of gambling in the stock market, is contained in a letter to the editor of the Telegraph from Dr. Bascom Anthony, for many years a leading minister of the South Georgia conference.

Dr. Anthony, who has served as a Methodist minister for 50 years and is regarded as an authority on church law, says in his letter that "the real issue has never been faced on its merits. A few of us are determined that it shall be if it is humanly possible and I for one believe it is. Time will tell."

Again, later in his letter, after discussing criticism of the conference for passing the bishop's character, Dr. Anthony says: "Many of them (who supported Bishop Cannon) were our best and truest men, but I do think that in their sympathy for a humiliated man, or in their zeal for prohibition, our great church has received a hurt that will require the use of its lawful healing powers which inheres in its discipline and which I believe will be found to meet our needs."

Beyond that statement, Dr. Anthony did not care to be quoted, but the inference was drawn that he and others contemplated further action against Bishop Cannon under the church law.

Dr. Anthony's Letter.

His letter follows:

"To the Editor of the Telegraph:

"The criticism upon the action taken by the committee on episcopacy in passing the character of Bishop Cannon and upon the general conference for re-electing him to head the board of temperance is, in my opinion, just.

"All the Georgia delegates except Doctors T. D. Ellis and W. F. Quillian voted against him. Unfortunately the Hoover-Smith, wet and dry question that seemed to overreach all else in the daily press, also seemed to have controlled the general conference. The real issue has never been passed on its merits. A few of us are determined it shall be if it is humanly possible and I for one believe it is. Time will tell.

"Some have thought it was a Methodist affair and that Dr. White, of Savannah, and Rev. T. F. Callaway, of Thomasville, ought not to have expressed opinions about it. From this, I would like to dissent. While Dr. White was in error as to some of the facts, his criticisms were just. So were those of my old friend Callaway. The whole question of Christian ethics is involved and every man who has an interest in the maintenance of Christian standards has a right to speak and ought to do so. The cause of temperance is involved and all its friends have a right to protest against its being jeopardized.

Refers to Expelled Ministers.

"We have expelled from the South Georgia conference in the last 50 years some 12 or 15 preachers for adultery and with two exceptions they have all entered the Baptist ministry. If that great church were connectional, I would not hesitate in all these cases, except one, to criticize them for it, but as each congregation is supreme, fairness does not allow that the whole church be blamed for it. But the Methodist church is connectional and the doings of our representatives become the acts of us all and is subject to criticism.

"In saying these things I am not attacking the character of the men who supported Bishop Cannon. Many of them were our best and truest men, but I do think that in their sympathy for a humiliated man, or in their zeal for prohibition, our great church has received a hurt that will require the use of its lawful healing powers which inheres in its discipline and which I believe will be found to meet our needs.

"BASCOM ANTHONY."

GOVERNOR ROOSEVELT RETURNS TO NEW YORK

The governor took the train for New York city at Newnan, Ga., 40 miles from here, driving his own automobile there from his home. He was scheduled to reach Pennsylvania station in New York at 11:24 a. m., daylight saving time, tomorrow.

Governor Roosevelt said he planned to make an address in Schenectady Saturday night and to go to Boston Sunday for the wedding of his son before returning to Albany.

Edward W. Flynn, New York democratic leader, and Mrs. Flynn accompanied the governor on his trip north.

DR. ROSE CRITICALLY ILL IN VALDOSTA

VALDOSTA, Ga., May 30.—Dr. E. P. Rose, widely known businessman and naval stores producer, is critically ill at his home here and last reports from his bedside were that he was not expected to live through the night.

Dr. Rose is a director of the American Turpentine Farmers' Association, a member of the naval stores producing concern of Rose & Dasher and was at one time president of the Bank of Valdosta. His illness has brought great concern to his friends in the state. He has been in declining health for some time and early this week suffered a heart attack. His condition since has become worse.

For many years Dr. Rose has been well known in banking and naval stores circles and during today inquiries have come from several states regarding his condition.

EX-GOVERNMENT AGENT GRILLED ON STAND

SAVANNAH, Ga., May 30.—(AP)—Judge W. H. Barrett in United States district court Friday evening refused to direct a verdict for Harry H. Brown, now on trial for conspiracy to violate the national prohibition act, motion to this effect having been made by John J. Bouhan of counsel for Brown.

Continuation of the grilling of Franklin L. Dodge, witness for the defense was the program Friday. Dodge was on the stand in this case for more than six hours, being subjected to minute cross-examination by Norman Morrison, special assistant to the attorney-general. Defense today interposed objections to the reading of the report made by Dodge when a special agent for the government in 1923, claiming that the report was made from information given him by others and was therefore, of hearsay character. Judge Barrett overruled the objections. Dodge had testified that he compiled these notes from reports made by three agents for the government. Their introduction yesterday had proved a great surprise to the defense.

Arguments will be made at Saturday's session and the case will go to the jury in the early afternoon in all probability.

Georgia News Told in Brief

Dr. Sanford Speaks.

ATHENS, Ga., May 30.—Dr. S. V. Sanford, dean of the University of Georgia, delivered the Memorial Day address here Friday evening at 6 o'clock at exercises held in Oconee cemetery. The graves of Clarke county boys and men who died in the World War, or whose deaths have occurred since the war, were decorated by members of Allen R. Fleming, Jr., American Legion auxiliary here.

YOUTH, 14, JAILED FOR BANK THEFTS

BARNESVILLE, Ga., May 30.—Royal Trawick, 14-year-old messenger boy, is in jail here charged with larceny, and his brother, Dewey Trawick, is in jail charged with accessory to the crime and receiving stolen goods.

For several months, the local bank missed sums of money, and in March lost a roll of bills amounting to $500. Several clues were traced but proved to be false. The younger Trawick was arrested as a suspect and confessed the robberies, and said he was sending the money to his brother in Montezuma. He went into the bank with telegrams, and while the officials' attention was centered on the message, he reached through the bars of the window and got the money. His brother denies knowledge of the affair, but there is sufficient evidence in hand to hold them both for the grand jury, it is said.

How To Relieve Sick Headaches in 3 Minutes

When one of those sick, raging headaches come and you want three-minute relief, go to any drug store or soda fount and ask for a package or dose of "B-C" (10c and 25c packages) the wonderful new preparation of a North Carolina druggist that is guaranteed safe and speedy, without depression or bad after effects.

"B-C" relieves any kind of a headache, sciatic, neuralgic or female pain, because it contains several ingredients that function together for the relief of pain, regardless of its origin. The "B-C" formula is one of the most important medical discoveries of recent years, accomplishing in a few minutes what no one drug formula can do under 1 to 3 hours.

TONIGHT at midnight all Main telephones will be transferred to the new Main dial office. Effective at that time the name of the Fairfax office will be changed to Calhoun and the name of the Franklin office will be changed to Belmont. These improvements have made it necessary to change several thousand telephone numbers in Atlanta.

After midnight tonight all telephone users should consult the new RED COVERED telephone directory before making a call.

If you have not received your copy of the new RED COVERED directory, telephone OFficial 8600 and ask for Directory Delivery, and it will be sent to you at once. Be sure to destroy the old directory with the Gray cover after midnight tonight.

IF YOU ARE A NEW DIAL SUBSCRIBER and are not sure that you know how to use the dial telephone, there are four convenient sources of information:

1. Refer to the booklet of instructions which was left with you.
2. Consult pages 3 and 4 of the new telephone directory.
3. Call at our business office, 67 Edgewood Avenue, S. E. (150 Hurt Bldg.) and let us demonstrate it to you.
4. Telephone our business office, and, if necessary, a representative will call on you.

Government Plans Relief For Congestion at Prison

Two Additional Penitentiaries To Be Erected; Atlanta Pen Population Now 3,996.

BY GLADSTONE WILLIAMS.

WASHINGTON, May 30.—Reports from Atlanta today showing a serious congestion to exist in the federal penitentiary there brought from officials of the department of justice here the statement that relief will soon be forthcoming when the administration's new prison construction program gets under way.

Taking cognizance of the crowded conditions which prevail in federal penal institutions at Atlanta and elsewhere, congress recently passed legislation, sponsored by the administration, providing for construction of two new great penitentiaries, together with a half dozen federal jails, which will be scattered over the country in an effort to take some of the pressure off existing institutions. One of the new penitentiaries will be located in the eastern section of the country, while the second will be constructed on a site west of the Mississippi river.

Big Narcotic Farms.

In addition, congress at the last session passed preliminary legislation looking to establishment of two big federal narcotic farms, designed to take from regular federal prisons all prisoners serving sentences for violation of the Harrison narcotic act. The two farms alone are expected to give considerable relief to the congestion that exists at Atlanta and elsewhere, since a large portion of the inmates of federal prisons are cataloged as drug addicts or violators of the Harrison act.

Early in the Hoover administration the president designated Sanford Bates, federal superintendent of prisons, to make a survey of the prison situation in the country and recommend a program to provide relief. The legislation recently approved by congress is an outgrowth of that survey.

In the meantime, department of justice officials, alarmed by the recent wave of prison riots within state institutions, have embarked on a program of transferring federal prisoners from the Atlanta penitentiary to points in Maryland and Virginia. Accommodations for others are being arranged constantly.

WORK TO START SOON.

The major measure of the relief sought, however, will have to await completion of the new prison building program. Expectations are that work on the two new penitentiaries will get under way at a comparatively early date, but more delay is scheduled to follow in advancing plans for the two narcotic farms. The initial legislation passed by congress merely authorized a survey of the country in the selection of sites, with the necessary appropriations to come along later.

In any event, however, department officials today emphasized the plan of the administration to completely revamp the present prison facilities of the country. The new institutions to be built will not only do away with the congested conditions now found in practically every federal institution, but will be model in every respect and contain some new ideas on prison reform, such as that embraced in the plan to confine narcotic addicts in separate institutions.

ATLANTA U. S. PRISON POPULATION 3,966.

"Good Words," United States prison publication in Atlanta, shows that the prison population as of May 21, 1930, was 3,966, as compared with 3,728 for the preceding 30 days—an increase of 238 prisoners.

For the period from April 22, 1930, to May 21, 1930, there were 554 prisoners received at the penitentiary here, as compared with 442 received the previous 30-day period. The discharges in the April-May period were 345, as compared with 131 for the March-April period, 167 of the former number being transferred to United States military posts.

There were three escapes recaptured included in the number of prison receipts, while there were two deaths and two escapes included in the total number of discharged for the April and May period.

Man Held for Effort To Right Inscription

BALTIMORE, Md., May 30.—(AP) Unable to tolerate a misquotation from "The Raven" on the Poe memorial here, Edmond Fontaine last night carried out his published intention to chip off what he called "a superfluous letter." He was arrested at his work, charged with defacing the monument, and held in a police station during the night in default of bail.

The inscription read:

Dreaming dreams
No mortals
Ever dared
To dream before.

The accepted editions of Poe's works have the word "mortal" instead of the plural form.

Fontaine, who calls himself a tree surgeon and plant pathologist, also attempted to remove a daub of black paint which had been placed on the monument.

At the police station Fontaine declared there could be no real charge against him because he "did nothing but good."

Murder Is Indicated In Chicagoan's Death

KENTLAND, Ind., May 30.—(AP)—A post mortem examination of the body of William Simons, Chicago broker and former partner of Warren T. McCray ex-governor of Indiana, indicated, it was learned today, that Simons did not kill himself but was the victim of slayers.

The examination was made at the request of Richard Simons, son of the dead man, who in the face of the coroner's verdict of suicide still believed his father had been murdered.

Dr. E. R. Le Count, Chicago pathologist, made the examination.

The body was secretly exhumed Wednesday night. Dr. Le Count told members of the family the evidence did not indicate suicide.

Bullets were removed from the head and from the body, Dr. Le Count said. Neither of two wounds in the head caused death, the physician found. A third shot, which entered the heart, was probably fired last and was the cause of death, in Dr. Le Count's opinion. The location of the head wounds, in his opinion, made it seem very improbable that Simons could have fired the shots himself.

Freaks in the News

BUZZING BEES NOT BURSTING BOMBS.

Postal clerks at Wappinger Falls, N. Y., received a package yesterday that buzzed menacingly. And the package was a big one. The clerks paled and were prevented from scattering only by their fine esprit de corps. But it wasn't a bomb. Just a shipment of bees arrived from Louisiana.

WHAT DREAMS THESE WOULD GENERATE.

The largest lobsters in the world, some of them three feet long, were found by the good ship Austral on a cruise in the Kergulen islands. They were brought back to Paris canned.

EGG-BEARING "WITCH" IN SUIT.

A farmer's wife in the village of Cornet, France, near Lille, became injured in an accident and the village postman said the first person to visit her the next day would be a bad witch who had placed her under an evil spell. A neighbor arrived early the next morning bearing a gift of some eggs. In the resulting conversation the eggs became scrambled over the neighbor's eye and now a lawsuit rages.

SWEET SPRINGTIME MELLOWS JUSTICE.

Alfred Kranen passed a red light on Manhattan and when he appeared before the judge yesterday he admitted his guilt, but declared he had just been married and it was his birthday and he just couldn't keep his eyes off his wife's face—he loved her so much. The judge fined him $5 but suspended sentence if he'd buy his wife a new hat with the money. "Did you, your honor," said Alfred, "ever buy your wife a hat for $5 that pleased her?" "Next case," shouted Magistrate Dreyer and Alfred went out talking to himself.

ALL IN ONE IT WOULD SEEM.

J. W. Thumm, of Bellaire, Mich., had only one lemon in his lemon crop, but it measured 13 1-2 inches in circumference and provided lemonade for eight people.

MEMORIAL EXERCISES HELD IN MARIETTA

MARIETTA, Ga., May 30.—Memorial services were held Friday morning at the National cemetery here under the auspices of the Grand Army of the Republic, assisted by the United States army, the United Confederate Veterans, United Spanish War Veterans, Veterans of Foreign Wars, American Legion, and Disabled Veterans of World War.

Music was provided by the band of the 22d infantry of the army.

DELIVERY OF MAIL SUSPENDED FOR DAY.

National Memorial Day was impressed upon Atlanta Friday with the suspension of hourc delivery of mail and the observance of a holiday in the schools and in United States government departments.

Scientists Return From Secret Quest

MIAMI, Fla., May 30.—(AP)—With the secrecy that guarded the purpose of their two months' cruise removed, Mr. and Mrs. S. W. Parish and their son, Lee Parish, rested here today after completing a scientific expedition into the West Indies in the 70-foot schooner Esperanza. With them was W. H. Perrygo, staff taxidermist of the Smithsonian Institution.

Several hundred specimens of animal life, that the party gathered in remote islands of the West Indies were shipped to the Smithsonian Institution in Washington by steamer from Port-Au-Prince, Haiti.

Among the specimens obtained were 600 skins of various birds, 250 snake skins, eight living rhinoceros iguanas, or giant lizards; 50 snakes of varieties not frequently found, and many living birds, including rare types of ducks and pigeons.

Chicagoan Ends Life On Third Attempt

CHICAGO, May 30.—(AP)—Harry Mylan, 41 years old, finally succeeded, after two unsuccessful attempts, in killing himself last night. He took his life in the Woodlawn police station, where he had been taken so he would be unable to carry out his suicide threat.

Several months ago he was arrested following an attempt at suicide. Police said he had previously failed with poison and gas.

Last night, at the jail, he snatched the revolver of the lock-up keeper, and shot himself.

BEATON MAY ENTER SENATORIAL RACE

WAYCROSS, Ga., May 30.—Scott T. Beaton, representative from Ware county, announced Friday that he probably will enter the race for the senate. He will make a definite announcement either Monday or Tuesday.

Mr. Beaton has served two terms as representative from Ware county and is known throughout the state as the author of the Beaton school text book bill, a bill purposed to print books for the school children at the cost of production and at a large saving to the parents. This bill passed the house at the last session of the legislature and failed of passage in the senate by only three votes.

Prior to his service in the state legislature Mr. Beaton served as mayor of Waycross, as a member of the board of aldermen and as ex-officio member of the board of education.

He is one of the largest real estate owners and taxpayers of the county and one who has long been active in public affairs.

SCHOOL CLERK FOUND GUILTY OF LARCENY

BALTIMORE, May 30.—(AP)—The story of Robert N. Ayres, former clerk of the University of Maryland School of Medicine, that the school safe had been looted of $7,500 last February 28, failed to convince a jury in criminal court here last night and he was convicted of the larceny. Evidence that Ayres had systematically peculated over a period of two years was introduced by the state. Sentence was postponed pending an appeal.

2 MORE STREET CARS BOMBED IN ORLEANS

NEW ORLEANS, May 30.—(AP)—Bombs wrecked two more New Orleans street cars last night as trolleys of the Laurel and Prytania lines were blasted almost simultaneously in different sections of the city. Passengers and crews of the cars escaped injury.

The bombings marked a renewal of the destructive warfare that unidentified persons have carried on against the city's transportation system for nearly a year, or since the local street car men went out on strike.

A long period during which no bombings occurred, just preceding last night's outbreak, had led to popular belief that the vandalism which had vented itself on more than 70 pieces of traction company rolling stock in 11 months had worn itself out.

The first bombing last night occurred when a Laurel car, traversing what is known as the "Irish channel" section of the city near the river front, was blown up on Howard avenue between Tchoupitoulas and Poe streets. Explosive that had been placed between the rails tore out two floor boards and hurled them through the car roofs, shattering glass and causing other damage.

Then in a more exclusive section in the residential area, a Prytania car was similarly bombed and damaged in very much the same way.

Rushing to the scenes of the blasts, police and federal deputy marshals began thier customary examination and encountered the customary lack of clues as to the identity of the bombers. In all the past months of trolley destruction, only one person has been convicted in connection with the depredations.

Less than a week ago Colonel Hu B. Myers, who recently took office as inspector of police, dismissed 100 emergency supernumerary policemen who had been enrolled in the previous police regime to combat the bombers.

Last night's bombings are the first to occur, not only under the incumbency of Colonel Myers, but under the new administration of Tom W. Dutton, who recently took office as United States marshal. The property of New Orleans Public Service, Inc., the local traction company, is under protective strike injunction of federal court.

Only a week ago a bill was introduced in the state legislature by Representative Lester Lautenschlager, of New Orleans, providing the death penalty for street car bombings.

More Farmers Florida's Need, Edison Thinks

FORT MYERS, Fla., May 30.—(AP) The greatest need in Florida today is for more farmers, in the opinion of Thomas A. Edison, 83-year-old inventor.

Bending over vials and chemicals in his laboratory here, the aged inventive genius did not interrupt his experiments with plants and weeds to discover a way to produce an emergency rubber crop, as he talked with a newspaper correspondent today. He kept steadily at his task, talking as he worked.

Questioned as to whether or not he favored a protective tariff for southern farmers, Mr. Edison replied:

"Yes, certainly I favor a protective tariff for the farmer. The manufacturer gets protection and the farmer has the same right. The tariff will help bring about a greater agricultural development and national prosperity.

"On my field trips through south Florida and especially in this county, I have noticed men clearing land and preparing it for next fall. That is working in the right direction.

"There is an unlimited field for the farmer in the south. The early bird gets the agricultural worm, and I am pleased to see the farmers waking up to their opportunity down here."

With his health improved and spurred on by a desire to hasten his rubber research program, Mr. Edison has been working overtime during the past few weeks. He declared his health was much better now than when he came here last fall and said he had enjoyed the period spent in working with goldenrod, one of his rubber producing plants, and searching the fields for uncatalogued varieties of local flora.

Death Takes Member Of Tragic Expedition

MODESTO, Cal., May 30.—(AP)—Death has taken the last of 15 survivors of a party of 80 persons who were trapped by deep snows in the high Sierra mountains during the winter of 1846-47.

Mrs. Lena Charity Donner App, 95, last member of the famous Donner group, died late yesterday at Jamestown, west of here. She had been active until recently and last week received Governor C. C. Young.

Mrs. App saw her father die of starvation and her mother go insane in the emergency encampment in the deep snows on the edge of what now is Donner Lake, Cal.

She was born in Illinois. Her father, Captain George Donner, was leader of the ill-fated expedition.

European Editors Praise Atlanta Entertainment

Heartfelt gratitude for the hospitality and courtesy extended them in Atlanta was pledged by the 13 European journalists here under auspices of the Carnegie Endowment for International Peace at a banquet tendered them Friday night at the Atlanta Biltmore hotel.

The group will leave this afternoon for New Orleans, and after a 12-hour stop there they will continue their tour of observation of the intellectual, industrial and social life of the American people.

The program arranged for the final day of the party in Atlanta includes a visit to the federal penitentiary and the Coca-Cola plant.

Journalists Make Addresses.

Three of the journalists, Dr. Albert Oeri, of Switzerland; Georg Meri, of Estonia, and Erik Moller, of Denmark, were among the speakers at the dinner Friday night, which was tendered by the Atlanta Chamber of Commerce.

Dr. Oeri and W. R. C. Smith, Atlanta publisher and the principal speaker at the banquet, found a common topic in discussion of the tariff voted in Washington.

"If we want to sell goods to foreign countries, where will they get the money to pay for them if we do not buy from them?" Mr. Smith asked. "I want you gentlemen to know that not all parts of the United States are in sympathy with what is being carried out in Washington."

"The tariff threatens to kill two of the chief industries of Switzerland," Dr. Oeri said. "We cannot understand why it is done. We buy much more from America than we sell to it. Is it a clever businessman who kills his customer? We are not large manufacturers. Let us have a small place in the sun."

Moller Speaks.

Mr. Moller stated that what he has seen in the south is tantamount to what has taken place in other sections of the world at the time of its industrial birth. The feature of the city which impressed him most, he said, was the Sears-Roebuck Company and the arrangements there for meeting the demands of customers outside the city.

"Atlanta will be queen of all those industrial towns and cities which will grow in the south," he declared. "I find the people here are of a truly American stock. Never before have I understood why the south aroused such sympathy in the Civil War. I understand now."

George A. Bland presided as toastmaster, introducing the speakers. Horace Russell, president of the chamber, made the address of welcome, and Mayor I. N. Ragsdale officially expressed the pleasure of the city at their visit.

George A. Finch, of the Carnegie Endowment for International Peace, outlined the work of the endowment. It is threefold, he said, one division working on problems of international law; a second on economics and history, and a third on promoting contacts between the nations.

He expressed the gratitude of the visitors and the Carnegie Endowment to officials, organizations and firms of Georgia and Atlanta for their courtesies and co-operation. Personal expressions of gratitude were made to Mr. Bland and the members of the reception committee, F. J. Paxon, Harry Mitchell, Howard Candler and Francis W. Clarke, of The Constitution, who arranged the preliminary details of the visit here.

Gainesville Reception.

Gainesville gave a rousing reception to the Carnegie party, the time being largely spent in the study of cotton mill conditions. The Atlanta cars were met on the outskirts of the little north Georgia city by a delegation composed of prominent Gainesville citizens and for five hours the party was kept busy inspecting sights, which brought frequent expressions of interest from the visiting journalists.

The Riverside military cadets, including boys from 33 states and 5 countries, were exhibited in a formal drill, following which the visitors were escorted to Brenau Conservatory for a brief stay.

The party was entertained at luncheon by the Chicopee mills, the affair being presided over by E. A. McCormick, of that company. Albert S. Hardy, of the Gainesville News, made a brief welcome address which was cordially greeted by the members of the party. During the course of the typically southern meal solos were sung by Judson House, leading tenor of the Philadelphia Civic Opera Company, who is now in Gainesville incident to the closing exercises of Brenau Conservatory, and a string quartet from Brenau helped entertain. Mr. House's rich tenor voice was heard in several selections and he was given enthusiastic applause by the European journalists, many of them being capable musical critics.

See Community House.

Following the luncheon the party was taken to the community house of the Pacolet mills, where dances and gymnasium exercises by children from the first to the tent' grades of the mill school were presented. The visitors were given a cordial welcome by D. W. Anderson, the head of the mills, and were evidently tremendously impressed by the bright and happy faces of the youngsters of the mill village and the cleverness with which they executed their dances and athletic stunts.

The visit to th Chicopee mills was declared by members of the journaliste party to be the most interesting and instructive inspection which they have made since arriving in America. From the time they entered the main building unt they had left the last structure they were busy taking notes, and it was with difficulty that the party was finally gotten back into the automobiles for the return trip to Atlanta.

Stone mountain was visited on the return trip and despite the fact that only a brief time was left for the writers to prepare for Friday night's banquet, the visitors insisted upon staying long enough to take full notes concerning the monument and the mountain itself.

Financial Markets Change Little During 4-Day Week

BY JOHN L. COOLEY.
Associated Press Financial Writer.

NEW YORK, May 30.—(AP)—The current week has contributed little or nothing of importance or interest to the financial markets. Security traders called it a week after the close of business on Thursday, leaving a stock list that was showing marked firmness in prominent places and a general tendency to move upward. The bond market was so apathetic that Tuesday's sales established a new low for the year. Commodities affected by speculation were irregular.

Money remained easy. The holiday and month-end settlement period brought some loan calling, but withdrawals were not sufficient to affect the New York Stock Exchange rate of 3 per cent. Time funds, which have been drifting slowly downward for months, touched the lowest levels of the past decade. The weekly statement of federal reserve member banks in leading cities revealed a further contraction of $76,000,000 in commercial borrowings, and also a fair gain in security holdings. There was a rather promising expansion in federal reserve credit.

Professionals Fickle.

Stock market professionals shifted position frequently, with a preponderance of sentiment seeming to favor higher prices. Severe bear pressure against the farm implement shares early in the week and against the rails in each session was offset by increasing strength in utilities, the firmness of leading industrials and a bullish demonstration in a few specialty groups, notably the foods.

Railroad earnings for April were poor, as had been expected, but the decline in the Class 1 carriers, either gross or net, was not as large, compared with a year ago, as was the March decrease.

Oil stocks improved under the favorable news of a smaller output of crude petroleum and the satisfactory progress made toward curtailment in the California field. It was generally believed that an advance in prices would soon be announced by companies operating in that territory, while the approach of the summer demand was also taken into account by the oil share group.

The weekly reviews of the iron and steel trade reported virtually no change in conditions, noting another small decline in operations and further price concessions. The growth of the natural gas industry, which seems to be the feature of the news in the utilities, is being accompanied by a rapid expansion in demands for steel pipe and this factor caused considerable optimistic comment. Inquiry for steel from the automobile industry is expected to be maintained at close to present levels into next month.

Disappoints Supporters.

The bond market continues to disappoint its supporters. Although the spread between money rates and the yield from the best liens is about 2 per cent in favor of the latter, the list cannot shake off its dullness. The bank statement indicated improved buying from that important source, but the individual investor refuses to be attracted. Bond men hope for improvement after the German reparations issue is out of the way.

Bank clearings for the country as a whole showed a decline of about 10 per cent over the previous week, with a much larger decrease in New York city. Commodities failed to show a halt in their downward course and the department of agriculture's index of leading produce staples was at the lowest level for May in nine years.

Weakness of the far eastern exchanges was based on the slump in bar silver, which touched several successive new lows.

The $7,000,000 increase in brokers' loans was accounted for by the rise in New York city member bank borrowings for their own account. Loans for out-of-town banks and for the account of others showed a rather sharp decrease.

Jury Is Selected In Deland Trial

DE LAND, Fla., May 30.—(AP)—After more than three days spent in the examination of veniremen, a jury was selected in circuit court here today to try Judy J. Jordan and Jack Jackson, charged with the fatal shooting of George Kuhn, Hollyhill filling station operator, during an attempted holdup last March.

J. F. Fraser, Daytona Beach barber, was the last talesman examined out of four panels of veniremen summoned. The jury immediately was ordered sworn and introduction of state evidence was begun.

Jordan and Jackson were arrested in Jacksonville shortly after the shooting. They attempted to escape from the jail there, but were subdued and returned here where they were indicted.

Kuhn was shot several times when he resisted the alleged holdup men, and died two days later in a Daytona Beach hospital. His son, Andrew, also was wounded, but recovered.

CONVICT KILLED IN PRISON BREAK

LONDON, Ohio, May 30.—(AP)—Guards at the London state prison farm today shot and killed a convict who with 46 other inmates attempted to batter their way to freedom from a cell block. The 47 were among prisoners brought here from the Ohio penitentiary April 28 after the Easter Monday penitentiary fire in which 320 convicts perished.

The prisoner shot was Sam Mazello, of Trumbull county. Bullets pierced his head and heart when he and his mates refused to obey orders of the guards to stop the disturbance.

The shooting came as a climax to 48 hours of unrest within the prison. After the convicts had broken much of the equipment in their cells and began to storm the gates, Superintendent W. F. Amrine gave the order to fire on them. No prison wall surrounds the farm and had the prisoners escaped from the cell block they would have had free access to the outside.

When Mazello fell dead, the other convicts returned to their cells and became quiet. Amrine told them he would stand "no foolishness" and intended that no further disturbances should occur. The county coroner who investigated the shooting gave a verdict of accidental death.

Officials of the prison said Mazello had been a member of Company K at the penitentiary, the "dangerous squad," and that he had been one of the disturbing elements in the unrest at the penitentiary after the fire. He also had been unruly at the prison farm, they said.

Mazello was serving 1 to 15 years on a charge of burglary. He was received in 1925, paroled in 1926, and returned as a parole violator in 1928.

ANTHRACITE MINERS WAR ON SOVIET COAL

POTTSVILLE, Pa., May 30.—(UN)—Producers of anthracite coal have declared war upon the importation of Russian anthracite, maintaining that it is the greatest danger their business now is facing.

Russian anthracite is being imported and sold along the New England seaboard at prices materially below that charged for Pennsylvania anthracite. Although the importation started a year and a half ago in a small way, in February it amounted to over 100,000 tons. The anthracite operators, according to Noah H. Swain, executive director of the Anthracite institute, have been informed that Russia intends to bring this export business up to 5,000,000 tons a year.

"If that much Russian coal is placed upon the American market," according to Swain, "it will wipe out all of the profit that is left in the production of American anthracite and the business will be facing ruin."

Already the anthracite operators have laid the situation before Secretaries Mellon, Davis and Lamont at Washington and believe they have the support of all three in efforts to restrict the imports in some manner. Tariff legislation has been suggested but the fear of retaliation from other countries if a tariff is placed upon coal is causing hesitancy.

At present plans are being made to invoke the anti-dumping clause of the present tariff bill which would stop importation of foreign goods when the purpose is largely that of flooding an American market. The anthracite operators charge that the sole purpose of the export of anthracite to this country is to build up a credit reserve in the United States, irrespective of the question of profit.

An engineer who has worked in the Russian mines and who insisted his name be withheld, told a gathering of newspapermen and coal operators at Hazelton, Pa., that, as the Russians judge their profits, exportation of coal is profitable to them.

They make no charge for capital investment and like items of overhead, he said, and pay a wage scale ranging from 61 cents to $2.04 per day against an American scale of from $9 to $11 per day. On that basis they can produce a ton of coal at the mine for $3.57 against a cost of around $8.25 in this country.

The Russian coal can be shipped from the fields in the Ukraine to Boston for less than $4 per ton, so that it costs from $7 to $7.50 a ton on the New England seaboard.

It costs more to ship a ton of coal from Pennsylvania to Boston than from the Ukraine to Boston and the American product, laid down in the New England market, costs about $12.75 per ton, he said.

"Competition with Russia on that basis can be nothing less than ruinous unless some means of combating it successfully can be found," Swain said.

New England apparently will be the battlefield for the Russo-American coal war. All of the Russian coal thus far imported has been sold there. Localities inland cannot offer profitable fields for the sale of the imported anthracite as rail shipment is required to reach them and thus the same high railroad rates which American operators have to pay, are encountered.

Anthracite men say that the Russian anthracite is of excellent quality and seems to be the only anthracite which can compete successfully with the American product.

"CONTRACTOR" IS HELD FOR CHECK FORGERY

NEW YORK, May 30.—(AP)—Moe Dewey Goldman, 30, describing himself as a wealthy building contractor, was held in $10,000 bail in court today on charge of passing a worthless check for $75 upon the Hotel Windmere last April.

Police said Goldman also was under investigation in connection with several other worthless checks passed upon other hotels and department stores. They said there are two warrants for him on file from Baltimore, Maryland.

BURGESS CHILDREN'S STORIES

CAROL IS CLEVER.

BY THORNTON BURGESS.

'Tis strange, but true, as you'll agree,
The obvious is hard to see.
—Carol the Meadow Lark.

Carol the Meadow Lark is one of the feathered folk who believes that trees are simply to sit in once in a while. He and Mrs. Meadow Lark love the Green Meadows. They want to be out in the open. You'll never find them in the Green Forest. Once in a great while Carol will visit the Old Orchard, but he never stays there long. Once in a while he will visit the Old Pasture. He prefers, however, the Green Meadows.

"It is the safest place," declared Carol to Peter one time.

He is rather a handsome fellow, is Carol the Meadow Lark. His yellow waistcoat trimmed with black is very handsome. And how he does love to sing, especially in the spring. There is no song more springlike than that of Carol the Meadow Lake. Now, loving the Green Meadows as Carol and Mrs. Meadow Lark do, it is natural that they should build their nest there, and this is just what they do. They build it on the ground.

"It is the safest place," declared Carol to Peter Rabbit one time. "Yes, sir, it is the safest place—if only you take care to hide it properly. Nests that are in trees and bushes can be found more easily, because those who are seeking them know just where to look. But just look across the Green Meadows, Peter Rabbit. My nest may be anywhere. How is any one going to even guess where to look for it?"

"By watching you," replied Peter. "By watching you or Mrs. Meadow Lark."

Carol chuckled. "That is what I want people to do," replied Carol. "The more they watch me, the less likely they are to find that nest."

So it was that, unknown to Danny Meadow Mouse, Carol was having a lot of fun leading Danny astray. He knew Danny well enough to know that Danny wouldn't be above stealing some of those eggs if he had a chance. So Carol was too clever to ever go directly to the nest, or ever to fly directly from it. As a matter of fact, the place where Danny saw him drop down into the grass so often was in quite the opposite direction from where the nest was. Carol was simply misleading Danny and having a lot of fun doing it.

"That little scamp thinks he's smart," thought Carol. "Yes, sir, he thinks he's smart. He has been doing a lot of work for nothing. Perhaps it wasn't altogether for nothing, for I suppose he ate a lot of the grass as he cut it. But he won't get any eggs; and he won't find out where my nest is."

Meanwhile Mrs. Meadow Lark was comfortably sitting on five beautiful white eggs spotted with brown. She was very proud of those eggs. As she sat there and listened to Carol singing to her, she was very happy. So far, no one had found that nest. Not once had she had to spring from it in fright. She knew nothing about Danny Meadow Mouse. Carol hadn't told her about him. He didn't want her to worry. Of course, he didn't think there was any cause to worry, but it might make Mrs. Meadow Lark anxious to know that some one was actually looking for her nest. So Carol continued to fool Danny Meadow Mouse, and Danny continued to be fooled.

At last, however, Danny began to suspect that there was something wrong. He was beginning to grow weary of looking for something he couldn't find. He hadn't told Nanny Meadow Mouse about it. He had wanted to find that nest all himself. Then came a morning when on his way back Reddy Fox almost caught Danny. It was just pure good luck that enabled Danny to escape. Then and there he decided that he was no longer interested in the nest of Carol the Meadow Lark. Eggs would be nice, but they were not necessary.

Caraway Brands Lobbyists 'Parasites Upon the Public

Head of Investigating Committee Says Workers Take Advantage of Cupidity.

WASHINGTON, May 30.—(AP)—An assertion that most Washington lobbyists are "simple parasites preying upon the public" was made today by Chairman Caraway, of the senate lobby committee in a review of the accomplishments of the committee's seven months' investigation.

As the life of the committee neared an end, Caraway told newspapermen that the vast majority of the lobbyists are simply taking advantage of the "cupidity or desires of individuals and groups away from Washington."

"They serve no useful purpose" he asserted, adding that if the public has followed the investigation it will refrain from supporting "these utterly disreputable and selfish interests."

Caraway explained, however, that there were groups which were "honestly seeking to bring about helpful legislation or executive action," and he did not intend to reflect upon them.

"All agree," he said, "that every citizen has the right to present his views on any public matter to any branch of the government. To do so is not only a constitutional right but is a right that should be exercised.

"The investigation has given a fairly accurate picture of the leading groups who have infested Washington and sought to influence legislation and executive action for a number of years.

"In most cases it pretty clearly appeared that the chief concern of the lobbyists was to find credulous people and induce them to contribute the funds which were alleged to be accumulated for the purpose of accomplishing ends they professed to seek.

"But in very many instances the contributions found their way into the pockets of the professional lobbyists.

"Of the hundreds of associations and individuals who are domiciled in Washington and who may properly be described as lobbyists the vast majority are simply preying upon the cupidity or desires of individuals and groups away from Washington and whatever money is contributed is pocketed.

"They make no effort to influence legislation or executive action and have no influence to accomplish either. They are simply parasites preying upon the public. They serve no useful purpose.

"However much they may profess, the fact is that most of them have no speaking acquaintance with anyone in the legislative or administrative branches of the government.

Little Rock Man Held In New York Accident

NEW YORK, May 30.—(AP)—Thomas Bradshaw, 45, of Little Rock, Ark., salesman for a St. Louis electrical firm, was held in $500 bail today charged with leaving the scene of an accident.

The patrolman who arrested him early today said he drove for 100 feet, until his car would go no further, after colliding with another automobile.

Malcolm Klein, driver of the other car, suffered a sprained back and Bradshaw a laceration of the head.

Dry Agents Charged With Making 'Mess'

BALTIMORE, May 30—(AP)—Warrants charging four prohibition agents with endangering public health by leaving a "mess" around the Laurel Pleasure Club following a raid there last Monday were issued today by Magistrate Joseph S. O'Donnell on complaint of George Farrington, an official of the city health department.

Farrington said beer and home brew had been poured in the yard of the club property and down storm sewers and beer bottles smashed on the sidewalk and the club roof.

The agents are Harry Jarrett, Basil Quinn, Frank Melwitt and Walter Carroll.

Three Negro Houses Razed by Flames

Three one-story frame negro houses at 51 and 55 Booker street and 994 Lena street were virtually destroyed by fire late Friday night, according to a report at central station. The flames, starting from an overheated stove in the residence of Sadie Jones, quickly spread to adjoining structures occupied by Richard Walton and Tom Hightower.

Billy Arnold, 23-Year-Old Driver, Wins Indianapolis Speed Classic

★ ★ ★ ★ ★ ★ ★ ★ ★ ★ ★ ★ ★

JONES IS FAVORED IN TITLE MATCH TODAY

175,000 SEE BILLY ARNOLD WIN CLASSIC

This Thief Took Right Automobile

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., May 30. (UN)—When Billy Arnold, winner of the 500-mile automobile race at Indianapolis motor speedway, climbed out of his racing car this afternoon, he learned that his private auto had been stolen early today.

"I'd like to find that thief," the winner said. "I'd give him a title to the darn thing."

others. Paul Marshall, Detroit, riding as mechanic for his brother, Cy, was killed instantly when their Duesenberg jumped a wall and plummeted to the ground outside. Cy was taken to the speedway hospital in critical condition.

Eleven cars crashed into retaining walls, injuring several of their drivers. Leo Sykes, mechanic for Frank Farmer, was hurt seriously in one of the wrecks.

The average speed was five miles an hour faster than anyone had expected with the large two-man cars entered this year. It was the second fastest winning time of any race since the classic was started in 1911. DePaolo established the record in 1925.

The lurching speed monsters brought death and injury to their riders and second-hand thrills to the crowd almost as soon as the race started.

Chester Gardner's grip slipped for an instant on the steering wheel of his Buckeye Special 2. Its Duesenberg motor bounced it into a retaining wall at almost 100 miles an hour on the first lap. Neither Gardner nor his mechanic was injured, but the car was wrecked.

The helmeted racers eyed the wreck warily through oil filmed goggles as they attempted to thread around it. But soon after the two Italian entries went to the pits, six of the other cars roared into a pileup of smoking mechanisms and screaming men.

Racing up from behind came the Trexler special of Marion Trexler, the Duesenberg of Babe Stapp, the Coleman of Lou Moore, the Gauss front drive of Johnny Seymour and the Duesenberg of Deacon Litz.

In an instant all six cars had piled up. Officials signaled remaining contestants to hold their places while an ambulances hurried to the scene. All the drivers crawled out uninjured except Seymour, who suffered a broken ankle.

Workmen dragged $50,000 worth of racing cars from the track and the contest went on.

Three more uneventful laps went by. Then Charles Moran, driving the only factory entry in the race, slammed his Dupont stock car into a wall. He was forced out, slightly injured. Ted Everrod, his mechanic, received a broken ankle.

The most serious tragedy of the whole afternoon came next when, in the 44th lap, the Duesenberg of Cy Marshall skidded, hesitated a moment, and then flung itself over a concrete wall. Marshall's brother, Paul who acted as his mechanic, was killed instantly. Cy, one of the few Indianapolis entrants, was hurt so severely that physicians said he probably would die.

Other drivers, meanwhile were forced to send their machines to the pits for repairs.

Louisville Wins Over Clearwater

LOUISVILLE, Ga., May 30.—Louisville continued her winnings here today, taking the game from Clearwater, S. C., 15 to 3.

Watson, Depate, Whaley and Lewis all did a Babe Ruth stunt, pounding Hammond all over the field.

Score:

Louisville	303	023	400	15	20	1
Clearwater	100	002	000	3	6	3

Battery: Lewis and Whaley; Hammond and Volley.

Pitcher Fittery Starts Triple Play

ANNISTON, Ala., May 30.—Georgia-Alabama league fans saw their first triple play in the history of the league here this afternoon in the Anniston-Cedartown game.

Pitcher Fittery was on the starting end of the triple killing. He took a foul bunt, threw to McGhee at first, who in turn pegged the ball to Fuqua in time to catch the man at second to complete the three-way job.

MAWNIN'

By Ed Danforth

Far be it from this sentry stationed at the home end of a trans-Atlantic cable to say a thing that might put the curse on Bobby Jones as he stands over there on the doorstep of the British amateur golf championship.

So instead of admitting that Bobby Jones seems as good as "in," this desk will confess to a feeling of vast relief that Bobby got by those two matches yesterday, especially that nightmare with George Voight (or Voigt), a dangerous golfer if ever there was one.

The home folks probably share that same feeling—as if a sack of wheat had been lifted off the back. The home folks look forward to the final 36-hole match Bobby has with Roger Wethered with a degree of calm.

Whether Bobby wins or loses, he has done a remarkable lot of golf. He has won seven 18-hole matches within five days in the British amateur championship—and won them with 12,000 people hanging to his belt and breathing on his neck, and every opponent keyed to the limit.

OLDHAM HURTS BARONS.

Zipp Newman, in the Birmingham News, calls attention to the ruthless way "Red" Oldham has treated the Barons this year. He says:

"What a nice assortment of sweethearts the Barons have turned out to be for Red Oldham. Last year Oldham couldn't stay in the box long enough against the Dobbsmen for the water to get hot in the clubhouse. This year the Barons drop out when Red Oldham drops in on the mound. Looks like age is telling on the Barons instead of Oldham.

"In 18 innings against the Barons this year the left arm of Red Oldham has held the Dixie champions to ten hits and five runs. And ten hits and five runs in one ball game is nothing to write home about these days. However, when the Barons make as many as five or six runs in a day, it is worth at least a cablegram. Oh, where, oh, where, have the little boys of swat gone, who used to bust 'em for Birmingham? Madam, they have gone to see the occulist.

"Checking over the two games Oldham pitched against the Milans, one discovers that Sturdy got three of the hits, Moore two and Gibson, Bennett, Black, Weis and Hasty one each. And just to think one year ago this group was busting everything Oldham threw up to the plate.

HEAVY WARM-UP PROGRAM.

Pa Stribling is planning for W. L. a rousing warm-up program here before sailing late in June for England to meet Phil Scott. One will be with Frankie Wine in Birmingham June 5.

For the date of June 16 he took an offer of $20,000 to fight Otto Von Porat in Chicago, passing up a lesser purse to fight either Angus Snyder or Paul Swiderski in Wichita, Kan.

The Chicago date will be a great financial opportunity.

On the other hand fighting Swiderski in Wichita would be a dangerous way to spend an evening before sailing for Europe with a big shot in England hanging in the balance.

The Pole is just about the roughest customer in the heavyweight division today. The night before the Derby in Louisville, he nearly ruined Mickey Walker. Four times in the first round he knocked the Toy Bulldog to the canvas and got himself so worked up that he hit Walker below the belt, behind the ear, on the back and after the bell.

It is well the Georgian escaped a date with Swiderski. No fighter in the division is as much improved as that boy. Von Porat is a safer match with the big shot in England just ahead.

CUCKOOS WOULD HAVE DONE NICELY.

Since President Joe Engel bought a dozen canaries as mascots for his ball club, the irreverent grocery-store managers have begun to call the Lookouts the Canary Cowboys.

GOODRICH HITS WALL.

Things are at a state of tension between Ted Goodrich and his manager, L. C. Warren. Ted wants to sign with the Striblings, go to Europe and tour the provinces at home. Warren was not interested in the proposition Pa Stribling offered.

Warren holds an ironclad contract on Goodrich's services and wants to sell out. Lacking what he considers a fair price, he says he intends to let matters stand. Which means that Goodrich is nowhere near a fight.

It will take some time for Goodrich to get in shape and perhaps by that day, he and his manager can reach an amicable settlement on the contract. Warren brought Goodrich out and he feels he deserves something for his early efforts; Goodrich feels he now can go farther with the Striblings. That is the state of affairs in Atlanta's little boxing civil war.

SPEAKER BILL'S ADVENTURE.

Bill Munday, who announces sporting events by radio as few men can, is never happier than when telling a "tale" on himself. His latest adventure in New York is a whiz; get him to tell you. This department cannot reproduce Bill's broadcast of Bill's mishap without killing the yarn.

At any rate Bill charged into the Paramount theater in New York and was taken in an elevator to the tip top of the house, a mile and a half from the stage. Bill got tired of looking far down at the vague objects on the screen, so got up to leave. In vain an usher tried to steer him right, but Bill plunged through double doors that opened outward.

In vain he pounded; none could hear him. He began the perilous descent. When he reached the fourth floor, leg weary and shaky, he saw several policemen eyeing him, evidently waiting for him to make a landing.

So Bill forgot his leg-ache and climbed rapidly back, waiting for the bullets to tap his spine. Reaching the topmost door he managed to get inside by redoubled hammering.

CRACKERS FIGHT HARD BUT LOSE DOUBLE-HEADER

Dobbsmen Nosed Out in Opener, 1-0, and Drop Nightcap, 7-4.

By Ed Danforth.

Two bitterly fought ball games were wrested from the Crackers yesterday at Spiller field by the Chattanooga Lookouts.

Although the Crackers fought brilliantly behind well night perfect pitching in the first of the holiday battles, they could not pass third base and lost, 1 to 0.

Gamely tieing a 4-run lead in the first inning of the last game, they could get no farther along in the six remaining frames and lost, 7 to 4.

It seems the home club is never to beat the Lookouts this year. The henchmen of Emperor Joe Engel have lost plenty of ball games within the past few weeks, but they have beaten the Crackers exactly eight times in eight starts. It is with no joy that another game is scheduled with the Canary Cowboys today; the Crackers are plumb tired of a ball club that makes itself so obnoxious.

BAYNE HOLDS CRACKERS.

Billy Bayne, once upon a time a very ordinary left-handed pitcher with the Crackers, came back after a tour of the majors and way stations to pitch the Crackers cross-eyed in the first one. Bayne has one of the fastest deliveries a left-hander ever showed on Spiller field.

The Crackers could do nothing about it but wave and retire for four innings. Then in the fifth, sixth, seventh and eighth innings they lowered their heads and somehow drove men as far as third base. But third base again was Verdun, the Alamo and Little Big Horn; there the Crackers fell like autumn leaves while Billy Bayne left handed the best batters into bits.

All this time Andy Messenger was pitching superbly. He was matching Bayne's left hand with its mirror image. The Lookouts could get nothing with their bats. In the third Treadaway, once a Cedartown star in the Georgia-Alabama league, tripled and scored immediately on an infield out made by Gooch. That was all. Before nor afterward did the Lookouts look as if they meant to score. They made their one chance good, while the home nine booted four openings.

FAST FIELDING.

The Lookouts were running like antelopes to catch long Cracker flies in the pinches. Wid Matthews robbed Jack Sheehan of a hit in the first inning, but repeated in the seventh with an "impossible" catch off Langford's bat when two men were on base. That one catch you might say saved the game. The crowd gave him a generous salute, by the way.

Bratcher ran up on Billygoat Hill in the fifth to steal a double from Langford, falling down in his effort but clinging to ball. The Lookouts just refused to be licked.

Messenger simply was out on the wrong day. He was removed in the seventh for a pinch hitter and Jack Knight finished in great form; the Lookouts could

Bob and His Foe in Title Round

Bobby Jones and Roger Wethered will meet today for the British amateur title at St. Andrews after battling their way through one of the strongest fields ever to compete in a British tournament. Bobby is shown being congratulated by Wethered after his Walker cup golfers retained the trophy in a match with the British team. Bobby and Wethered are captains of their teams. The trophy is shown in the center.

GEORGIA TEAMS STICK IN MEET

Boys' High and G. M. A. Qualify Men for Final Events.

CHICAGO, May 30.—(Special.)—Georgia remained in the running in six events as the qualifying trials made a sharp cut today in the large field of high school track and field stars competing in the Stagg interscholastic track and field championships.

Boys' High school, of Atlanta, has teams entered in both the half-mile and the mile relays to be contested tomorrow, no trials being held in the events.

The 440-yard run, another of the track events in which no trials were held, will see G. W. Proctor, of Georgia Military academy, of College Park, and Charles Howard, of Boys' High, in action. The race, because of the large number of entries, will be held in three sections, with Proctor and Howard competing in different fields.

In the field events, in all of which qualifying tests were held, two Boys' High athletes won through to the finals. Earl Elliott was one of the qualifiers in the broad jump, clearing by a few inches the 20 feet, 4-inch mark required to escape elimination.

Ed Gattlin, his teammate, qualified for the finals in the javelin throw with a heave of 143 feet 6 inches on his first attempt, a mark ample to meet the qualifying requirement of 140 feet.

Both Gattlin and Elliott failed to meet the 40 feet required to qualify in the 12-pound shot put, and Elliott was short of the 105 feet required in the discus throw.

Trials were held in only four track events, Kelley, of Boys' High, failing to qualify in the 220-yard dash and George Shahbaz, of the same school, not placing in the 220-yard low hurdles.

Petree Wrack Wins Suburban; Sande Up

NEW YORK, May 30.—(AP)—Petee Wrack, with Earl Sande in the saddle, won the $10,000 Suburban handicap at Belmont Park today.

The five-year-old horse, which is owned by John R. Macomber, led Joseph E. Widener's Curate and the Wheatley stable's Distraction to the wire. The heavy track reduced the starting field to six, Jack High, holder of the American mile record, being among those scratched. Petee Wrack paid 9 to 2 and stepped the mile and one-quarter in 2:07 2-5.

JOE KNIGHT LOSES.

WAYCROSS, Ga., May 30.—(AP)—Ernesto Sauges, Chilean boxer, defeated Joe Knight, of Cairo, in a 10-round main bout here tonight.

Dixie League Faster, Says Admiral Engel

By Ralph McGill.

Suffering at every pore, Admiral Joe Engel took over two ex-Crackers Friday afternoon just before his staggering Lookouts settled down enough to take two games from the punch-drunk Crackers.

"What a game," he chattered as the first game dragged its 1-to-0 way to the last inning with Joe's club in front. "What a game.

"I've just taken Frank Walker, one of Johnny Dobbs' former outfielders, and I also took on Lee Meadows, the bespectacled right-hander he released just before the game.

"I think Atlanta has got a good ball club and I'm not joking. I'm willing to take some of their castoffs because I think they will help me.

"Don't try to tell me there are just two good ball clubs and six last place teams in the race. Memphis and New Orleans are out there because they got some breaks and the others didn't. I've got a blame good ball club. So has Atlanta.

"The thing that has got us all fooled is the class of this league. Johnny Dobbs and I have been talking about it. The league is faster than ever this year. Why this Atlanta club would have been one, two or three last season. Just wait. There will be a lot of changes. Some of us down here in the cellar are going to leap right out one of these days."

MORE HELP.

Heaving a tremendous sigh, Admiral Joe watched his club win at last by the one run. "I like ball games in which my team scores 12 runs the first inning and increases the lead each inning."

Not only has Admiral Engel taken two Cracker castoffs, hung canaries in his grandstand, put goldfish in his office and organized a girls' team but he has issued a call for help that is getting results.

"I thought about how Abraham Lincoln issued a call for volunteers and so I says to myself that I am no less than Lincoln so I squawked louder than ever for help.

TWO PITCHERS.

"I got Ray Sanders, who started out with Louisville and was later released. Then I bought Don Miller from Jersey City. They will be here Sunday. They tell me Tech used to have a backfield coach named Don Miller. I don't care, I'll try any man who says he can pitch and these two hired out as pitchers.

"I'll use Frank Walker and and Lee Meadows. Meadows didn't win many for the Crackers but I think he will help me. Let me tell you that the boys who had a lot of luck with their new material and got the breaks are the boys who have been lucky.

"This league fooled us all. It is so much faster than anyone figured it would be that six good ball clubs are limping around unable to get going because they are cutting each other's throats.

FAST COMPETITION.

"There's isn't any use asking what's the matter with various clubs—the league just has faster competition. There will be a lot of surprises because I am not convinced that Memphis or New Orleans will be up there for very long. There aren't many games between the top

Friday's Changes In Cracker Club

Further adjustments were made at the Cracker baseball headquarters Friday afternoon with a view to clearing out all dubious players and getting the new lineup settled. The moves made were:

Waivers were asked on Ivy Wingo, catcher.

Bill Barrett, suspended catcher, was put on the active list and played well in the Friday contests.

Hugh Starling, University of Alabama pitcher, was put on the active list.

STRIB-VON PORAT SET FOR CHICAGO

W. L. (Young) Stribling was a visitor in Atlanta Friday afternoon and witnessed the Cracker-Lookout double header at Spiller field. Stribling earlier in the day took a physical examination at Candler field in order to retain his transportation pilot's license.

He stated that he had a confirmation from his father-manager that the proposed fight between Stribling and Otto Von Porat had been definitely scheduled for June 16 in Chicago. He was ordered by his father to begin training at once for the Chicago fight. He will meet Frankie Wine June 5 in Birmingham, Ala., as part of the program.

Stribling will receive a guarantee of $20,000 for his Chicago fight.

He will sail June 28 for England, where he will fight Phil Scott a month later.

Stribling rode from Macon to Atlanta on a motorcycle and left late Friday afternoon. It was his first visit to Atlanta in several weeks. He has been spending much of his time lately at the Macon airport, where he is building up his required number of flying hours.

VOIGT FALTERS WITH VICTORY ALMOST 'IN BAG'

By Bernard Darwin.

British Golf Expert.

ST. ANDREWS, Scotland, May 30. Bobby Jones has nearly got his heart's desire now. He has reached the final of the British amateur golf championship in which he will meet Roger Wethered, the stoutest hearted match player we have to put against him.

While Bobby has reached the honor of the final, he came desperately, horribly near being shipwrecked within sight of it. George Voigt had, humanly speaking, "got him." George was 2 up with 5 to play and I don't think now Bobby had enough kick left in him to wrest the necessary holes from his opponent.

VOIGT FALTERS.

So if Bobby were going to win he had to be helped. He could take the match only if it were handed to him, and this, to the unbounded surprise of everybody, was what Voigt did. On the very threshold of victory, George faltered and faltered badly.

Bobby took heart and also what the gods of golf gave him, just scrambling home in front. But a scramble it was. I don't think I ever saw a closer run match.

The morning was comparatively dull. Jones, after one mistake at the first hole, was his most brilliant self against Eris Fiddian, a boy of 20 with a golfing future. Jones just kept on playing par golf until he won by 4 and 3 and that was that.

A BAD START.

George Voigt played William Sutton, an artisan golfer from Cheshire, who was the English champion last year. The American began by taking three putts on each of the first two greens. I wondered if he had ever done that before. At any rate, he quickly put away childish things and, playing beautifully, he went ahead step by step until he won, 5 and 4.

And now for the great semi-final between the two Americans. It was full of good golf and full of excitement, but somehow not quite what we anticipated.

Instead of two precise machines following one another, shot for shot, we saw two eminently human men, each palpably frightened by his enemy and each giving ordinary proofs of ordinary human frailty.

BOB'S PUTTING OFF.

If Bobby had lost—and never was a champion nearer losing—it would have been his putting that did it. His golf up to the greens was as good as ever, but he could not hole the doubtful little ones.

He must have missed a half dozen putts, six feet and less. No one of them was unpardonable, but their cumulative effect was devastating. Some of them were for halves, but most of them were for wins. As well as Voigt played, Jones nearly always had the last chance, but could not take it.

The most elementary piece of golfing psychology is that when you have a number of chances and do not take them, the time will come when your enemy in turn will get his chance and take it. Voigt did get his chance and did take it and then threw it away again with both hands.

DRAMATIC START.

The match had a dramatic start in a half at the third hole, Voigt holing from 15 feet and Jones from 10. Voigt bunkered and lost the second. He should have squared at the fourth, but took three putts. Bobby was still one up, but putted very weakly at the fifth hole and lost his advantage.

Voigt played the sixth badly and again Jones became one up, only to throw it away at the seventh by a really dreadful putt. The next three holes were halved, but Bobby might well have won two of them if he could have clinched things on the green. Clearly this could not go on and it did not.

Voight, having the honor, played a beauty to the short 11th, the sort of shot that makes your enemy feel that the best he can look for is a half. But Bobby was too bold. He overran and lost, 4 to 3.

VOIGT IS ONE UP.

George was one up for the first time and it looked as if he would hang on like grim death.

Another half followed and then a very scratchy, scrambling five by Bobby and a five-foot putt holed by Voigt with the utmost confidence.

"Bobby's beaten!"

You could hear it all about you in the crowd and he looked beaten. Voigt had only to keep steady, a thing which is difficult for most of us but seemed simple for him.

TIDE TURNS.

With a sudden rush the tide turned

Ehmke Is Slated To Leave Majors

PHILADELPHIA, May 30.—(AP)—Howard Ehmke, veteran right-hander of the Athletics, who fanned 13 Chicago Cubs in the first world series game last fall, apparently is on his way out of the majors.

Manager Connie Mack announced tonight that the big pitcher would be given his unconditional release as soon as the necessary waivers are received from all the major league clubs.

"I think his arm is gone," Mack said. "Under the rules, if any club should claim him. I would have to notify them of this fact. I am sorry to have to let Ehmke go, because he is a fine character, but I have to make room for an extra man who will be of more use to us."

Robins Beat Phillies Twice To Take Command in National League

MACKS REDUCE SENATORS' LEAD TO SINGLE GAME

A's Win Pair To Gain Ground—Cards Slip as Dodgers Go Ahead.

Brooklyn gained undisputed leadership of the National league Friday by winning a Memorial Day double-header from the Phillies, while the Chicago Cubs dragged the St. Louis Cardinals into second place with a double defeat.

By beating the Phillies, 11-1 and 11-9, the Robins went two full games ahead of the Cardinals who lost twice to the Cubs, 2-0 and 9-8, the last game going 10 innings. The first victory was a costly one for the Cubs as Rogers Hornsby broke his ankle sliding into third base, and will be out of the game for at least six weeks.

GIANTS BOW TWICE.

The Boston Braves handed the New York Giants two heart-breaking defeats, both times 6-5, scoring the winning run in the ninth inning of each game.

Wally Berger's 12th home run of the season with two men on in the second game, tied the score in the eighth inning and Maguire's double in the ninth won the game. Sisler's single in the ninth drove in the tying and winning runs in the first game.

Athletics Cut Nats Lead to 1 Game.

Philadelphia's Athletics won a double-header from Washington Friday, and reduced the Senators' lead in the American league to one game. Eric McNair, A's rookie shortstop, singled in the 13th inning to give Philadelphia a 7 to 6 victory in the first game. Al Simmons' home run with the bases filled featured the A's 15 to 11 victory in the second game. Jimmy Foxx made six hits in seven times at bat in the first game.

YANKS ADVANCE.

The New York Yankees advanced to third place by taking a double-header from the Boston Red Sox, 6 to 5 and 7 to 3. Bill Dickey's double scored Babe Ruth with the winning run in the ninth inning of the first game. Ruth hit his 15th home run of the season off Lisenbee in the first game.

Detroit won from Cleveland twice, 5-2 and 6-9, the double defeat dropping the Indians to fourth place.

Three runs in the 10th enabled the Chicago White Sox to beat the St. Louis Browns, 7 to 4, in the first game. St. Louis won the second game, 4 to 3.

NEW EAST LAKE COURSE TO OPEN

East Lake Country Club members will start play for the first time at 12:30 o'clock today on the new sporty 18-hole golf course. Bridges, Smith, Papenheimer and Perkins have reserved the 12:30 starting time and will compose the first foursome over the new layout.

At an early hour, Friday night 20 foursomes had applied for starting times and George Bell, manager of the Country club, stated that more than 100 golfers will try out the new course during the day.

Meanwhile other club members, who know every nook and cogner of the old course, will participate in a ball sweepstakes tournament and take no chances on the new layout today.

Par on the new course is 71 and it is said by many golf experts to be one of the hardest 18-hole layouts in the city. It is well trapped and bunkered and the fairways are varied, with some narrow and some wide open.

The new course has been under construction for more than a year and careful planning and nursing has made it come out fast in the past two weeks. There is a heavy growth of Bermuda grass on each of the greens and they will be the first summer greens in the city to be opened for summer play.

There will be no formal "opening" of the course today and every member of the East Lake Country Club is invited to play on the new course.

Plans for the opening will be deferred until Bobby Jones, national open champion, returns home from his invasion of England, in quest of the British amateur and open titles.

It is a coincidence that the new East Lake course will be opened about the time that Bobby Jones will be completing his championship match with Roger Wethered in England.

It was on the East Lake course that Bobby Jones first learned to play golf and on which he has practiced for many of his major tournaments.

Few Tourneys Slated Today.

With practically all golfing interests in the city centered on Bobby Jones and the British amateur clash today, only one or two regular weekly tournaments will be played this afternoon. East Lake golfers will participate in a ball sweepstakes tournament. Ansley Park golfers will play semi-finals rounds in the Golfers' Magazine tournament.

Capital City golfers will play the finals in several flights of the annual governing board trophy tournament and the nine-hole course members will be getting ready for the opening Sunday of the North Georgia Golf league schedules.

RECORDS FALL BEFORE STARS AT CAMBRIDGE

Three Marks Are Set, One Equalled in I.A.A.A.A Events.

By Frank Murphy.
United News Correspondent.

HARVARD STADIUM, Cambridge, Mass., May 30.—(UN)—Two intercollegiate records were broken and a third was equalled in trials of the I. C. 4-A track and field games here today. All the record performances were made by Pacific coast athletes.

Harlow P. Rothert, of Stanford University, shattered his own shot put mark of 50 feet 3 inches, set at Philadelphia last year, with a throw of 52 feet 1-4 inch.

Kenneth M. Churchill, of University of California, threw the javelin 207 feet 8 1-2 inches, bettering the old record of Creth B. Hines, of Georgetown, by more than 2 feet. Hines' mark, set at Philadelphia in 1927, was 205 feet 7 5-8 inches.

CARDS QUALIFY.

Southern California, favored to win the championship, and its most dangerous rival, Stanford, qualified 10 men each for the finals tomorrow. Cornell was next with four qualifiers, leading the easterners.

Seven colleges succeeded in getting three men into the finals. They were Yale, Syracuse, Pennsylvania, New York University, Michigan, Harvard and Colgate.

Union, Michigan State, Holy Cross, Dartmouth and California each qualified two representatives.

TRIAL EVENTS.

Trials today were confined to 11 of the 15 events. None was needed for the high jump, pole vault, mile and two-mile runs. In addition, only heats were run in the low hurdles and the 220-yard dash. Semi-finals of these two events will be held tomorrow.

Rothert's record-breaking shot put furnished the first thrill for some 5,000 spectators. It came as a distinct surprise on his second attempt.

A minute later, his team-mate, Eric Krenz, likewise bettered the old record with a put of 50 feet, 6 1-4 inches.

In placing first among the discus qualifiers, Krenz surpassed his own existing intercollegiate record of 154 feet 11 inches with a throw of 163 feet 11 inches. The record, however, was disallowed because of a favoring wind.

WYKOFF IS BEST.

Frank Wykoff, of Southern California, and Eddie Tolan, of Michigan, world record holder, did not meet in either heats or semi-finals of the 100-yard dash. Wykoff turned in the better time. Tolan's competition was not pressing but the bespectacled negro flier did 9-8-10 in his semi-final heat.

Hector M. Dyer, Stanford sprinter, was a popular competitor. Although penalized a yard for a false start, he finished second to Wykoff in a century semi-final.

Sol. Furth, of New York University, came within 5 1-8 inches of the intercollegiate broad jump by leaping 24 feet 7 inches.

Charles H. Engle, of Yale, and Victor E. Williams, of Southern California, finished their heats of the 400-yard run in 48 9-10 seconds.

George Bullwinkle, of City College of New York, finished more than 10 yards in front of the field in doing an 800-yard heat in 1 minute 54 7-10 seconds.

LINDALE WINS ANOTHER.

LINDALE, Ga., May 30.—Six errors, combined with 14 hits by the Pepperells, proved too much for Huntsville Friday and Lindale won, 18-6. Anderson started on the mound for Lindale and was nicked for six runs and seven hits in one and a fraction innings. Baker took up the burden and shut the Springers out for the rest of the game and gave up only three hits. Amadee and Collier were both hammered by Pepperells.

CHARLOTTE, N. C., May 30.—Charlotte took the lead in the series with Columbia by capturing today's holiday bill, annexing the first scrap, 11 to 10, in 12 innings, the second 5 to 1.

The first game was a thriller. The Hornets tied the score in the ninth with two rallies and it stayed tied until the twelfth, when the visitors scored twice only to have the home club come up in their half of the frame with three, to win.

Petty's fine pitching was the feature of the second game. He gave the Comers but four hits.

ANKLE BROKEN, HORNSBY LOST FOR 6 WEEKS

Staggering Blow May Cost Cubs Second Straight Title.

By Paul Mickelson.
Associated Press Sports Writer.

CHICAGO, May 30.—(AP)—Pennant aspirations of the championship Chicago Cubs, already lowered by the sudden death of Pitcher Hal Carlson and a hospital casualty list, were given another staggering blow today when Rogers Hornsby, one of the greatest natural hitters in the game, fractured his left ankle.

The injury, which occurred as the famous "Rajah" tried to slide into third base during the morning game of the St. Louis Cardinal-Cub Memorial Day double-header, will force Hornsby out of the game at least six weeks. The break may cost the Cubs their second successive championship in the National league, hopes for which have rested largely on Hornsby and his big bat and smart field generalship.

Carrying on despite his painful right heel, which had bothered him all spring, Hornsby looked more like his old self today than at any time this season. He covered his position at second base remarkably well and rapped out a single and double that were the big blows in the Cubs' 2-to-0 victory. Subsequently, it was after his double in the third inning that the injury jinx overtook the "Rajah."

Noticing that Gesatti, Card right-fielder, had made a wild throw after catching Kiki Cuyler's fly, Hornsby made a dash for third base. "Sparky" Adams, St. Louis third baseman, retrieved the wild throw quickly and Hornsby was caught 10 feet from the base. Instead of reversing his dash and going back to second, he attempted to slide, favoring his sore right foot and twisting about so his left pointed toward the bag. In doing so, the leg crashed against Pitcher Sylvester Johnson, covering the bag, and was fractured.

The injury was described by the Cub physician as a transverse fracture of the external malleolus of the left fibula. The fibula is the smaller of the two bones of the leg below the knee and binding the ankle.

CUBS HARD HIT.

The accident to the star, purchased for almost $400,000 in cash and players from the Boston Braves in the winter season of 1928-29, was a sad blow to the Cubs but Hornsby himself appeared most affected.

"Just when I was favoring my right foot, I fracture my left ankle," he said sorrowfully. 'This season has been a tough one for the Cubs in so far as accidents and to me especially. I had high hopes of going through my major league career without such an accident as this and now it happens in my sixteenth season. It's tough enough on a fellow anyway when he gets older as his legs aren't what they used to be."

After an X-ray picture was taken, showing the break, Hornsby was sent to bed. He probably will recuperate on his farm on the outskirts of St. Louis. During his recuperation, physicians, thoroughly perplexed by his sore right heel which was caused by a spur-like growth, will be able to give that ailment a thorough examination and probably effect a recovery.

Clarence Blair, Cub rookie, probably will replace Hornsby at second although Manager Joe McCarthy may switch his infield about with Clyde Beck at second and Blair at third until Lester Bell, another Cub invalid, recovers from his sore salary wing.

The Rajah, however, will hobble on crutches out onto the field tomorrow to receive the 1929 "most valuable player" award from President Heydler of the National league.

Schmeling Takes Hard Day's Work

ENDICOTT, N. Y., May 30.—(AP)—Max Schmeling, German heavyweight, played a prominent part today in Memorial Day services at the monument of 147 Endicott workers who died fighting his fatherland in the World War. Schmeling placed a wreath on the monument during the exercises.

The baron was among the 1,500 spectators who saw Schmeling batter his sparring partners in the afternoon workout. He gave Lou Barba a bad beating for two rounds, let George Neron off easily in two more and then hammered Larry Bello so badly that the Brooklyn heavyweight retired with two teeth knocked out in the second round.

CHICKS, BEARS, SPLIT GAMES.

MEMPHIS, Tenn., May 30.—Mobile and Memphis divided a Decoration Day double-header here today. Mobile won the first game, 6 to 3, by timely hitting and Memphis took the second, 4 to 3, by the same method. The second game was Shepherd's fifth win of the season. Hutcheson, Chick outfielder, drove out a home run in the second game.

M. G. A. Handicaps Over 3,000 Players

The Metropolitan Golf Association has 3,476 handicapped players on its early session list recently announced. Supplementary lists will appear later until probably 5,000 to 7,000 or even more names will be listed. This year's handicaps are accompanied by an honor roll which names George Voigt, of North Hills, as scratch, and Jesse W. Sweetser and Maurice McCarthy, Jr., as the only players holding down the post of one stroke handicap. Voigt is in England as a member of the United States Walker cup team.

Gallant Fox, Ned O Grew Up Together

Gallant Fox and Ned O were playmates at Paris, Ky., both owned by William Woodward. They were in the same stable until Woodward took them to Belair in 1928. Then he sold Ned O at Saratoga and Buck Foreman got him for $2,000.

The three-years-olds became rivals this year, one owned by a rich banker, the other by a poor track man. Foreman traveled to the Derby in the same car with Ned O, Woodward in one of the finest private cars on rails.

Foreman has made money with Ned O but the winnings do not compare with the winnings of Woodward with Gallant Fox.

House Tossing Title Is Won by Johnson

WASHINGTON, May 30.—(AP)—Coming from behind Representative Fred G. Johnson, of Nebraska, won the horseshoe tossing championship of the house of representatives today from Representative Albert Vestal, of Indiana, 21 to 20.

At one time Johnson was more than 10 points behind but a succession of ringers brought him victory.

GEORGIA, BRAGG POLOISTS MEET IN CONSOLATION

Title Clash at Fort McPherson Is Set for 3:30.

By Roy White.

University of Georgia and Fort Bragg polo teams will fight it out at 3:30 o'clock this afternoon at Fort McPherson for the consolation championship of the Fourth Corps Area polo tournament.

Georgia lost last Monday afternoon to the 118th Field Artillery from Savannah and won its way back into the consolation tournament with a brilliant 4-to-3 victory over the 141st Field Artillery and 108th Calvary from New Orleans Wednesday afternoon.

Fort Bragg lost to Fort Benning Sunday afternoon, due to a large handicap given the Benning officers, but fought back into play with a victory Wednesday over Fort McPherson.

Fort Bragg is rated one of the best polo teams in the south despite their defeat Sunday afternoon. In Captain Peter Rhodes they have an excellent player and horse rider as well. He is a six-goal handicap man, the largest of any southern polo player.

BRAGG STARS.

Lieutenant Jacoby and Captain Fleming are good polo players on the Bragg team and their work in ramming the ball through the goal posts spelled defeat for Fort McPherson Wednesday. Fleming scored eight goals, due mainly to the brilliant passwork and setups by Captan Rhodes and Jacoby.

University of Georgia will pin its hopes of victory on the excellent riding and driving of Noble Jones. He is one of the best players in the National Guard and R. O. T. C. units in the state. Bell, McIntyre and Palmour will be his assistants.

In its Wednesday game University of Georgia played brilliantly in the fourth chukker, when four goals were scored in rapid succession, and during the remaining two periods they played safe defensive polo.

GEORGIA GETS LEAD.

Fort Bragg will give the Athens boys a 7 or 8 handicap today, and with that lead the Red and Black team should put up a great fight. Fort Bragg will rely on the driving of Captain Fleming and the riding of Captain Rhodes to win back that handicap and Georgia will strive to play a consistent defensive game to hold the handicap lead.

Another championship game is scheduled for 3:30 o'clock Sunday afternoon, when the Governor's Horse Guard and Fort Benning meet for the Georgia polo championship. The Horse Guard defeated the 118th Field Artillery from Savannah Thursday afternoon for the National Guard and R. O. T. C. championship, and Fort Benning defeated the Sixth Calvary from Fort Oglethorpe for the regular army championship Thursday afternoon.

Haustein Captures Bridgeville Classic

BRIDGEVILLE, Pa., May 30.—(AP)—Gene Haustein, Detroit, won the 100-mile A. A. A. race here today. F. Blanchi, Pittsburgh, was a close second with the rest of the field far in the rear. Haustein's time was one hour, 29 minutes, 40 seconds. Blanchi was 32 seconds behind.

Hale-Bethany Game Today's Feature in Church League

DIXIE SERIES ALSO OFFERS GOOD PROGRAM

Fights for League Leadership Enlivens Interest in Amateur Contests.

Hale Class will attempt to dislodge Bethany Methodist from their lofty perch at the top of the Sewanee league at Almand Park in what should be one of the best games in the Y-Church leagues. Manager Parks of the West End team will pin his hopes on Julian Still, the record holder in strikeouts among the twirlers of the Sewanee loop, to turn the trick.

"Shorty" Doyal's Kirkwood Methodist team will try to smear defent over the perfect record of the North Atlanta Baptist team on the Waterworks diamond in what should be the best of the Dixie league series. Gordon Street Presbyterian, the only undefeated Fulton loop club, should be able to extend their string of victories as they meet the Central Presbyterian club who are half owners of the cellar.

Mountain View Baptist must invade the home diamond—Whittier Mills—for a twin-bill with the Lowrytown Baptist team and a double victory for the homelings will give them the top berth. Cowart—strikeout king of the loop will occupy the pit for the homelings in the opener and may do the iron man stunt.

Inman Park Baptist meets the College Park Baptist on their home ground and victory will bring the league lead as only a half now separates these teams. This series promises to be the best of the many good ones already played and the outcome of all the games will be closely watched as shift in the standings are certain to be made. As usual all games will start at 3 p. m.

FOX TO MEET DAVISCOURT

Promoter Weber's complete card for the Tuesday night opening at the ball park was announced Friday night and stands as one of the greatest cards ever brought here. Weber made a special effort for his first outdoor show of the season.

After much wiring Charley Fox was signed as an opponent for "Rough Richard" Dick Daviscourt, the villain of the ring.

Like as not the match will find Daviscourt in the favorite's position. Not that the fans like him more but they detest Fox more.

Fox, "the hard-boiled egg," has made himself more hated even than was Dick Daviscourt. There is expected to be all sorts of legalized murder committed in the ring when they meet Tuesday.

In the semi-windup Jim McMillen, the sensational ex-football star who once played with Red Grange at Illinois, will meet Rocco, Italian championship claimant, from New York.

The matches will go on Tuesday night at the ball park. Weber has arranged to have it well lighted, new lights having been put in. Comfortable ringside seats will be provided.

The SPORTLIGHT by Grantland Rice

MENTAL AND PHYSICAL SIDES.

As Bobby Jones finished his 19-hole match against Cyril Tolley he made this remark—"I feel six years older."

The punishment one takes in golf is almost entirely on the mental side and it is possible to suffer much more on the mental side than it is on the physical. A football player may suffer mental pain but this is soon knocked out of him in physical contact. But there is nothing harder to face than mental suffering where raw nerves are exposed and where tension can't be relieved by action. The faster and rougher the action, the less likelihood there is that tension can live.

It is quite possible for a competitor to feel greater weariness after a hard golf match than after a hard football game or a hard fight. And all because mental weariness and nerve exhaustion carry further than physical weariness. There is a necessity for constant and unbroken concentration in a hard golf match and this becomes more and more a burden as the week's play moves along.

There are times when the effort becomes mental torture. By Friday or Saturday morning I have seen young stars in fine physical condition who were unable to retain even a glass of orange juice when rebelling nerves were at war with the human system.

Walter Hagen probably appreciated this more than anyone else when he made up his mind years ago to take the game as it broke for him, to know in advance that he would make a certain number of mistakes each round and to take them for granted as they happened along the route—all parts of the game to be expected and to be taken for granted. Hagen could finish a hard day of golf with his nerves less affected than any golfer I ever saw—unless it was old John Ball. And that makes a tremendous difference in a game where pressure on the nervous system is so heavy and continuous.

THE DAZZLER RETURNS.

Dazzy Vance ran into his best baseball years back in 1924 when he won 28 games, lost only six, and struck out 262 men.

The Dazzler is back again with all his ancient stuff intact and he believes 1930 will be close to his best year. He doesn't expect to sit any 262 batters in the phantom swing, but he expects to win more than 25 ball games and that will be something to talk about for a veteran in his 38th year.

Vance has lost but little of his early speed. Probably the four fastest pitchers were Johnson, Wood, Vance and Grove. Johnson and Smoky Joe were streaks of raw lightning, but Vance is almost as fast and he has always had a fast curve that was hard to time.

He is now on his way to 1,500 strike outs and he is sure to reach that mark this season, with over 1,400 already packed away.

Vance is now the last of the old-time stars in the box, with Alexander only working occasionally.

SPORT THAT IS SPORT.

You read where Sid Roper, a London milk wagon driver, got down from his cart to give Bobby Jones the battle of his life.

Later you read where Fowlis, a St. Andrews postman, took a few days off and went to the fourth round. In another dispatch a veteran gardener gave someone a warm battle. These men were not just hitting a golf ball around. They were playing in a championship and playing extremely well. And the jobs they held down were all day or all night and all week jobs. It is along this line that you find the 100 per cent true amateur and sport that is all sport.

ANOTHER 16-LETTER STAR.

Dear Mr. Rice: A few days ago in "The Sportlight" I read with interest your paragraph headed "A 16 Letter Man."

I wonder if you have ever heard of Cy Young, the greatest athlete who ever attended Washington and Lee University? Cy Young was also a 16 letter man, winning his letter four years in succession in football, basketball, baseball and track. That he was a star in all four sports is attested by the fact that he was also captain of all four teams.

"He held the all-south Atlantic sprint record of nine and four-fifths in the 100-yard dash. He was also south Atlantic half back for three years in football. In baseball he played center field and was so fast that sometimes the right and leftfielders used to come in to the infield for the third out. Cy could cover the entire outfield.

"This is not legend, because the story is not that old. He attended Washington and Lee from 1912 to 1916. At that time the South Atlantic association was composed of Georgetown, Maryland, Washington and Lee, V. P. I., Virginia, V. M. I. and North Carolina State.

Young was from Charleston, W. Va., and attended the University of Michigan the first three months of his college career. At home he had been a star and much sought after in high school days. At Michigan he was just another freshman. Feeling that he was not appreciated, Cy came back to attend a university nearer his home. Michigan's loss was Washington and Lee's gain, but I doubt if Michigan ever knew anything about it. VIRGINIAN."

"Just why," asks L. P. H., "should Stanford and Southern California travel 3,500 miles to find which university has the best track and field team in the United States, world or what places have you?"

ABOUT ANY FIGHTER.

He may fight like a star, or fight like a tramp,
But you can't tell which from a training camp.

As we understand the situation today both Sharkey and Schmeling are confident of winning. These few words would be expanded into a column or more if each admitted he was not confident and expected to lose. That would be worth a headline.

VOIGT BEATEN IN SEMI-FINAL BY BOBBY, 1 UP

and Voigt went out of bounds though he had the whole parish to drive into, and that meant besides the loss in distance a penalty of one stroke, and Voigt was down to one up.

At the 15th Voigt had a six-foot putt and Bobby a four-foot. Voigt missed and the crowd gasped. Bobby missed after him and the crowd groaned. It was a stand off, but Voigt did not profit by it, for he put his next drive into a bunker and Bobby never gave him the ghost of a chance to recover. The match was all square now.

The next hole was greatly played by both. Two good shots to right strategic positions at the foot of the hill and Bobby played the odd. It was a good one but not supremely good, being 10 feet short. Voigt played as great a shot as he ever will play—stone dead at the side of the hole.

THAT GREAT PUTT.

Death now stared Bobby in the eyes. If he missed that putt, George Voigt would be dormy one and would never let him slip ahead again and the British championship was as good as gone. Bobby holed it—all honor to him.

I could not see the hole for the crowd, but Bobby's attitude was eloquent.

At the last hole Voigt was short in the fatal "Valley of Sin" and Bobby played a superb pitch within eight feet of the hole. Voigt ran up six feet short. Bobby's ball went straight for the hole. His hand went out to pick it out of the cup, but it stopped suspended on the very last blade of grass.

A GREAT MATCH.

Then Voigt missed for a half, rather a sad anti-climax, but what a match it had been between these two great golfers!

Bobby's score was 75 and it is the highest testimony to him that we think it a bad showing for him. Heaven knows what his score would have been with better putting.

Now Bobby meets Roger Wethered, who has been playing in and out golf with amazing courage and some brilliant streaks. Bobby will start off on his favorite long trail of 36 holes and should win, but there is this to be said, that Wethered at St. Andrews is far better than Wethered anywhere else. He has more room and less rough there and can drive. When he can drive there is very little wrong with the rest of his game.

Wethered ought to give Bobby a match, but I think I know who will win.

Bob Given Edge Over Foe Today.

BY L. S. CAMERON.

NEW YORK, May 30.—(UN)—A theoretical great American golf fan parked his spiked shoes on his brick fireplace this chilly Memorial Day evening and came to a momentous decision. That was that Bobby Jones is going to win the British amateur by beating Roger Wethered in their 36-hole final match tomorrow.

It was a difficult decision and reached only after some hours of study of the week's events in St. Andrews.

BOB BEST GOLFER.

The first thing that was decided is that Bobby Jones is the better golfer, generally speaking. A second is that Bobby had to beat tougher foemen to gain the final than was the case with Wethered.

The very fact that Jones had to play stouter adversaries may militate against his cause in the finale. If, as the cables say, Jones appeared tired this afternoon, one suspects that Wethered is tired, too. Well he might be, having met seven foes in five days. Jones met seven in the same space.

Jones' wins in order were: S. Roper, 3 and 2; Cowan Shankland, 5 and 3; Cyril Tolley, 1 up, 19 holes; G. O. Watt, 7 and 6; Jimmy Johnston, 1 up; E. W. Fiddian, 4 and 3; George Voigt, 1 up.

Wethered's wins were against R. D. Mathieson, 5 and 3; D. A. Fiddian, 7 and 5; H. V. Brower, 5 and 3; R. A. Oppenheimer, 1 up; Gordon Simpson, 1 up, 21 holes; H. R. Howell, 4 and 3; W. L. Hartley, 1 up, 19 holes.

EXTRA-HOLE MATCHES.

Thus Jones was forced to extra holes once, and Wethered twice. Jones had the easiest win in his 7-and-6 victory over Watt.

Jones represents the upper half of the bracket, and Wethered the lower. One might easily believe Jones' group was the more formidable, containing, as it did, Voigt, Sutton, Torrance, Tolley, Johnston. There were real stars in Wethered's half, too: Moe, Willing, Red Hartley, Ouimet, Mackenzie, Von Elm, Hezlet, Oppenheimer.

Here is a table for all holes Jones and Wethered played today, indicating total number of holes played, birdies, pars, one-over pars and two-over pars:

Jones	33	5	22	6	0
Wethered	32	7	17	7	1

Wethered's poorest nine was his incoming stretch this afternoon, in which he had no birdies, five pars, two one-overs and one two-over. Jones' poorest also was his incoming afternoon nine, in which he had two birdies, four pars and three one-overs.

The most uniform nine of the day was made by Wethered who, in his morning outward nine had three birdies, three pars and three one-overs. His card for that stretch was also uniform in its sequence: 555-444-333, giving him a par 36, the three birdies offsetting the three over holes, and the pars taking care of themselves. They usually do.

NINE PARS IN ROW.

Jones had nine consecutive pars in his last nine holes played in the morning with Fiddian. Jones also had the best medal of a completed nine, getting a 35 in the morning going out. Wethered was out in 36 twice today, while Jones was out once in 37, giving them equal averages.

Had Jones and Wethered played each other this afternoon, and had they made the same needed scores, Jones would have won by 2 and 1. Wethered would have been 1 up at the turn, with Jones squaring the match on the 13th, going 1 up at the 14th, halving the 15th and 16th and winning the 17th, to be 2 up with 1 to play.

YANKS POOR.

Trading Cedric Durst to the Red Sox left the Yankees with only four experienced outfielders, Combs, Ruth, Byrd and Cooke.

THREE U. S. NET STARS ADVANCE TO SEMI-FINALS

Tilden and Two Helens Sweep on at Auteuil.

AUTEUIL, France, May 30.—(UN)—William T. Tilden II, of Philadelphia, gained the semi-final round of the French hard court tennis championships today by defeating G. Lyttleton Rogers, Irish Davis cup player, in three sets, 6-1, 6-1, 7-5. Tilden will meet Jean Borotra, of France, in the semi-finals tomorrow.

Two of the three remaining American entries in the women's singles won their matches today, Mrs. Helen Wills Moody, defending champion, eliminating Fraulein Rost, of Germany, 6-1, 6-0, and Helen Jacobs, of Berkeley, Cal., defeating Mrs. Phoebe Watson, of England, 5-7, 6-3, 6-1.

Elizabeth Ryan, of California, was eliminated in the quarter-finals by Fraulein Aussem, of Germany, who beat the American woman, 4-6, 6-1, 6-0.

Mrs. Moody will meet Fraulein Aussem in the semi-finals tomorrow, and Miss Jacobs will meet Senorita Lili De Alvarez, of Spain, who defeated France's No. 1 player, Mme. Susanne Mathieu, today, 6-3, 7-5.

Borotra gained the semi-finals in the men's singles today by defeating J. C. Gregory, English Davis cup player, 6-4, 6-4, 6-3.

Henri Cochet gained the semi-finals by winning from Harry Hopman, Australian Davis cup star, 6-1, 2-6, 6-3, 6-3, and will meet Baron H. L. De Morpurgo, of Italy, tomorrow. Baron De Morpurgo beat Edgar Moon, Australia, in the quarter-finals today, 6-2, 6-2, 4-6, 2-6, 6-3.

Trojans Will Return Big Veteran Squad

LOS ANGELES, May 30.—Only two regulars on University of Southern California's championship baseball team will be lost to the squad next season, according to Coach Sam Barry, who led his team to the title in his first year of work at S. C.

VICTORY SEEN FOR WHICHONE IN RACE TODAY

Nine Racers Will Face Barrier in Withers at Belmont Park.

NEW YORK, May 30.—(AP)—Nine three-year-olds are eligible to answer the bugle call in the Withers at Belmont Park tomorrow but the turf prophets say that Harry Payne Whitney's Whichone has the classic won even before the thoroughbreds parade before the grandstand.

On the basis of his juvenile championship form and his one appearance as a three-year, when he went the mile in 1:37, Whichone stands out as the class of the field. And with Wonny Workman in the saddle the Whitney colt is even more powerful over the Withers distance.

W. R. Coe offers a threat in Maya, Black Majesty and Caruso, but neither of the trio appear able to match strides with Speedy, son of Chicle-Flying Witch. W. J. Salmon is sending forth his Preakness and Derby candidate, Swinfield, while the Rancocas stable presents Kai Feng, victorious in one section of the Decoration Day handicap today. Tom Healy may choose, however, to withhold the Rancocas star.

In Sarazen II, Mrs. Graham Fair Vanderbilt is sending out a great sprinter but a colt that has failed to show anything above six or seven furlongs. The namesake of the great Sarazen may be the dark horse, however, as he has plenty of early foot. The other entries are Dunsany from Mr. Pembroke stable and F. W. Brown's Starpatic.

Whichone was quoted at 2 to 5 in his initial appearance and his triumph was so easy that the bookmakers may refuse to offer even that price in tomorrow's stake. All of the entries will carry 118 pounds.

SMITHIES LOSE OPENING GAME TO LAGRANGE

Boyd's Error in Ninth Paves Way for Victory; Hurlers Shine.

LAGRANGE, Ga., May 30.—Boyd's error of judgment, allowing Harry Whitten to score from third base in the ninth inning decided a pitching duel here Friday afternoon between Chambers and Knight as LaGrange high defeated Tech High, 4 to 3, in the first of a two-game series here for the mythical state high school championship.

The two rival coaches called on their best hurlers in the opening game, Tech High using Chambers, right-hand ace, and LaGrange Ray Knight, its right-hand flinger. Chambers yielded six hits and fanned nine batsmen, while Knight allowed seven hits and struck out two.

In the first inning Tech High scored a lone run that placed the Atlanta prep champions out in front until the fourth inning. Boyd singled and scored a moment later on Ball's double.

Up until the fourth Chambers hurled in great form, giving up only two hits and striking out six LaGrange batters. In the fourth, however, Chambers weakened and was touched for three hits, which, coupled with a base on balls and an error netted the LaGrange team three runs. Stone opened the inning by skying to center field. E. Whitten walked and scored on Harris' double to center. H. Whitten then hit one to the left field fence for a home run. The next two men up were safe, but some spectacular fielding by the Smithy infield prevented further scoring at that time.

Tech High cut LaGrange's margin in the seventh to one run, scoring on successive singles by Scott, English and Scarborough. The Smithies then came back and tied the score in the eighth. A hit batsman, two sacrifice flies and an error were sufficient to send over a run.

Harry Whitten was safe on Leinweber's error at short to start the ninth for LaGrange. Keeble walked and Whitten went to third on a passed ball at the plate. Wood, next up, hit to Leinweber at short, who threw to the plate in an attempt to catch Whitten, but Boyd dropped the ball and Whitten was safe with the winning run.

By winning this afternoon the LaGrange High team kept its undefeated record intact. The locals have won 12 consecutive games. LaGrange and Tech High meet here again Saturday afternoon.

YANKS, BENGALS MAKE BIG TRADE

NEW YORK, May 30.—(AP)—Pitcher Waite Hoyt and Shortstop Mark Koenig have been traded to Detroit for Pitcher Owen Carroll, Outfielder Harry Rice, and Infielder George Wuestling, the New York Yankee management announced today.

The trade, one of the most important of the season, came suddenly today although negotiations have been pending between the clubs since last February, when Bob Shawkey, manager of the Yanks, and Bucky Harris, pilot of the Tigers, conferred in Miami, Fla.

Although getting "three for two" with no cash involved in the deal, the Yanks parted with a pair of important factors in their pennant winning surges of 1926, 1927 and 1928. Hoyt, who is 31 years old, came to the Yanks in 1921 after two years with the Boston Red Sox and a brief tour of the minors. He has been with the Yankees ever since and pitched splendid ball. His best seasons were 1927 and 1928 when he won 22 and lost 7, and 23 and 7, respectively. He won only 10 games while losing nine last season and has not been effective this year.

Koenig came to the Yankees in 1925 from St. Paul in the American Association. He was the regular shortstop, hitting .319 in 1928, until displaced by Lynn Lary this season. He is 26 years old. Both Koenig and Hoyt are right handers.

Although the supplanting of Koenig at shortstop for the Yankees was reported due to Mark's failing eyesight, this was denied officially both by Koenig and the Yankee management. Carroll, Rice and Wuestling are due to report to the club in Chicago next Tuesday. The trade promises to bolster some of the Yankees' weaknesses of the young season. Carroll, a right-handed pitcher, who came to Detroit from Holy Cross college in 1925, is expected to bolster the pitching staff that was aided recently by the acquisition of Charlie Ruffing from the Red Sox. Carroll is 28 years old. He won 10 and lost 6 in 1927 and won 16 while losing 12 in 1928 for an earned run average of 3.28. Last year he slumped, losing 17 while winning 9.

Rice is expected to fill the hole in left field left by the failure of Dusty Cooke to develop as expected. Rice, a left-handed batter, is 29 years old, and came to Detroit in 1928 in a trade with St. Louis. He has been in the major leagues since 1923 and batted below .300 only in one full season. He hit for .359 in 1925 and .304 last year.

Wuestling has been carried by Detroit as a substitute shortstop for a couple of seasons.

Miss Walsh Sets New Dash Record

LOOKOUTS WIN PAIR

The Crackers were playing with two collegians in a revised lineup. Luke Appling was on third and Red Barron in left field. Team-play suffered, of course, and the boys were not up to hitting real fast pitching. But they worked like putting out fire and never let up.

UMP IS HIT.

In the second game, however, when Bill called Jack Sheehan out on strikes, and ordered Johnny Dobbs out for protesting, the crowd had forgotten and gave him the verbal works.

Bill had a tough one in the seventh frame of the opener. Wid Matthews was batting. The ball hit either his wrist or the bat. Wid dropped the bat and grabbed his wrist and started for first base. Bill called him back. Wid argued in vain and kept gripping his supposedly injured member; he showed it to Bill even. No use. Finally with the count 2 and 1, Wid still complaining, took himself out of the game and Manager Rodgers had to send in a pinch hitter to finish the turn. Between innings it developed that Matthews was really hit by the ball; the wrist was badly swollen. He could not play in the second game at all.

BARRON BEATS BUNT.

Red Barron had a hard time seeing Billy Bayne's fast ball. In fact Red fanned earnestly on his first two trips. The third visit he laid down a bunt and beat it out by a dazzling sprint. The crowd, already dizzy with excitement, burst into wild cheers. That was what they wanted. But Red got as far as third and died there.

If one wants another instance of how the Lookouts saved the ball game: with bases loaded and one down, the Lookouts walked Pinch Hitter Johnston purposely to get to Barron in the seventh. They figured they could set up thereby a double play, for second and third already were occupied.

FAST DOUBLE PLAY.

They set up the most startling double play seen in years at Spiller field. Barron smacked one hard toward third. Gooch took it on the hop, leaped five or six feet back to touch the bag and whipped it to first in time to catch the speeding Barron. It was a play that would have worked once in a thousand times—and did.

The Lookouts leaped on "Climax" Blethen in the first inning of the second game for three hits and four runs. Two Cracker errors figured in the scoring. The home nine looked all worn out just then.

But Art Decatur was wild and gave them a chance. He hit Baron and walked Sheehan and Rosenthal. Langford cleaned the sacks with a triple and sent Art to the bench in a hurry. Hollingsworth finished the inning; Langford came home on an infield out and tied it, 4-4.

Then old Dixie Davis came out in the second and for six sessions held the Crackers to two hits. He was just as effective as Bill Bayne had been. The Crackers could score no more.

Jack Knight was trotted out to finish this one and, entering with the score tied, was charged with the loss. He gave up nine hits and three runs and his boy friends could not help him.

To say a word for the much-abused Crackers is easy. How they managed the courage, the energy to keep hustling after losing close game after close game is a mystery. Whatever their faults and flaws, they have been up against an unseen enemy that has quashed their best efforts. They simply cannot have the short end much longer. The odds are in their favor from this point out. They have overdrawn their account at the bank of misfortune.

Hill and Rintala Tie For Clouting Crown

LOS ANGELES, May 30.—Jesse Hill, of University of Southern California's championship baseball team, tied with Rudy Rintala, of Stanford, for first in total bases clouted out during their 1930 hitting campaign, according to Statistician Arnold Eddy, of the California Intercollegiate Baseball Association.

Hill, who led the league in hitting with an average of .389, was at bat 54 times, and hit safely 21 times, bagging one home run, three triples, seven two-baggers and 10 singles for a total of 37 bases. Rintala, who was third in league batting with .351, was at bat 57 times and hit safely on 20 occasions for four home runs, two triples, one two-bagger and thirteen singles.

NORTHERN FORCES IN STRIFE-TORN CHINA

While reds surrounded the city of Changchow, 30 miles west of Amoy in Fukien province, unconfirmed reports circulated in Nanking told of new northern victories along the Haichow-Tungkwan railroad in northern Honan province.

The victories were described as "smashing" and the nationalists were reported establishing a second line of defense at Tangshan, a small village 50 miles west of Suchow, while the northerners advanced eastward. Rumors told of the reoccupation of Kweiteh in northeastern Honan province by the northerners.

Thousands were fleeing from Changchow, terrorized by the threatening attitude of the communists, who cut telegraph lines and dug trenches across highways, virtually isolating the city. Fearing an attack, refugees were heading toward Amoy and the coast.

Reds also were blamed for the assassination at Amoy of the Fukien province nationalist opium suppression commissioner, who was an enthusiastic supporter of the Nanking government and a former southern Fukien bandit leader. The murder was charged to political revenge.

Advices from southern Kiangsi province said the city of Kanchow was still under siege by communists. Reports said the populace was terror-stricken.

Shropshire Loses Title to White

Shooting consistent golf, R. H. White, Jr., defeated Tommy Shropshire, Jr., 1 up, Friday afternoon at Capital City Club for the championship of the governing board tourney. White shot a 75, two strokes under young Shropshire.

I. C. Humphries won the fourth flight title with a 2-up victory over Harry Boon.

The remainder of the finals will be played this afternoon.

New and Trammel Battle to Draw

Three draws and two close decisions featured a Georgia Power club boxing program Friday night at the club gymnasium on Piedmont avenue. Hoke New and James Trammel fought six rounds to a draw in the main attraction and Spud Meyers and Bill Bearden fought six rounds to a draw in the semi-windup.

In the preliminaries, Bill Wilson and Frankie Allen fought six rounds to a draw. Tiny Dixon was given a close decision over Cotton Wilson in a four rounder and Clint Towns opened the show with a six-round decision over O'Dell Bearden.

Engle returned Jim Mooney and Ed Hollingsworth, both right-handed pitchers. Mooney will be sent to Charlotte in the South Atlantic league and Hollingsworth will go to Baltimore.

Ed Tomlin, a utility fielder, was released Friday night. Tomlin was secured from the Pacific Coast league and has failed to get going this season.

Meanwhile Johnny Dobbs, cast down no little by his double defeat Friday, was gleaning some little grains of comfort from it. In the first place he got a beautifully pitched game in the first setto when Jack Knight went the nine innings and lost a heartbreaking, 1-to-0 game.

It was an indication that Knight, who reported from the coast out of condition, was ready to go.

Hugh Starling, University of Alabama pitcher, was put on the list when Lee Meadows was released and Dobbs intends to stick him right in there within the next few days.

LIKES ROOKIES.

"I like Red Barron and Luke Appling and their work," said the Cracker skipper. "They haven't seen enough curve-ball pitching to go well yet but they are coming fast and their hustle and pepper is a good tonic for us."

The Crackers end their home stay today going on the road tonight. They face a double-header in Nashville Sunday.

OFFICIAL TO ANSWER LIQUOR INDICTMENTS

SEATTLE, Wash., May 30.—(AP)—A nationwide search for Clifford Taylor McKinney, former assistant United States attorney here, ended today when McKinney telephoned officials and said he would surrender to answer an indictment for alleged corruption in connection with federal liquor law enforcement.

Ed Benn, United States marshal, said McKinney called from a city outside the state of Washington and declared he had been on a fishing trip and had just learned of the indictment, returned this week. Marshal Benn declined to make the name of the city from which the former assistant attorney telephoned.

McKinney was one of five men indicted by the federal grand jury which investigated charges of corruption in liquor law enforcement in the Pacific northwest. The others are Prohibition Administrator Roy C. Lyle; his assistant, William M. Whitney; Earl Corwin, chief prohibition field agent, and R. L. Fryant, former agent and later a King county deputy sheriff. The other defendants have surrendered and declared their innocence.

JUST BEGUN, SAVAGE SAYS.

SAN FRANCISCO, Cal., May 30.(AP)—United States Attorney Anthony Savage, of Seattle, asserted here today that the government, in indicting Roy C. Lyle, federal prohibition administrator of Oregon, Washington and Alaska, had "just begun" its investigation into alleged dry law scandals of the northwest.

Savage expressed the belief that Lyle and his chief assistant, William C. Whitney, who also was indicted, had not yet "told all they know" and promised "new and startling developments" which would "rock the state of Washington to its foundation."

Savage criticized the attitude of the Washington Anti-Saloon League and the W. C. T. U. which have upheld Lyle and Whitney, and said the developments would "compel" Senator Wesley L. Jones, of Washington, author of the "five and ten law," to reverse his views on prohibition and "abide by the decision of the people of Washington."

Savage said his presence here had nothing to do with the Seattle prohibition case.

Tangled Families Start Wild Battle

SAN FRANCISCO, May 30.—(AP) A legal contest for possession of a $1,500,000 estate, involving claims of two self-styled widows, a son, and daughter, loomed today with filing of a petition for letters of administration in the estate of Juan O. Simmons.

Mrs. Amy Oppenheimer, of San Francisco, and Mrs. Catalina De Witt De Simmons, of Morelia, Texas, both claim the estate of the Mexican government millionaire concession operator, who although he died July 18, 1926, under the name of Simmons, was known during the early days of his life as Oppenheimer, the petition stated.

Mrs. Oppenheimer's attorney said that Oppenheimer, born in Harrisburg, Pa., about 64 years ago, migrated to Spokane, Wash., where while engaged in the lumber business he met and married the present San Francisco widow. He said a daughter was born to them, and they subsequently travelled in Argentina, later separating in New York City, where they resided more than 20 years ago. Simmons died in San Antonio, Texas.

In the petition Mrs. Amy Oppenheimer said she came to San Francisco after her separation from her husband, who changed his name to Simmons and took up residence in Mexico and posed as an Englishman.

Oppenheimer's fortune is centered largely here and in Mexico, and was accumulated chiefly through operation of Mexican concessions, which, according to Mrs. Oppenheimer's attorney, are being handled by a son of his second wife, who lives with his mother in Morelia.

Tampa Doctor Faces Stock Fraud Charge

TAMPA, Fla., May 30.—(AP)—Dr. F. E. Hall, Tampa physician, today was under $2,000 bond pending a hearing on charges of using the mails to defraud in connection with the sale of stocks in the Apalachicola Bay Sea Food Company of Apalachicola some time ago. He was arrested yesterday by federal deputies on an indictment returned by a federal grand jury sitting at Pensacola. The indictment was based on evidence submitted by Postoffice Inspector E. J. Mansfield and R. H. Faris, according to the agents. United States Commissioner Paul Pinkerton named the bond after Dr. Hall was brought in and heard the charge read.

The inspectors explained that for a time Dr. Hall was vice president and late president of the company and that false representations were made in selling company stocks. Most of Dr. Hall's alleged activities were conducted from here, they added, and extended over a period of two years from the summer of 1927. They company later failed, inspectors continued, with little or nothing gained by the investors.

Fourth Rain Victim's Body Is Recovered

BALTIMORE, May 30.—(AP)—The disappearance of four boys, the oldest 15, swept to their deaths by sudden storm waters in a big emergency drain in which they were playing last Saturday, was completely cleared early today with the finding of the fourth body at the sewer outlet near the harbor. The bodies of three were recovered yesterday.

The possibility that a fifth boy may have met death with the others developed when Charles J. Christopher told police his son, Martin, 14, has been missing since May 17, and that the boy had often played near the entrance to the drain.

The bodies found were of Wilbert Alban, 15; Donald Moore, 13; Francis Welden, 9, and John Kelly, Jr., 14.

Mississippi Senate Aids Mental School

JACKSON, Miss., May 30.—(AP)—Financial relief necessary to forestall dismissal of 100 children inmates of the Ellisville School for the Feeble Minded was voted today by the senate.

Sentor W. B. Roberts, Rosedale, offered the appropriation calling for a total of $150,000. It was considered in committee of the whole and passed. It now goes to the house.

The board of trustees of the institution in session last week announced that unless the additional funds were provided at once, that 100 of the inmates would be "turned out on the state."

Emergency Jump Fails To Save Cadet Flier

OKLAHOMA CITY, May 30.—(AP) J. H. Farring, flying cadet of Kelly Field, Texas, was killed today in an attempted emergency parachute jump from a plane three miles south of Tipton, Okla. A second cadet, whose name was said to be Anderson, made a successful leap.

The two cadets were returning to Kelly field from Fort Sill, Okla.

Farring's parachute became entangled with the struts of the plane. He was seen to fight valiantly to untangle the ropes, but was dragged to the ground with the falling plane.

"PIGS," AT ERLANGER, GIVEN TWICE TODAY

Today brings to a close, with matinee and night performances, one of the most delightful comedies ever seen on an Atlanta stage in "Pigs," production of the week by the Erlanger Theater Players.

Next week the players will end their spring season, to leave the city which has learned to appreciate their art so highly, until next August, when they return to inaugurate a winter season of productions of the best and cleverest things the new stage has to offer.

To close the season next week the players will give "Broken Dishes," that immensely clever and penetrating story, by Martin Flavin, of a henpecked husband who revolts and wins to the domestic position he should have always held—incidentally helping to success the love romance of his youngest daughter and the delivery boy in so doing.

The John Golden production of "Pigs" this week has been received as well, if not better, than anything the players have previously given. A few seats are yet available at the box office for either show today at 2:30 or 8:30 o'clock.

TEN CLEVER SONGS HEARD IN "CUCKOOS"

Although not a song play, "The Cuckoos," at the Fox for the last times today, has 10 clever songs. Featuring Bert Wheelr and Robert Woolsey, the mad wags of "Rio Rita," almost any picture they appear in is bound to be given over to comedy—that particular comedy for which they are famous.

In "The Cuckoos," Bert Wheeler is Sparrow and Robert Wheeler is Professor Bird. They are fortune tellers who undertake to find and restore to her family the missing heiress. And while they are doing this, their every effort is a laugh.

After "The Cuckoos" it is a safe prediction that their names will be better known to picture fans. Heretofore they have been identified almost wholly by the fact that they were the two nuts in "Rio Rita."

PASSION FLOWER

Twenty-Fourth Installment.

It was a hot, still morning; the kitchen doorrs were open. There was a bowl of cherries on the table; Margaret was in her high chair, expectant of luncheon; Tommy was crawling after a box which he pushed ahead of him across the linoleum.

"They mustn't see me cry," Cassy's I go—Tommy'll follow me— The room thoughts ran, terrified. "Where can back of the harness room—"

They saw her run hastily across the green dooryard, and disappear into the shadow of the old barn. Tommy's intent to follow was quickly distracted by the sight of the strange utensil on the table. He seized it rapturously; it became his favorite toy.

A week later Dan went to a stock farm just across the Nevada border—a place with which La Lomita had had dealings for many years. He slept in a bunk house, rode all day long, and in the late afternoons wrote letters to Dulce in the O. Henry strain. To himself he seemed rather like a person playing a part, a little dull and dazed when he thought of Cassy and the children at the farmhouse, but thrilling and alive again the moment the vision of Dulce came into his mind.

A lawyer had gone to see Cassy, and his report had cheered Dan and Dulce immensely. Mrs. Wallace had been most reasonable and matter of fact, stipulating merely that she should have full custody of the children. Mrs. Wallace had no objections to occasional visits from Mr. Wallace to Thomas and Margaret, if he liked. Her father's will having deeded her the ranch house now being used by her as a residence, and her mother's further arrangement for income, made it agreeable to Mrs. Wallace to waive alimony.

Dan wrote Cassy a letter regarding her obliging attitude in these details. Cassy did not acknowledge it.

As a matter of fact, she was extremely angry, and anger carried her proudly through the first three months of earthquake, when all Napa peered and gossiped, and her mother shed mournful and helpless tears.

But as the summer weeks went by, empty pride and her neighbors' sympathy turned to ashes in her mouth and Cassy found herself spending long hours staring out at the blue scene below Santa Barbara.

She walked and swam, and basked on the beach, but a deep languor seemed to possess her, an almost frightening lifelessness and apathy. The winter was over now, and herself and the children were in the best of health; there was no more money trouble. But Cassy had never suffered in her life as she was suffering now.

"What I can't understand," Mrs. Pringle complained, over and over again, "is you and Dan separating! Why, your grandfather and grandmother Pringle used to fight now and then, but they never thought of separating. Seems so funny—"

"There wasn't so much divorce then."

"No, and a good thing, too!"

"They quarreled in those days, mama, but afterward there was nothing else to do but make it up."

"There weren't women sneaking about trying to get other women's husbands, either."

"Isn't it perhaps that divorce creates that class of woman?"

"Well, they ought to be ashamed to admit it if it does!"

"Divorce makes it perfectly legitimate to break up a family, mother, if you can."

"Cassy, I can't bear to hear you talk that immoral way!"

"It's not immoral. It's perfectly true. I'm just telling you what Dulce's viewpoint is."

"Well, it doesn't seem to me it's your place to defend Dulce Varney!"

And Cassy's desperate laugh. "My dear mother, I'm not defending her! I'm trying as hard as you are to understand it."

They went back to the ranch in August, and on the first evening there, overwhelmed by the emptiness of the rooms that had known Dan's laughter and footsteps, Cassy sat down to write to him.

Cassy's green pen began to move; she hesitated, scratched again.

"Dan dear, we got home from Santa Barbara tonight. We had a cottage right on the dunes, and the children both look like different creatures. Margaret is just bursting out of the last winter's flannel nighties, and I'm only waiting to start the new ones until the weather is cooler.

"Mother's playing 'Spider,' of course. She gets it, now and then, and goes on to some other kind of patience. But she always starts with 'Spider,' and always says, 'Let's see, now, how did Dan say this went?'

"Fussy is here at my feet, moaning with sheer joy. Not that he didn't go with us to the shore, of course, but his joy in getting home is too much for him. Grouch is out in the barn with six kittens—darlings. My Swedes have come, great big, rawboned, gentle-voiced, intelligent creatures, and one of the women starts in tomorrow. They want to rent the upper farm, and I told them I'd give them three months' rent to paper and clean. They seem darlings. Mine is Inga Tranesen, as beautiful as a girl on a handkerchief box—a real blonde. We advanced two hundred to bring them, remember?—so there is quite complicated bookkeeping still ahead.

"Everything at the ranch looks beautiful — yellow poplars, apples, shrubs all burning with color. We are having an early fall, but, after all, tomorrow is September. The horses, cows, pigs, doves—everything fine. And the children were ecstatic to get back.

"We left, day before yesterday, stayed one night in Monterey, last night at the Fairmont, and got the 9 o'clock boat up, so I've had all day to rest and fuss. Divine weather, so soft and fragrant, and thin, somehow.

"I got some dresses in town, and have one on—my first color. A soft sort of dimity, with ruffles, fine black and white, and wide lavender stripes. It's delicious, this hot weather. And getting the children to bed, I got my hair splashed so that now it's very slick and neat.

"They're both so good, and Margaret as round and soft and sweet as a little butter ball. She's lovely, all soapy and powdery, after her bath. Tom's still the masher you used to call him, when he sat up and watched us in the kitchen of the Fulton street flat. He's as much company to me as a grown-up, and mother, who was quite lackadaisical, what with papa's death and everything last spring, has cheered up. She is awfully sweet to me. I'm writing at the table in the living room, windows wide open, hot, hot day, but cooling now, and mother at the window Tom fell out of. Mother's very much embarrassed to find herself rich, after asking papa for 50 centses for years, and has given me quite a lot of stuff—bonds and shares. She says it makes her nervous, and she has lots more. My sister Gertrude is only my half-sister, you know, and is all separately taken care of. I have to go down to the bank tomorrow, but I'm rolling in wealth. They want me to turn the car in for a touring, same make, because I always have mother, and a raft of little infantry with me.

"Dan, dear, I think we've been fools long enough. We're older now, and I know you've been suffering during this time as I have. I want you to come back. I don't care what we have to do—explain, take back, apologize for, cancel. I don't care what people think, or what Dulce thinks. I'm your wife, sitting here in my new dimity dress loving you, wanting you, thinking about you—with your children asleep upstairs, and your Airedale at my feet, and your grapes and apples and plums and pears all ready to be gathered—and your Margaret mashing her wet little kisses on your photograph every night.

"Will you come back, dear? I couldn't go to bed, somehow, without asking you, without saying that there's nothing we can't forget and forgive, and nothing but happiness ahead."

She signed it "Cassy."

On the tenth day she was answered. She was looking indifferently through the columns of one of the town's two newspapers when the names caught her eyes.

"Married, Varney-Wallace. In New York city, August 31, at 5 o'clock p. m., in St. Simon's church, Miranda Maria (Dulce) Varney, and Daniel Wallace, both of Napa, California."

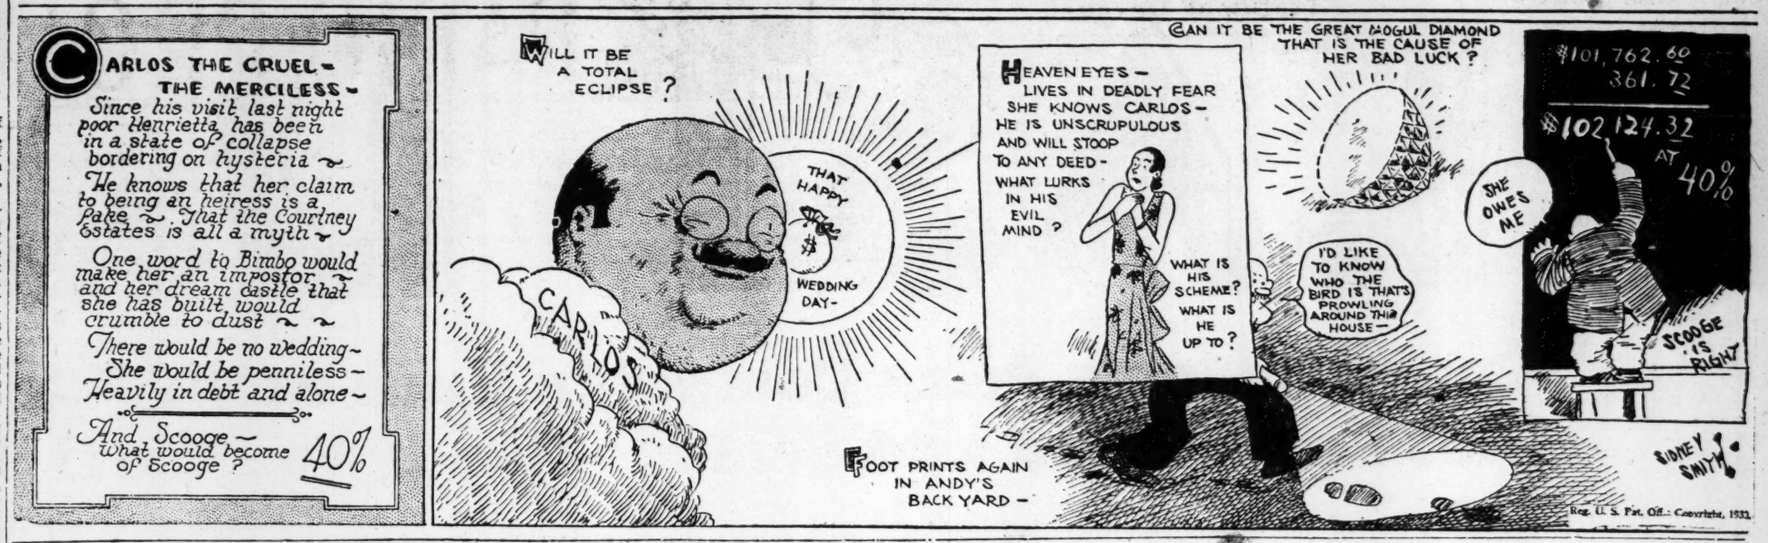

Cassy, standing by the porch table, continued to stand, motionless, for a long minute, looking stonily ahead. Her brown fingers crushed the flimsy sheet slowly, but she did not look at it.

"Well—" Cassy said clearly, in a dead silence—"that's that."

LAST DAY

Ballot Box Locked and Sealed—Ready for Final Subscriptions

Today is the LAST day of The Atlanta Constitution's $25,000 prize campaign. It ends at 9 o'clock tonight.

Are you going to be in the winning column? A BIG final spurt today may decide in your favor. The final credit schedule gives thousands upon thousands of credits on New subscriptions in addition to old. Avail yourself of it before 9 o'clock tonight and one of the fine awards may be yours.

Today is your LAST CHANCE. Just a few hours more. And don't be late. If you intend to turn in subscriptions at the campaign headquarters, be SURE to see that you are in The Constitution office by 9 o'clock tonight.

The ballot box, in which the final subscriptions will be deposited has been locked and sealed by Ernst & Ernst, public accountants, and will not be opened by them until after the close of the campaign.

Do Your BEST today—one supreme effort today may land the prize you want.

FINAL CREDIT SCHEDULE

This scale is the only one that counts now and will be in effect from May 26 to the close of the campaign. This scale is in accordance with the announcement at the beginning of the campaign and is figured at the rate of 2,333 1-3 extra credits on the dollar for new prepaid subscriptions and one-half that number of extra credits for new contract subscriptions. No prepaid subscriptions accepted for less than six months or longer than five years. A new prepaid 3 years carrier subscription is worth 136,500 credits, a new prepaid 4 years carrier subscription is worth 193,667 credits and a new prepaid 5 years carrier subscription is worth 255,834 credits.

How to Figure Second Payments

Second payments on prepaid subscriptions and extensions on contract subscriptions turned in during the last week of the campaign are figured according to the FINAL SCHEDULE.

Here are examples of Second Payments:

If First Payment Was	Second Payment	Second Payment Credits New Sub.	Old. Sub.
$5.00 for 6 months	$ 4.50 for 6 months more	20,500	5,000
5.00 for 6 months	14.70 for 18 months more	67,667	17,500
9.50 for 12 months	9.50 for 12 months more	47,167	12,500

Other second payments are figured in the same way. These subscriptions must be marked second payment when sending them in on the remittance sheet, as previously outlined.

Extensions on Contracts

If you have already turned in a NEW 6 months' contract subscription and you get from this same subscriber another 6 months' signed contract, agreeing to take the paper for 6 months longer or a year in all, for this extension you will receive 11,067 credits. These subscriptions must be marked extensions.

Final Rules and Instructions Read Carefully

As a matter of caution and to guard against the possibility of misunderstanding during the closing days of the campaign, herewith are printed the final instructions which must be observed by candidates. Read every line carefully.

1—All contract subscriptions are received subject to verification and acceptance of The Atlanta Constitution and any contract subscription turned in and not accepted by The Constitution must be substituted with a bona-fide new acceptable subscription and no prize or commission will be given to the candidate until his or her subscriptions have been made good and accepted by The Constitution. Any cash in advance subscription turned in as New and verified as Old, must be substituted with a bona-fide NEW cash in advance subscription to The Constitution.

2—Check all receipts (ballots) carefully given you for covering subscriptions turned in. Pay particular attention to receipts covering remittances where "Second Payments" were included; also receipts covering cash payments on contracts and extensions on contracts. If you have any corrections to be made, notify the Campaign Manager in person or writing and return the receipts for proper correction. The Atlanta Constitution will not be responsible for errors, unless notification is given after which corrections will be made.

3—None of the official receipts (ballots) issued and given to candidates are to be returned to the Campaign Department, unless for corrections, these are your records and are to be held by you.

4—Under no conditions may a transfer of credits be effected between candidates. This is an absolute rule and will be strictly enforced.

5—The final credit schedule, as published, is in force during the final week of the campaign.

6—Subscriptions may be turned in personally at the campaign headquarters in The Constitution Building or sent in by mail up to the closing hour of the campaign, 9 P. M., May 31, 1930.

7—On Saturday, May 31, the closing day of the campaign, all subscriptions and remittances turned in at the campaign headquarters should be placed in a sealed envelope and deposited in the locked and sealed Ballot Box at campaign headquarters which will be in charge of Ernst & Ernst, public accountants and auditors.

8—Subscriptions that are mailed must be addressed to The Atlanta Constitution Campaign Department, Atlanta, Georgia, and the envelope containing the subscriptions must show a postmark of having been mailed on or before 9 P. M., May 31, 1930. Subscriptions that are mailed must reach the Campaign Department of The Constitution on or before 6 P. M., June 4, 1930. The Atlanta Constitution will not be responsible for any mail delayed, even though properly postmarked, which fails to arrive at the Campaign Department within the specified time. From now on subscriptions mailed should be sent "Special Delivery."

9—"Second Payments" must be so marked and amount of first payment given, and properly entered on Remittance Sheet. "Extensions" on contract subscriptions, "Cash Paid" on contracts and "Cash Turnd In" for extension on contracts must be properly marked and entered on the Contract Order Sheets and Remittance Sheets.

10—Cash must accompany all prepaid subscriptions. No sums of money will be accepted, the name of subscriber to follow later.

11—Subscriptions are verified and candidates are warned to be very careful in marking their prepaid subscriptions New or Old. The candidate is responsible for entry of subscriptions on remittance sheets. "Switching" or changing an old subscriber to a new one will only cause regret to the candidate, so be sure and enter your subscriptions properly.

12—Absolutely no subscription money will be refunded

BE ON TIME—MAIL ON TIME

Candidates intending to turn in subscriptions personally today to count in The Constitution's $25,000 prize campaign, must be in The Constitution office by 9 o'clock tonight. Candidates intending to mail subscriptions must post them early enough to show a postmark of having been mailed on or before 9 p. m., May 31. READ THE FINAL RULES AND INSTRUCTIONS ON THIS PAGE CAREFULLY.

HOW REGULAR PRIZES WILL BE AWARDED

To the candidate securing the highest total of credits during The Atlanta Constitution's $25,000 Prize Campaign will be awarded the $3,120 PIERCE-ARROW SEDAN and $1,000 in Gold (First Grand Prize); to the second highest candidate in credit standing will be given the $2,835 FRANKLIN SEDAN and $500 in Gold (Second Grand Prize). These two awards will be made irrespective of the divisions or districts from which the winners may be entered.

After the two grand prize winners have been eliminated from further consideration, the three candidates highest in credit totals in the City Division (First Division) will be determined and to them will be given, in the order named, the $1,615 NASH SEDAN, the $1,180 CHRYSLER BROUGHAM and the $935 ESSEX COACH. In like manner the three candidates highest in credit standings in the Outside Division (Second Division) will be decided and to them will be awarded, in the following order, the $1,495 REO SEDAN, $1,295 MARMON-ROOSEVELT SEDAN and the $965 PONTIAC SEDAN. These division car awards will be made regardless of district boundaries in each division.

After the two grand prize winners and the six division prize winners of cars have been eliminated from further competition, next will be determined the three candidates highest in credit standing in each of the ten districts. To the leader in each district will be awarded one of the five $685 CHEVROLET COACHES or one of the five $608 FORD TUDOR SEDANS. The five $685 CHEVROLET COACHES will be given to the five highest of these ten candidates and the five $608 FORD TUDOR SEDANS will be given to the remaining five winners of district automobiles. The second highest candidate, in credit standing, in each district will be given a $174.50 ATWATER KENT RADIO, and the third highest candidate, in credit standing, in each district will be given a $146.50 ATWATER KENT RADIO.

No candidate can win more than one of the regular listed prizes. All candidates not winning a regular prize will be paid a cash commission of ten per cent on all new prepaid subscriptions and five per cent on all new contract subscriptions turned in by them, providing they remain active from time of entry and turn in at least $50 in new subscriptions.

ERNST & ERNST TO AUDIT RETURNS

The nationally known firm of Ernst & Ernst, public accountants, with offices in the Haas Building, Atlanta, will have charge of auditing the entire returns of The Atlanta Constitution's $25,000 prize campaign and awarding the prizes. The campaign will close with the use of a locked and sealed ballot box, into which candidates may deposit their final subscriptions.

ATLANTA SPOT COTTON.

Atlanta spot cotton closed steady, unchanged at 15.05.

NEW ORLEANS, May 30.—(AP)—Complete inactivity featured the cotton market today with New York and the commodity markets over most of the country closed owing to the Memorial Day holiday. There was no disposition to trade and except for an opening decline of 4 to 6 points in sympathy with lower Liverpool cables prices showed practically no changes all morning. While trading was quiet during the afternoon there was a gain of 4 to 6 points. July remained unchanged in early trading at 15.79, while October traded at 14.84 and December at 14.89, 1 point down to 1 up from the opening figures.

Aside from a recovery of 2 points in July to 15.81, the market ruled unchanged all morning and during most of the afternoon with long intervals between trades. In the late trading there was a little spurt of covering and July advanced to 15.87, up 8 points from the low and October advanced to 14.88, up also 8 points but some of the gain was soon lost. July closed at 15.83, down 2 points net and October at 14.83, down 5 points.

Caldwell Firm Buys Mississippi Notes

JACKSON, Miss., May 30.—(AP)—Caldwell & Co., of Nashville, today purchased $5,000,000 in short-term notes of the state of Mississippi at par and premium of $101,010. Interest rate on the three-year notes is 5 1-2 per cent.

Caldwell & Co., were joined in the purchase by Lehman Brothers, Stone & Webster and Blodget, International Manhattan Company, Ames, Emorick & Company, Inc.; Kean Taylor & Co., and F. S. Mosely & Co.

The award was made by the bond commission after the Hibernia Securities Company of New Orleans had submitted an additional bid of $103,000. Their first bid was $95,986.

After Governor Bilbo, Attorney Mitchell and State Treasurer Walley retired for consideration of the second bid by the New Orleans concern, the following statement was issued:

"These bids were received sealed. Whenever a bid is submitted that's the end of it. We can't establish such a precedent as permitting second bids."

J. E. Roddy, representing the New Orleans concern, said his second bid was submitted because he had made an error in his original calculations.

Butter Prices Sink

CHICAGO, May 30.—(AP)—Butter prices are the lowest they have been in May since 1921, it was reported today by the government bureau of agricultural economics. Cheese prices have not been lower than at present since April, 1922, except for a brief period in 1924. Butter is almost 10 cents a pound below a year ago, and cheese down 4 1-2 cents.

Wall Street Briefs.

NEW YORK, May 30.—The principal security and commodity markets of New York and the rest of the country were closed Friday as the holiday occasioned by Memorial Day was extended over Sunday. The grain department of the New York Produce Exchange and the New Orleans Cotton Exchange were the principal exceptions.

Richard Whitney, who recently assumed the presidency of the New York Stock Exchange as the successor of E. H. H. Simmons, will make his first public address as president on June 10 when he will discuss the stock market panic before the Algonquin Club of Boston.

Imports of $12,000 from Latin-American countries constituted the only gold movement through the port of New York during the week ending May 28, the New York Federal Reserve bank reports.

Unconfirmable reports in the textile industry are that Bancamerica-Blair Corporation is completing its reported plan to merge eastern cotton mills with 1,000,000 spindles into the largest single organization of its kind in the industry.

Cottonseed Oil.

NEW ORLEANS.

NEW ORLEANS, May 30.—Cotton seed oil futures ruled quiet but steady today. Little disposition to trade was in evidence, due to the holiday in other markets. Prime summer yellow oil closed unchanged at 7.70 and prime crude 7.00@7.12½. Futures closed steady: June 7.73; July 7.78; September 7.80; October 7.81; December 7.82.

FEEDSTUFFS CONTINUE SEASONABLE DECLINE

Feed grain prices were unstable during the past week largely as a result of considerable irregularity in offerings and demand as well as sympathy with the unsettled wheat market. Feedstuffs continued their seasonable decline. Hay markets were generally steady with light offerings satisfying trade requirements. Pastures were generally good.

Corn and oats prices at the larger markets while somewhat irregular averaged slightly above prices for the previous week. Buyers were generally in the market for immediate needs only. Offerings were restricted by pressure of corn planting and other spring farm work but were generally sufficiently large to satisfy the moderate demand, which came largely from industries and shippers. White corn was relatively more scarce than yellow and prices ranged from about equal to a slight premium for white corn. Weather was generally favorable for field work and the late planting of corn made good progress. Corn has been mostly planted earlier than usual and some is up as far north as southern Michigan. The present situation in the central and eastern portions of the corn belt is far better than at this time last year when planting had barely begun in many areas. No. 3 yellow corn was quoted in Chicago May 28 at 80-80 1-2c, and at Kansas City at 79-80c. No. 3 white oats were quoted at the same markets at 40 1-2-41 1-2c and 41c per bushel, respectively. No. 2 white corn at Atlanta was selling at $1.06 and No. 3 white oats at 54 1-2c in bulk. These prices are generally from a half to a cent higher than those which prevailed May 21. Corn receipts for milling were reported heavy at Birmingham. Arrivals of oats were lighter but sufficient for prevailing demand. No. 2 white corn was quoted at that market at $1.01 1-2 per bushel.

Demand for feedstuffs was slow and prices continued their seasonal decline. Eastern and central western markets were much weaker than intermountain and Pacific Coast markets. Of the wheat feeds, bran was unusually weak, especially spring wheat bran, in the north central and eastern states. Heavy offal was relatively firmer than bran, except in eastern markets.

Export demand for feedstuffs was also slow. April exports of feedstuffs, including hay, from the United States were only about 57 per cent of those for the same month last year. For the period July through April this season exports have been only 78 per cent of those for the same period last season. However, shipments of linseed cake and meal have exceeded those of last year, while cotton seed cake and meal exports have been under those for the same ten months last season.

Little activity was reported in the Atlanta market, where bran was quoted, bagged, in carlots, sight-draft basis, on May 27 at $32.50, gray shorts at $34.50 and Red Dog at $39 per ton. The Memphis market was also dull and bran was quoted at that market at $26 and gray shorts at $27 per ton. Fort Worth reported brand selling at $29 and gray shorts at $30 per ton.

Cotton seed meal held fairly steady in the southeast and southwest, but was 50c-$1.50 per ton lower in the northern markets east of the Rocky mountains. Eastern demand was light and mostly from the southeastern area, where mill stocks were unusually small. The Texas market was firm with fair demand. Offerings of hulls have been slight and in good request at around $13 per ton delivered at points in the Fort Worth territory. Cotton seed meal market was reported very quiet at Atlanta and 36 per cent meal was quoted at $36 and 41 per cent at $38.50 per ton. Demand was limited at Memphis, where 41 per cent cotton seed meal was quoted at $37 per ton.

Prices held practically unchanged at the principal hay markets with the lighter offerings generally equal to trade requirements. Top grades of all classes were scarce, but the lower grades were generally slow sale. Timothy offering were particularly light as stocks of that hay are about depleted. Demand, however, was light, particularly in the south, and prices were unchanged. Alfalfa markets continued dull, with the principal demand for the leafy grades. Prairie hay was slow sale with offerings at many markets almost negligible. United States No. 2 timothy was quoted May 27 at Atlanta at $25.50 and at Birmingham at $25.50 per ton. United States No. 1 alfalfa at the latter market was quoted at $29-31, and No. 2 Johnson grass at $21.50.

RIDGWAY SEES EARLY BUSINESS NORMALCY

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn., May 30.—(Special.)—Returning from a trip to eastern financial centers, John R. Ridgway, president of Investors Syndicate, found the opinion general that business will be back to normal within 90 days.

"Business in the east is on the upgrade," said Mr. Ridgway. "The cotton situation in the south is looking better, while for the first time in a number of years the northwest finds itself regarded as the brightest spot on the United States economic map."

Wood Named.

ST. LOUIS, Mo., May 30.—(AP)—John Scott Wood, chief national bank examiner in St. Louis, has been named chairman of the federal reserve board in St. Louis and federal reserve agent here.

Announcement of the appointment was made by John W. Pole, comptroller of the currency, Washington, who said Robert O'Neill, New York examiner, would succeed Wood.

Cotton Letters.

FENNER & BEANE.

NEW YORK, May 30.—Trading in cotton on the New Orleans exchange was light Friday due to the general holiday in all other American markets. Prices eased a few points at the opening in sympathy with easier cables but soon steadied and held steady during the remainder of the day.

There was not much news in circulation and the usual weather data was lacking owing to the holiday in government offices.

Private wires told of considerable rainfall over eastern and southwestern sections and the forecast indicated further rains in the east and northwest, with generally fair weather in the remainder.

Reports from Texas say poor progress is being made in overcoming the recent setback due to large amount of cotton which will have to be replanted and large number of fields which are in the grass and weeds. Hoppers are reported in the southwest and weevil have appeared in south central sections. Flood waters are receding in northern sections of the overflowed districts but are still extending in southern sections.

GRAND JURY INDICTS 4 MORE COMMUNISTS

Two White Women and Two Negroes Must Face Trial on Capital "Insurrection" Charge.

Communist workers facing trial on capital offense indictments as the result of alleged attempts to incite insurrection Friday were increased to six when the Fulton county grand jury returned true bills against Mary Dalton and Ann Burlack, white women, and Gilmer Brady and Henry Story, negroes.

Joe Carr and M. H. Powers, communist organizers, were indicted recently by the grand jury on a charge of attempting to incite insurrection, and are scheduled for trial during the early part of this summer. All six communists are in Fulton tower and are being held without bond.

Shortly after the indictments were returned J. Louis Engdahl, general secretary of the International Labor Defense, issued a call for a "nation-wide protest" meeting over the imprisonment of the six communists here, setting as the date June 7, "the first anniversary of the heroic resistance by the Gastonia, N. C., textile strikers."

Engdahl, who announced that he had returned to Atlanta after a tour of the Carolinas to help organize mass demonstrations, gave out a second statement declaring that one of the reasons the four men and two women are in jail here was because they sought to talk about "the very conditions" brought out in the graft trial of City Clerk Walter C. Taylor.

Friday's indictment alleges that the two white women and two negroes attempted to incite insurrection on May 21. The defendants were arrested by a police squad led by Captain Grover C. Fain at a meeting place on Auburn avenue.

An indictment against the four communists Friday charged that they circulated insurrectionary papers as follows: "The Daily Worker," "The Liberator," "Out of a Job," by Earl Browder; "Read as You Fight," "Why Every Worker Should Join the Communist Party," "On the Road to Bolshevization," "The Trade Unions and Socialist Construction in the U. S. S. R.," by Katerina Evdeyeva; "The Communist Manifesto," by Karl Marx and Fredrich Engels; "Women in the Soviet Union," "The Program of the Communist International," "The Constitution and Statutes of the C. I.," "Labor and Southern Cotton Mills," by Myra Page; "State and Revolution," by V. I. Lenin; "Revolutionary Lessons," by V. I. Lenin; "Program of the Trade Unity League," "Proletarian Revolution," by V. I. Lenin; "Communist Party, U. S. A., District 17."

Text of Hoover's Memorial Address

Fellow countrymen:

We stand today amidst monuments to the valor and glory of a generation of Americans, north and south, now well-nigh gone. Most of those who bore the burdens of the Civil War have joined their comrades who sleep beneath these mounds. Of a thousand brigades which marched in that great conflict, scarce a score remain.

To the dead we pay again our tribute of gratitude and devotion. To the living we extend heartfelt wishes for a continuation of peaceful years, serene in contemplation of their glorious youth. The time must come all too soon when these living ties of our generation with the historic past will have passed on. Then we shall have only cherished memories to remind us of those who who heroically died and those women who bravely suffered for great ideals, or who lived on to consummate the reunion of our country, to give stability to its government, and peace to its people.

Every American's thought of this great battlefield of Gettysburg flashes with the instant vision of the lonely figure of Lincoln, whose immortal words dominate this scene. No monument has been or can be erected here so noble and enduring as that simple address which has become a part of this place. Greater than the tribute of granite or bronze remains that memorable message to the American people. That appeal for the unity of our people and the perpetuation of the fundamentals of our democracy is as vital today in our national thinking as it was when Lincoln spoke. Behind him were the 70 years of national experience that had passed between himself and Washington. His words from their span of the past rang with courage and assurance for the future. Though no president has been so beset, though no time in our history has been so dark, though never have strong men been so affected with doubts, yet in the midst of all that turmoil he found strength to lift his head above the clouds and proclaim that vision which the passing years have so fully confirmed.

New Day.

Today nearly 70 years have passed since Lincoln spoke. Ours is a new day and ours new problems of the republic. There are times when these problems loom ominous and their solution difficult. Yet great as our difficulties may sometimes seem, we would be of little courage if in our concerns we had less of faith than Lincoln had in his far greater task.

Lincoln's counsels sounded strangely when spoken in the midst of war. His was the call of moderation. Our history would be even brighter than it is if his predecessors and his contemporaries had spoken as temperately as he, if they had been moved by charity toward all, by malice toward none.

We shall be wise to ponder here what precious wealth of human life might have been preserved, what rivers of tears might never have flowed, what anguish of souls need never have been, what spiritual division of our people might have been avoided, if only our leadership had always been tempered by the moderation and calm vision of Lincoln. Since his day reason has not always ruled instead of passion, knowledge has not always been sought instead of reliance upon improvised conjecture, patience has not ever delayed the impetuous feet of reckless ambition, quiet negotiation has not always replaced the clamor of the hustings, prudent common counsel has not invariably overcome the allurements of demagogic folly, good will has not always won the day over cynicism and vainglory. Yet the ideals which he inspired have served to mould our national life and have brought in time great spiritual unity. His words have poured their blessings of restraint and inspiration upon each new generation.

In the weaving of our destiny, the pattern may change, yet the woof and warp of our weaving must be those inspired ideals of unity, or ordered liberty, of equality of opportunity, of popular government and of peace to which this nation was dedicated. Whatever the terms may be in which we enunciate these great ideals, whatever the new conditions to which we apply them, they must be held eternally valid. The common striving for these ideals, our common heritage as Americans, and the infinite web of national sentiment—these are the things that have made us a great nation, that have created a solidarity in a great people unparalleled in all human history.

The weaving of freedom is and always will be a struggle of law against lawlessness, of individual liberty against dominiation, of unity against sectionalism, of truth and honesty against demagoguery and misleading, of peace against fear and conflict. In the forming of this pattern, the abuse of politics often muddies the stream of constructive thought and dams back the flow of well-considered action.

In the solution of the problems of our times we have some new lamps to guide us. The light of science has revealed to us a new understanding of forces and a myriad of instruments of physical ease and comfort to add to the joy of life. The growth of communications, of education, of the press, have made possible a new unity of thought and purpose. But the light that guides our souls remains the same as that whereby our fathers were led. It is the store of knowledge, the great inspirations of men's souls, the ideals which they carry forward, that have lifted the nation to ever greater heights.

The union has become not merely a physical union of states, but rather is a spiritual union in common ideals of our people. Within it is room for every variety of opinion, every possibility of experiment in social progress. Out of such variety comes growth, but only if we preserve and maintain our spiritual solidarity.

The things of the spirit alone persist. It is in that field that the nation makes its lasting progress. To cherish religious faith and the tolerance of all faiths; to reflect into every aspect of public life the spirit of charity, the practice of forbearance, and the restraint of passion while reason seeks the way; to lay aside blind prejudice and follow knowledge together; to pursue diligently the common welfare and find within its boundaries our private benefit; to enlarge the borders of opportunity for all and find our own within them; to enhance the greatness of the nation and thereby find for ourselves an individual distinction; to face with courage and confident expectation the task set before us, these are the paths of true glory for this nation. They will lead us to a life more abounding, richer in satisfactions, more enduring in its achievements, more precious in its bequests to our children—a life not merely of conflict but filled with the joy of creative action.

AT CANDLER FIELD

Another "race against death" by ocean liner and airplane, which started from Paris, France, last Saturday, ended in failure Friday night at New Orleans when I. Gunbel reached the Crescent City nearly 48 hours after his mother's death. Notified by cable of Mrs. Gunbel's critical illness last Saturday, while he was in Paris, Mr. Gunbel immediately boarded the Berengaria, which was preparing for its westward voyage across the Atlantic, and reached New York Friday morning. Having wired ahead to Valley Stream, L. I., where a Curtiss-Wright Flying Service base is located, Gunbel found a Cessna monoplane, powered by a 300-horsepower Wright Whirlwind and piloted by M. A. Moltrop, awaiting him at the Metropolitan Airport, Newark, N. J. The ship reached Atlanta from Newark in five hours and 45 minutes, stopping here only long enough to refuel and taking off again shortly after 4 o'clock. New Orleans was reached at 8 o'clock Friday night.

W. A. McDonald, Southern Air Transport mail pilot on the Atlanta-Houston route, Friday afternoon established a new speed record by flying the 223 miles between Birmingham and Mobile in one hour and 31 minutes for an average speed of nearly two and a half miles a minute. McDonald, who landed at Bates Field, Mobile, on the southbound flight at 4:40 o'clock Friday afternoon, shortened by two minutes the previous time record held by "Skeet" Perkins, another S. A. T. pilot, who had covered the distance in one hour and 33 minutes.

Instead of "hard-surfaced" aprons, which the county agreed some time ago, to lay at Candler, Field the aprons will be constructed of concrete and work on them will be started at once, it was decided Friday following an inspection of the field by Paul Etheridge and Walter Stewart, members of the Fulton county commission, and Jim Clark, of the department of public works of the county. The completion of this project will be a great boon to everyone connected with aviation—operator and spectator alike—by the elimination of dust and mud along the hangar line. Use of concrete for the improvement will be decidedly more satisfactory than the asphalt originally contemplated, in view of the latter's tendency to soften and scar in hot weather. The county officials stated that a surveyor would be put on the field this morning in preparation for the beginning of the work and that it would be pushed to completion as rapidly as possible.

Joe Duckworth, Atlanta base manager for the Curtiss-Wright Flying Service, reached Candler field early Friday afternoon in a Warner-powered Command-Aire, which was turned over to him yesterday morning at the Curtiss-Wright base at Memphis. Duckworth left Atlanta last Saturday on a business trip to New York and Detroit, where he inspected school operations at Grosse Ile, Curtiss-Wright airport there. The new Command-Aire will be used here for advanced training, it was stated. Duckworth and Dick Hull, sales manager of the local branch, will leave in a J-6 Travel Air monoplane for Gainesville, where they will take part in the commencement military maneuvers of the Riverside Military academy, lasting through Sunday. Curtiss-Wright's new ground school, to be put into operation at the school, is expected to begin functioning about July 4.

Tom M. Smith, chairman of the aviation committee of city council, returned to Atlanta Friday by train after an airplane dash to Birmingham, where he made connection with a train which was bearing the body of a relative to Louisville, Ky., for burial. With only two hours' notice of the train connection, Mr. Smith made it easily in a Mailwing lent to him by Southern Air Transport, Inc., with Art Brown, pilot on the Atlanta-Birmingham route of Davis Airlines, at the controls.

Several visiting planes landed at the airport Friday. Just after dark a huge Sikorsky S-38, belonging to the Standard Oil Company of New York, arrived from Metropolitan airport, Newark, N. J., piloted by Captain R. E. Ellis and carrying four passengers and a mechanic. It stopped overnight at the Southern Air Transport hangar. M. O. Von Hoffman, president of the Von Hoffman Aircraft Corporation, of St. Louis, landed in his Challenger-powered Eaglerock, with Jim Lewis as pilot. They will be here for several days. E. R. Smith, of Greenville, S. C., flying an OX-5 Eaglerock, arrived during the morning and returned to his home town in the afternoon.

Down the air lane he took 20 years ago to write a new page in the history of aviation, Glenn H. Curtiss Friday flew from Albany to New York. At the controls of a giant Curtiss Condor, twin-motored transport plane, he retraced his flight of May 29, 1910, from New York's capital city to Governor's island in New York harbor in almost exactly half the time it took him 20 years ago. Then he flew the 137 miles in 152 minutes. Friday the time was 80 minutes. In 1910 he flew along, sitting on the front of a box kite affair that few aviators of today would risk their necks in. Friday he carried with him 12 passengers and a co-pilot—Captain Frank Courtney, of trans-Atlantic fame. Three accompanying planes carried 30 more persons.

President Pays Tribute To Nation's Soldier Dead

HOOVER SPEAKS AT HISTORIC GETTYSBURG

BY JAMES P. SELVAGE,
Associated Press Staff Writer.

GETTYSBURG, Pa., May 30.—Near the spot where 67 years ago Abraham Lincoln delivered his immortal Gettysburg address, President Hoover stood today and called for leadership of the nation tempered by the moderation and calm vision of the Civil War president.

"In the weaving of our destiny, the pattern may change," the chief executive said, "yet the woof and warp of our weaving must be those inspired ideals of unity, of ordered liberty, of equality of opportunity of popular government, and of peace to which this nation was dedicated.

Looking down from the covered stand where he stood over the multitude that banked upon the hillside below, the president saw before him a colorful scene flanked by military uniforms. Behind him sat a few of the surviving veterans of the Union armies gazing out upon the graves of their fellow comrades and listening to the tribute which the thirty-first president of the United States bore them and the veterans of the Confederacy.

Only one of the survivors of the southern troops was present, the gray of William Haines, 93-year-old warrior, standing out on the platform behind the president.

A warm sun tempered by a cooling breeze that stirred the myriad flags upon the scene cast its benediction over the ancient battlefield, and before the president began speaking hundreds of children scattered across the broad acres and dropped flowers upon the grass covered hillocks, the sole reminder of the grim chapter of history written upon the now peaceful field.

Surrounded by Governor Fisher, of Pennsylvania; Secretary Hurley and others, who had accompanied him from Washington, the chief executive exhorted his "fellow countrymen" to carry on that "spiritual solidarity" that has made this nation a "great people unparalleled in all human history."

The crowd stood silent, intent upon the speaker, as the microphones carried to them and to millions throughout the nation the plea of the chief executive.

Only at the beginning and end of his address did the chief executive call forth applause.

Completing his brief nine-minute address, Mr. Hoover began the longer ride to the estate of Jay Cooke, Philadelphia financier, to the Allegheny mountains north of Williamsport.

BARNETT TO EXPAND STATE ROAD PROGRAM

An expansion in the state highway program under consideration for immediate construction, and the probability that all present projects will be completed by late autumn, were announced by J. W. Barnett, state highway director, on his return from Washington Friday.

Mr. Barnett, who was in Washington to confer with Thomas H. MacDonald, head of the federal bureau of roads, stated that the results of the conference were most satisfactory.

Several federal aid projects which have been held up pending federal approval were cleared up, he said. "I believe that the construction of federal aid projects in the state will go forward without delay. As fast as state funds are available to match federal funds additional contracts will be awarded."

The federal aid projects now under consideration are for the most part links in important trunk highways, which for various technical and physical difficulties have been held up. Mr. Barnett said that there was every probability that $5,000,000 of projects would be under construction within the next few weeks.

The next contract letting to be held by the highway board will be June 26. Four projects to be included in the letting were announced by the department Friday.

They are:

Houston County—13.338 miles of paved road, bituminous or concrete surfacing.

Bulloch County—16.75 miles of plain cement concrete paving.

Police Mourning Death of 'Beauty'

An attack of spinal meningitis suffered early in the afternoon late Friday night proved fatal to "Beauty," the Shetland pony used by the Atlanta police department band to draw the drum carriage in parades.

"Beauty" was presented to the police band through the efforts of Mayor I. N. Ragsdale a little more than a year ago. The pony was taken care of by Captain John Scharff, band director, 801 Moreland avenue, south. When Captain Scharff went to feed it Friday afternoon he noticed the legs of the animal drawing up and summoned a veterinary. The attack grew worse and the doctor was called back, but "Beauty's" case proved hopeless.

TARZAN AND THE JEWELS OF OPAR No. 66

By Edgar Rice Burroughs

Tarzan, entering the tent of Achmet Zek, searched the interior thoroughly. He tore the bed to pieces and scattered the contents of box and bag about the floor. He investigated whatever his eyes discovered, nor did those organs overlook a single article within the habitation of the raider chief; but no pouch of pretty pebbles rewarded his thoroughness. Satisfied at last that his belongings were not in the possession of Achmet Zek, Tarzan decided to secure the "she."

After that he would further search for the pouch containing the jewels of Opar. Motioning Chulk to follow him, the ape-man passed out of the tent by the same way he had entered it, and walking boldly through the village made directly for the hut where Jane Clayton had been imprisoned. He noted with surprise the absence of Taglat, whom he had expected to find awaiting him outside the tent of Achmet Zek, but he was accustomed to the unreliability of apes and gave it no serious attention.

So long as Taglat did not cause interference with his plans, Tarzan was indifferent to his absence. As he approached the hut, the ape-man noticed that a crowd had collected about the entrance. He could see that the men who composed it were much excited, and fearing that Chulk's disguise should prove inadequate to the concealment of his true identity in the face of so many observers, he commanded the ape to betake himself off to the far end of the village and there await him.

Chulk waddled off, keeping to the shadows. Tarzan advanced toward the group before the doorway. He mingled with the blacks and Arabs, trying to learn the cause of the commotion, totally forgetting in his interest that only he carried a spear and a bow and arrows, and thus might become an object of suspicion. Which was just what happened! As Tarzan shouldered his way forward, an Arab grabbed him, crying: "Who is this?" at the same time snatching back the hood from the ape-man's face.

Backers of Flight Withdraw Support

ROOSEVELT FIELD, N. Y., May 30.—(AP)—R. Stuart Murray, representing the backers of the Connecticut-Buenos Aires non-stop flight of the "K of New Haven," announced tonight they had withdrawn their support from the project. The ship landed here this afternoon after having started on its proposed hop this morning from Hartford.

Murray said the proposed flight had been postponed several times and the backers decided finally to withdraw their support. He said all refuelling points along the proposed route have been notified that plans have been abandoned.

The K of New Haven landed here four hours after it had taken off from Hartford when members of the crew said the plane developed an air leak in the oil line.

Two members of the crew, Captain Herbert G. Partridge and Lieutenant-Commander G. R. Pond, said they would see D. C. Townley, chief of their sponsors tomorrow, in an attempt to reorganize plans for the flight.

The other flyer, Lieutenant Garland Peed, Jr., said he had no further interest in the project and removed his belongings from the ship.

Mechanics who had been going over the plane after Partridge and Pond announced they intended to continue their hop tomorrow, stopped their work with Murray's announcement.

Woman Leaps to Death From Gotham Hotel

NEW YORK, May 30.—(AP)—Leaping from the window of her room on the 13th floor of the Hotel Pennsylvania today, Miss Charlotte Markell, 40, of 134 Mondawinn avenue, Baltimore, fell to her death on a shed in the rear of the building.

Her cousin, Miss Lila Miller, of 3501 Carlisle avenue, Baltimore, attempted to prevent the suicide, and was almost pulled from the window as she strove to hold Miss Markell back. The latter had been in poor health for some months and came here about a week ago for treatment at the Rockefeller institute.

A nurse and Mrs. Thomas Allen, of 1438 N street, Washington, also were in the room when Miss Markell jumped. Her cousin came here to accompany her home.

Miss Miller said her cousin had a good position as a private secretary in Baltimore and was not in financial difficulty. Miss Markell's mother died last year, she said, and the loss probably contributed to her illness.

Unemployment Crisis Confronts Germany

BERLIN, May 30.—(AP)—M. Stegerwald, minister of labor, indicated today that Germany's unemployment problem was giving the government considerable uneasiness.

Herr Stegerwald announced at a meeting of the General Trade Union Federation that steps were being taken to provide work soon for 150,000 unemployed, particularly in the building industry. Within the next month, he added. The reichstag will have decided how to raise funds and aid another 500,000 unemployed.

The minister pointed out that Germany's 2,000,000 unemployed had decreased the annual purchasing power of the country by nearly 5,000,000 marks (about $1,200,000,000.)

Church Group Hits Change in Dry Law

CINCINNATI, May 30.—(AP)—An address on behalf of prohibition enforcement by Dr. Mark Matthews, of Seattle, brought forth the 142nd general assembly of the Presbyterian church in the United States of America to a rising vote today for support of the eighteenth amendment and for solid opposition to any attempt to modify it.

The situation faced by President Wilson during the World War when he declared that an "invisible government" was working against him, is shared by President Hoover because an "invisible government" is working for the downfall of the prohibition law, Dr. Matthews declared.

Illinois Governor Takes Mild Tumble

CHICAGO, May 30.—(AP)—Governor Louis L. Emmerson and army and navy officers watching Chicago's Memorial Day parade narrowly escaped injury today when part of the reviewing stand in which they sat collapsed and fell about four feet to the ground. No one was seriously injured. Many persons were thrown from their feet and bruised in the collapse of the stand, on Michigan boulevard between Seventh and Eighth streets. The small son of Brigadier General John V. Clinnin suffered a lacerated scalp and was taken to a hospital.

Church Meeting.

An important congregational meeting to decide whether or not a collegiate minister will be called to further the effort and work of the Peachtree Christian church will be held in the Sunday school auditorium immediately after the service Sunday morning. All members of the church are urged to attend.

ST. LOUIS BANK LOOT TOTALS OVER MILLION

ST. LOUIS, May 30.—(AP)—Looting of the safe deposit vault of the Grand National Bank last Sunday was revealed today as a million dollar burglary, virtually equivalent to the $1,050,000 combined capital and surplus of the institution.

President Ed Mays announced the bank's loss as $43,000 in cash and about $350,000 in securities deposited by customers as collateral for loans, instead of $20,000 cash only as previously announced. Customers' losses have been tabulated as approximately $640,000.

Insisting the bank is solvent and able to handle its own affairs, the board of directors today rejected an offer by the Vandeventer National Bank to purchase its business and take over its new quarters in the new Continental Life Insurance building, one of the city's most imposing skyscrapers. The building was erected by the insurance company of which Mays also is president and which reported losses of $232,000 in negotiable bonds in the burglary. An investigation of affairs of the insurance company was begun today.

President Mays late today announced the resignation of Gifford J. Herbert, cashier of the bank, and the dismissal of William A. Brittin, custodian of the safe deposit vault. Both men are under $50,000 bonds and are booked at police headquarters as "suspected of embezzlement." Herbert ordered a police guard removed from the bank a few days before the looting.

Brittin's story is that he and the bank porter were bound and gagged by the burglars who then leisurely broke open the deposit boxes.

Mays said Herbert resigned voluntarily because of his arrest. Herbert has refused to explain why he ordered the police guard removed.

Flacks To Speak In Highway Chapel

The Rev. Joseph S. Flacks, Hebrew Christian and Bible teacher, speaks twice Sunday in the Highway chapel. In the evening at 7:30 o'clock, "The Romance of the Incarnation."

Services will be conducted daily at 7:30 p. m. in the Highway chapel, led by the various churches, groups and teachers. Monday, the Atlanta Gospel tabernacle; Tuesday, Friends of Israel Prayer League; Wednesday, Dr. Currans, Bible teacher.

Attractive Blonde Victimizes Tiffany

NEW YORK, May 30.—(AP)—Tiffany & Company, jewelers, today complained to police that an attractive blonde woman had swindled them of jewels worth $6,300 in a neat confidence trick.

The woman entered the store yesterday and told a clerk her fiance had sent her to select some rings. She selected a diamond encrusted wedding ring and two diamond rings.

"But I don't want to take them until my mother sees them," she said. So the clerk said he would bring them to her address on West 115th street.

At the appointed hour he called, to be met by his customer at the door.

"Oh, mother," she called to an invisible auditor in an inner room, "here is the man with the rings." Taking the rings she went into the inner room.

After waiting some time the clerk went to investigate. He found the inner room empty and discovered that one of its doors led to the hall.

Escaped Prisoners Keep Return Pledges

NACOGDOCHES, Texas, May 30.—(AP)—Six prisoners who escaped from jail here a month ago, leaving notes that they would return as soon as they had attended to their crops and disposed of necessary business, were behind the bars today.

The fugitives, most of them awaiting penitentiary terms, straggled back to their cells voluntarily. Sheriff Turner made no effort to force the men to return, trusting that they would keep their word.

New Jersey Gangsters 'Taken for a Ride'

HACKENSACK, N. J., May 30.—(AP)—The bodies of two alleged racketeers were found half buried in the brush alongside a lonely Bergen county road today. They were identified as Stanley "Sparky" Wilda, of Wallington, and William "Wild Bill" Schlessinger, of Passaic.

Police believed they were "taken for a ride" yesterday, after they had shot and wounded Frank La Vullo. La Vullo's friends were believed to have killed them.

Police saw in the two affrays the beginning of a general outbreak of warfare between rival racketeers and gangsters in Passaic and Bergen counties.

Dr. Dodge Addresses Russell High School

Dr. Witherspoon Dodge was principal speaker at graduating exercises of the second class of the Russell High school Friday night at the school auditorium. Eighty-five seniors received degrees, which were presented by Cam D. Dorsey, president of the Fulton county board of education. Jere A. Wells, superintendent of county schools, delivered the prizes and scholarships.
